THE BATTLE OF LIFE

WORDS OF CHEER FOR WOMEN WHO WO K.

Dr. Talmage Preaches From the Text, "Every Wise Woman Buildeth Her House"—Honest Independence Better Than Encongenial Matrimonial Bonds.

Copyright 1897 by American Press Association.

Washington, Jan. 16.—This sermon of Dr. Talmage is a great encouragement to women who have to earn their own living as well as to all toilers with hand or brain. Proverbs xiv. 1: "Every wise woman buildeth her house."

Woman is the chief adjunct to man, an appendix to the most sublime volume, an appendage, a sort of afterthought, something for ornament or to make things even—that is the place entertained and implied by some men. This is evident to them because Adam was first created and then Eve. They don't read the whole story, or they would find that the purpose and the love and the hawk were created before Adam, so that this argument, drawn from priority of creation, might prove that the sheep and the dog were greater than man. No. Woman was an independent creation and was intended, if she chose, to live alone, think alone and fight the battles alone. The Bible says it is not good for man to be alone, but never says it is not good for woman to be alone, and the simple fact is that many women who are harnessed for life in the marriage relation would be a thousandfold better off if they were alone.

Unfortunate Wives.

Who are these men who year after year have around hotels and engine houses and the river docks, and come in and out to bother lazy clerks and mire...ists and mechanics, doing nothing, when there is plenty to do? They are men supported by their wives. Ah, me! If the statistics of any one city—and he taken on this subject you would find that a vast multitude of women not only support themselves, but miscellaneous. A great legion of men amount to nothing, and a woman by marriage branched to one of these nonentities needs condolence. A woman standing outside the marriage relation is several hundred thousand times better off than a woman badly married. Many a bride instead of a wreath of orange blossoms might more properly wear a bunch of nettles and nightshade, and instead of the wedding march a more appropriate tune would be the dead march in Saul, and instead of a banquet of confectionery and refreshments might be more appropriately spread a table covered with apples of Sodom.

Many an attractive woman of good sound sense in other things has married one of these men to reform him. What was the result? Like when a dove, getting that a vulture was capable and cruel, tried to reform it, and, as it flew a mile or two into the air, the vulture pulled it back by the tail. Proverbs xiv. 1: "Every wise woman buildeth her house." But the foolish one pulleth it down with her hands."

Women need judgment to-day, an appendix to the most sublime volume, an appendage, a sort of afterthought, something for ornament or to make things even—that is the place entertained and implied by some men. This is evident to them because Adam was first created and then Eve. They don't read the whole story, or they would find that the porpoise
