The government has at last yielded to the P. R. in the matter of the Crow's Nest Pass railway granting a concession of 1000 per mile, in all amounting to $2,500,000.

The Weekly Sun said last week: "Many a voter who went home on the evening of the 2nd June last feeling that honest and economical government was assured, experienced a feeling of profound disappointment on learning that the government had promised to grant the nearly four million dollars to the P. R. for the construction of the C. P. R. Next Pass railway. This grant has been made at a time when the government informs us that the requirements of the revenue render it impossible to reduce the duties on many staple articles. It is made at a time when a large deficit is in sight, when the public debt is going up in leaps and bounds and the state of affairs demand that rigid economy be one of the first principles observed by the government."
