CHURCH FINANCES.

Holland Centre circuit, Methodist church has issued in next form their financial report for the past conference year. This is what every congregation should do. It would necessitate better business methods and greater care in the handling of funds. There is perhaps no department of financing in which systematic methods are more needed and less practised than in connection with church affairs. Those elected to or connected with the handling of funds should be supposed to be conscientious. But even if they are, it is not a strict and particular rendering of them from yielding to the temptation by which often lead men stray? It can be an honest opinion that uses we read of where men defalcate to embezzle them the full intention of reducing the amount taken, and if through art and deceipt no account had been posted in at least once a year it would have prevented the wrong beginning and hence saved from crime and disgrace. Your independent voice aside from the dangers above indicated, the detailed annual statement is the proper system.

The road leading to McArthur's house has been doing great work on Rocklyn Hill so that the people will have a fine view track on Oct. 1st, show day. Let every one come and see the world's day for the conference at night.

Mrs. T. Bledner is visiting Mrs. Long of Croydon, also her daughter Rhoda.

Miss Lizzie Wilder of Toronto is visiting Mrs. St. J. Sturgess. Mr. John Henry met with a rather severe accident. One of his horses ran away and knocked him down, giving him a bad shaking up. No bones were broken so he rode him around in a few days.

Miss Maggie Sheppard from visiting Stratford, Ontario, and toy gift to one of the Misses Irwin, who left for Leopold, N. Y. in a few days.

Messrs. J. and W. Cluxton treated the boys to a small party last week in honor of Miss Nicholson of Orangeville, also the departure of Mr. Thos. Burns of Midland in a bay.

A number of conference men remain over night at the Lyon hotel. Mr. J. N. Boyd is becoming quite popular with the public.

Mrs. J. B. Winters, 11th line had her arm broken on Sunday last from a fall.

Mr. Chase, Barr of Meaford while driving along in his buggy to get out on his horse gave a sudden kick throwing his out and breaking his arm.

Rev. J. P. McCaffrey, B. D. has professed a riddle of excitement in this community owing to three sermons he has lately preached in which he has endeavored to show that all the evil which exists in this world is caused by Satan. The Lord is a God of love. He never punishes. "Sickness, death, famine, bad crops &c are due to sin and the author therefore in the devil, whose power for evil however is limited by God. The sermons were very interesting and convincing. Many are since searching their bibles & never before.

Flesherton.

Mrs. Alexander Hanwell, to whose death we made brief reference last week had been for some time a great sufferer with cancer to which she finally succumbed at her home in Toronto on the 20th inst., aged 58 years. All that medical skill and the loving hands of an affectionate son and daughter could do not stop the progress of her suffering which she bore with wonderful cheerfulness, patience and resignation. Her remains were brought here for burial on Wednesday when a service was held in the Methodist church conducted in the absence of the pastor Rev. Simpson of Markdale and Rev. Mr. Cullen, the latter a nephew of deceased attending the funeral. Mr. Simpson spoke briefly from Job 1:12 and Mr. Keef's remarks at the service were mostly relative to the deceased whom he said had lived a life of trial known only to himself, but the providence of God had last days been a release from his sufferings having within a sure and certain hope of entering upon that life where trials never end and the weary are at rest. Our Rev. H. of Toronto and daughter Mrs. Harrington of La Salle, N. Y., survived him who with Mr. Harrington attended the funeral. Mr. Trimble and Mr. C. Keefer of this place are brother and sister to the deceased, the latter referred to her the last few weeks of life and was present at her death.

The remains of John Campbell, who died in China, did not arrive on the day but were received on the same train as the other services on Wednesday which made the occasion doubly solemn. His remains were direct to the cemetery. Mr. Simpson officiating at the grave. Mr. Campbell was 61 years of age and had served as a soldier through the American war and had since been a resident of the wind city.

Editor Glendinning of the Dundalk Herald was wheeling to attend the Markdale Fair on Wednesday of last week and when walking a mile and a half from his village at a rapid walk in some uneven ground, his wheel and spokes were broken and the injuries received in the head and shoulder were evidently caused first in contact with the firm's commercial traveler driving along side him and picked him up in a semi-conscious condition and brought him with his maimed wheel to the editor, the editor being the knight of the grip about which happened, where he was and to whom he was going? He got a reply more pointed than political if he didn't mind better care on us he would be a good man to him. However, in a while he recovered from his shock and upon examination by Dr. Carter it was found he was on the side of the head the collar bone was fractured. Being on the verge of fainting his arm was put in a sling and he lay down in the evening to have his injury fully attended to.

Dr. Clark Bell, Dr. Baliff Wright and Dr. Carter were witnesses at Owen Sound on the Wadsworth vs Arteson reported in the STANDARD last week.

A point made clear which is noticing arose through one of the witnesses for plaintiff stating that to his knowledge there had been a definite place in the road, for months, and when questioned why he did not give information concerning it, said it was not his business to do so.

To this witness the learned judge, when summing up, gave a sharp rebuke and said this was the business and duty of every citizen to give information to the police authorities of an offence when detected.
