After you have prayed in you will do him justice, a bad streak in human nature ominids us to assail those that are sie essful than ourselves. It shows in boyhood when the lads, all runof etem shout to the driver, "Cut be hald have essful, men seldom Ilka lass who in any department are success int. I campot help it, but I do the a st. Beenard better than a blood-bound and I would rather be a hum-ning bird among honeysuckte, than a cow sycoping upon field carelesses.

Perplexities of Public Life. Another reason why we should pray for those in eminent place is because they have such multiplied perplexities. This day at this time holds hundreds of men who has expectant if preferences of men who has expectant if preferences, and United States mail bugs, as never before, he thill of applications. Let me say be have no sympathy with either the uttered or printed sneer at what are called 'office order." "IT I had not already received. appendment as minister plenipotentiary from the high court of heaven—and I had allow back a family for whom I wished to achieve a jivelihood, there is no cur loyer whose service I would sooner seek than city, state or United States government. Those covernments are the promplest in their payments, paying met as well in hard times as in good times and during summer vacation as the lave been paying taxes to city and state and nation for cears, and while we be included for the protection of government is indebted to us to the honest support we have rendered to the protection of government is indebted to us to the honest support we have rendered to the protection of government is indebted to us to the honest support we have rendered to the protection of government in the protection of government is indebted to us the honest support we have rendered at once, and though not in just the way that she hopes for, I will not give it to her, how many men in high place in city and though side asked me for a sheet of music, I will not give it to her, for I do not like the inust spoken of, but I will send her a deed to a house and the to hers forwer." So God does not of us have been paying taxes to city and how many men in h gh place in city and that and nation and at their wits' end to have what to do, when for some places sheet in the applicants and for others a hundred! Perplexities arise from the fact that citizens sign petitions without reference to the qualifications of the applicant is your friend. People sometimes want that for which they have no hear people sing 'I want to be an angel,' when they offer the poorest managel, when they offer the poorest managel is distributed. In years gone by awful mistakes have been made. Only God, who made the world out of chaos, could, out of the crowded pigeon-holes of public men, develop symmetrical results. For this reason pray Almighty God for all those in authority.

Sheet of music, I will too talve it to her, for I do not like the faults spoken of, but I will send her a deed to a house and lot, to be hers forever. So God does not to the the prayer hoped for, tut he in all cases answer in the way those who tends the applicant the prayer hoped for, tut he in all cases answer in the way those who tends the prayer hoped for, tut he in all cases gives what is sked for, or some-ful the places what is sked for the in all cases answer in the way those who tends the prayer hoped for, tut he in all cases gives what is sked for the in all cases answer in the way those who the hers forever. So God does not the prayers of the time of our civil war, and they such as sked for, tut he time of our civil war, and they treat any the time of our civil war, and they treat any the time of our civil war, and they treat any the time of our civil war, and they treat any the time of our civil war, and they treat any the form of the prayers of the fact the final cases answer in the way those who is al

Two distinguished southerners, with their secretaries and families, are on the way to England and France to officially enlist them for the southern Confederacy. After much protest the commissioners, who had embarked for England and France, surrendered and were taken to Fort Warren, near Boston. The cauture was suiteful investor of the were taken to Fort Warren, near Boston. The capture was a plain invasion of the laws of nations and antagonistic to a principle for the establishment of which the United States government had fought in other days. However, so great was the excitement that the scretary of the United States navy wrote an applauditory letter to Captain Wilcest commander of the San Jacinto, for his "prompt and decisive action," and the house of representatives passed a resolution of "brave, adroit and patriotic and the millions of the Borth went wild brave, adroit and patriotic and the millions of the florth went wild went with enthusiasm, and all the newspapers and churches joined in the huzza. England and France protested, the former demanding that unless the distinguished prisoners should be surrendered and apology made for insult to the British flag within ten days lord Lyons must return to London; taking all the archives of the British legation. War with England and France scenned inevitable, and war with England and: France at that time would have middle it restored American nation impossible for a long while, if not forever. Then God came to the it not forever. Then God came to the rescue and helped the resident and his secretary of state. Against the almost unanimous sentiment of the people of the north the distinguished Confederates were surrendered, the law of hatlons was kept inviolate, the libn's plw was not lifted to strike the cage's beak, and perhaps the worst disaster of centuries was avoided.

COLORED CYCLISTS. tion Greeted With Applause by the Thompson Street Club—Never Too Old

When the routine business of the regular Saturday night meeting of the Thompson Street Bicycle club had been disposed of, President Toots introduced the Hon. Castaway Jones of Toledo, who is known as "the Hurricane Bikist, of Ohio." The condrable stranger made his bow and said he did not intend to make a speech. He had read and heard of the club, and was glad to see the colored man coming to the front. He was, he believed, the first colored man in Ohio to mount the blke. When he began riding, he had public opinion and the declaration of all scientists to oversome. It was contended that no man with a heel six inches long could work a needs and that the kinks to be hereald. with a heel six inches long could work a pedal and that the kinks in his hair would lift him out of the saddle. He had proved that scientists did not know their business. When he began riding, his left-leg was six inches short; he had a cataract on his right eye, and his backbone was at least six inches out of plumb. How was it now? That short leg had come down, the oataract had disappeared, and he stood as perpendicular as a lamppost. He had other reasons to bless the bike. It had renewed his youth, made eace in his family. made reasons to bless the blke. It had renewed his youth, made peace in his family, made him believe in a hereafter and cured His taste for chicken meat. He hoped the day was not far distant when every colored man and woman in America would be gliding about on the silent steed, and it was his opinion that it would do more to elevate and educate than all the cuck po

Many a woman has in silence relished a "joke" just as fully as her friend who goes off into perfect guffaws over it. Hut she gets none of the credit. It's really tragic—this being unable ever to look your sense of humor, almost as bad indeed, as having no humor at sill. A man who is afflicted in this way says that he can imagine no more inconvenient, if not actually touturing, state of things. For instance, he was once traveling on a railway train when a very pretty girl, whom he hanced to face, did a thing that of course no girl ought to do, but which the best of them have been known to, stated straight at the young man and smilled. It was a very faint smile, but for all that there was no mistaking it. What was more, the girl kept on smiling whenever she had the chance. And the young man? Well, he naturally wanted to smills back. He was, in the first place, appreciative of such favors, and, in the 1-2 Horse Power 1 Horse Power -2 Horse Power - to smile back. He was, in the first place, appreciative of such favors, and, in the second place, he was at an ago when they were most appealing. But smile back he couldn't. Again and again did he tail. Never had his affliction so dominated him. At last he made up his mind that creek a smile he would before they reached this city, no matter what it cost. It was no use, though. Smile was just what he couldn't, in that responsive way at least, and he thus reached his journey's cod without so much as a fleker of acknowledgment growing his countenance.
