NOTES.

Toronto has had another fire, property valued at $30,000 went up in smoke on Friday night last.

The Sunday car question is again agitating the minds of Toronto citizens, the council having decided to submit it to vote of the people on May 15th.

Mr. Jas. Wright, manager of the Walker House, Toronto, for the past 15 years, died last week while under an anaesthetic for the purpose of a sun gical operation.

A proposal for a fast Atlantic service by an English syndicate was laid before the Canadian government last week. The proposition made is to establish a mail and passenger service making a four days voyage from Milford Haven, in Wales to Middlemarch in the Strait of Cano, Nova Scotia, a distance of 2,200 miles.

The arrangement between the members of the Ontario Legislature and the railways in regard to passes has been completed. The members get free annual passes this year, but the rail ways will not accept any liability for return. The members may draw their allowances if they choose, but those who do not care to do so may leave it in the hands of the rail, and may then expect to the credit to go it over to the rail.

The annual convocation of Knox College, Toronto, was held on Saturday last and among those who have distinguished themselves in the graduating class we have been pleased to see the name of Mr. Robert Martin, who well known to many of our readers being a Grey Co. boy and knight of the Wartons Falls public school while yet in his teens. Mr. Martin is a brilliant student through his college course, having in former years been a first in most of the subjects and was the first scholarship holder in 1895, and also the Tryout medal for special distinction "The Merit". Mr. Martin is a very talented young teacher who will be a credit to the ranks of the "gentry" in the church to which he belongs.

An exhibition of beauty was manifested in the Legislature on Thursday last upon the heralds of a jubilee address to Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria which was moved by Premier Hardy and seconded by the opposition leader Mr. Whitney. Both addresses were received in eloquent and feeling terms, warmly expressive of loyalty to Her Majesty and congratulatory upon the completion of the sixtieth year of her fruitful and benevolent reign. In part Mr. Hardy said: "As a young Queen she was dignified, calm and graceful. As a woman, wife and mother she won the love and of her subjects and adherents of the world. Her life has been devoted to the nation for more than half a century and as a Sovereign has deserved the tribute to be paid to her in from every part of the globe." The Premier referred to the growth of freedom, reform and triumphs of the Victorian era and said: "Her reign illustrated the advantages of commercial freedom, personal freedom and colonial freedom under the moral and civil form of government. Not only in matters regarding government and law has there been progress; it had been seen in science, art, education, commerce, manufactures and agriculture; there had been reforms in Parliament, reforms in the courts, prisons, workhouses, hospitals, asylums, in the life of the people and the life of the court, reduction in the hours of labor, cheap postage, important inventions and discoveries in science, triumphs in surgery and medicine, expression and development of the newspaper press, and civilization had followed the flag of England to the remotest parts of the earth."

Mr. Whitney was heartily applauded throughout. Mr. Whitney followed and endorsed every word that had fallen from the lips of the Premier, saying in conclusion: "God bless and save our noble Queen."

Mrs. Martin of Arthur, is visiting at Mr. Thompson's.

Mr. Biscoff has returned, from visiting relatives at Collingwood.

Mrs. Thos. McQuay of Proton is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. McIlroy.

Mrs. George Stewart returned home Monday from visiting her daughter Mrs. Williams at Eugenia.

Wodehouse.

Business is good and booming. We are having improvements made on every side. The blacksmith is preparing to erect a handsome and commodious dwelling house. He has now an extra helper in the shop. This in addition to the woodwork up stairs, with his shops, more hands employed, new roofs and new sidewalks we feel quite built up.

Mrs. Mackay and family left on Monday for Manitoulin, she will join son there.

Mrs. Agnes Carruthers returned last week to her home in Beeton after visit of over a year and a half.

We regret to chronicle the death of the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Neely. The remains were interred in the burying ground here on Saturday last. The funeral sermon preached by the Rev. Mr. Scott on Sunday evening was impressive and full of comfort and hopefulness, our sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

Lily Oak.

Snow gone and farmers plowing. Quite a number moving around here.

Mr. Alex. Kinner moved to the property recently purchased by him. Mr. James Herdman took possession of the Greenway farm vacated by Mr. Kinner.

While away attending church on Sunday Mr. Joseph Middleton had the misfortune to have his flock of sheep attacked by dogs and we learned four destroyed. It is high time that a lot of those half starved worthless curs were scared off the track.

We are pleased to see that Mr. Donald McDonald is able to be about again, after being laid up all winter with a broken leg.

Mr. Thomas Bradley was laid up for days with a bilious attack.

Mr. Albus Rao has entered on his duties as mail carrier and is making good time notwithstanding the bad state of the roads.

Two of our citizens ventilated a grievance last Tuesday, April 6, before magistrates Rao and Pickford in Markdale. Mr. Lansing entered suit against Mr. A. Clark for the theft of a horse, Clark claiming it belonged to him. Each party was directed to pay his own costs.

Mr. Will. Lansing's driver had a severe attack of inflammation lately.

Watson Falls.

Mr. John Murray returned home from his trip to Brooklin, Ont., where he had been investing in a pair of thoroughbred Durham cattle 12 months old. They were purchased from Mr. Jas. Calder of the above named place.

We understand they weigh about 1000 each. Success John.

Post office Inspector, Mr. Hopkinson, visited our village on business Wednesday of last week.

Mr. J. Barker left on Saturday for Toronto to attend the funeral of his sister Mrs. Walter Perry, who died on Saturday morning last. Deceased had been ill long with a feverish disease for over a year and six hundred of their live been grown for at least five years in succession. Nearly all the Canadian sorts and several hundred varieties imported by the Experimental Department from different parts of Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and the United States have been included in these carefully conducted experiments. Some of the new varieties have done exceptionally well and have already been distributed over Ontario through the medium of the Agricultural Union, with very gratifying results. The Siberian oats, Mandurian barley, Horison Barley, Spring Wheat, and the Cloudy Early Yellow Peat, Mammoth Cuban Wisconsin Earliest White Peat, and Salzburger Dakota varieties of corn, which are more becoming so popular in Ontario, were imported by the Experimental Department and after being thoroughly tested were distributed in small quantities.

The military opening here the latter part of last week attracted little attention. The weather was not in a mood to lend charm to the occasion, nevertheless, the ladies turned out in large numbers intensely bent on viewing the newest creations in drapery, and many were the expressions of delight at the lovely display of chic productions to adopt beauty this season. Mr. Richardson & Co.'s large show room presented an appearance of beauty and neatness. That Miss Kline is an artist of the first water could be seen at a glance. Mrs. Trimbull's stock was also artistically arranged and befitting the daintiness of her fingers. Space forbids a description of the work of these artists but to say that they were stunningly beautiful, fancy medium size hats, unique flower hats, perfect pictures, highly walking hats, check little turbans, and very becoming little bonnets, all dainties of beauty. For early spring the popular turban will be prominent. Flowers for trimmings are being introduced, the most popular being geranium, holly, "H" of the valley roses and foliage, and there are rhino stones, jets, shot, ribbons, chiffon and lace in abundance of which to be seen are to be acquired. A novel feature in Richardson & Co.'s opening was the introduction of a 5 o'clock tea table when the ladies were faintly served to a cup of their famous new brand of Appleton's tea, with light refreshments.

Several valuable dogs have been presented here lately, among them those belonging to Editor Thurston, J. Rumstelius and W. Burroughs, and yes we are mourning the loss of a very hand-some vermin-destroyer which met with the same fate. A reward has been offered for the conviction of the guilty party.

Mr. Miles Thirkleait, a former resident here, has removed from near Woodbridge to the homestead farm purchased from Thorp Wright on the Forestine line.

Mr. Emerson, Henderson, dental student, Toronto, is spending the Easter holidays with his brother R. N. and other relatives here.

Mrs. W. J. Douglas, Collingwood, spent part of last week and this with her parents Mr. and Mrs. VanDusen.

Mrs. Martin of Arthur, is visiting at Mr. Thompson's.

Mr. Biscoff has returned, from visiting relatives at Collingwood.

Mrs. Thos. McQuay of Proton is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. McIlroy.

Mrs. George Stewart returned home Monday from visiting her daughter Mrs. Williams at Eugenia.

The interesting ceremony was performed in the church at Corbettown by the Rev. Mr. Morrison on Wednesday the 5th. To the happy young couple we extend our congratulations, wishing them happiness and prosperity wherever they may pitch their tent.

We are grieved to have to report the death on the 6th of the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Simonds aged 11.

It is Surprising.

How little the majority of people know as to the character of work which can be neatly and mechanically executed in a country printing office.

This is also true to some extent in all lines of business. We nearly every day see surprised on leaving that we can do this or that class of work, or that we keep this or the other in stock.

How suggestive this should be. It becomes necessary to continually and repeatedly remind people that you keep so and so in stock and that it will be a pleasure to supply their needs. This is true with the printer as well as the merchant or any other business, so we will continue to repeat.

In the first place should you desire to advertise, the Standard goes into over one thousand families each week, and supposing these had an average of five persons to the family, that would be five thousand. Then should you wish to announce something very important and would like to reach another five thousand, we can issue an extra thousand copies weekly, by getting a few days notice before hand, which will address and mail to persons other than regular subscribers. This can be done at a moderate cost.

Then there's a wide range of work done in the job department, for instance: Posters, any size and color, cards, bills, circulars, folders, programs, envelopes, private post cards, letter heads, note heads, statements, invoices, and bill heads, in sizes, neatly put up in pads, shipping tags, loose or bound, lion notes, counter checks, church reports in books or pamphlets, topo cards, business cards, calling cards printed or plain, wedding cards with envelopes to match, all kinds municipal and business stock cards and folder, and many other things not here enumerated, so no one need go to the printer because they can't get these things done at home. If we want anything we first try at home for it. If what we want is not kept in stock by business men we all say find them willing to send for it, and in nine cases out of ten they get it at a less cost to us than we could, and all we ask our people to do is pay back in our coin. Is it not fair and reasonable? And they generally do it too. One good turn deserves another, and if this reciprocity in business was more generally practiced the benefit would be mutual and greatly helpful.

For the experiments on April 15th, 1897.

1. Testing nitrate of soda, superphosphate, in state of polish, mixture, and no mixture with corn.

2. Testing nitro-nitrate of soda, superphosphate, nitrate of potash, mixture, and no mixture with manure.

3. Testing six leading varieties of Peeler corn.

4. Growing three leguminous crops for Green Peeler.

5. Growing three mixtures of grain for Green Peeler.

6. Testing four varieties of Grasses for Hay.

7. Testing four varieties of Clover for Hay.

8. Testing three varieties of Buckwheat.

9. Testing four varieties of Spring Wheat.

10. Testing four varieties of Barley.

11. Testing four varieties of Peas.

12. Testing five varieties of Carrots.

13. Testing five varieties of Mangolds.

Material for either No. 1 or No. 2 experiment will be supplied by express, and for each of the others it will be forwarded by mail. All fertilizers and seeds will be sent in good time for sowing, seedling, providing the applications are received at an early date. The supply of material being limited, those who apply first will be assured of obtaining the desired outfit. It might be well for each applicant to make a second application for the first could not be granted.

Particular care must be taken in the kinks in the experimental plots, especially with the trial plots in the Experimental Department.
