More Funds Needed to Carry on this Char To finance a philanthropy in its early lays is not an easy task, and like al other benevolent institutions the Chil dren's Aid Society is finding the trut of this statement. We have no more philanthropic and Christian work i our town or county than that of caring for our neglected and dependent chi dren, who, because of poverty or vic of their parents are growing up with out those advantages which belong roperly to childhood, or even worse are exposed to its vices and in dange of adding to the crime and vagabond age of our land. So rapidly is this work growing inder the judicial management of the hildren's Aid Society, that the time has come when its finances call for nore attention than has seemed neces ary in the past, and in view of this nance committee was appointed at the last annual meeting consisting of he following gentlemen: Presiden John Almstrong; treasurer, Sheriff Moore: secretary, A E Trout and Rev

Jas Lediard the county agent, upo whom has been placed the responsibility of securing funda for this constantly plarging work. So kendily and cheer fully have the society's needs been me in the past, that the committee have confidence that their appeal will be met with hearty response now that a greater demand is made on their funds. The society's expenses, which must be met by the voluntery gifts of its triends, are incurred mainly for chil-the finance committee and will be prodren going to foster homes, expenses of travel for children to homes, and ex penses of visiting, correspondence, etc There is also the boarding of returned children; the caring for waifs and strays temporily, who do not belong to the society; the cost of travel in the investigation of complaints of ill-treatment and neglect and usual expense for mailing, stationery, etc.

Within the past year nearly 40 children have been inmates of the shelter, ALABASTINE WALL COATING. Alabastino makes a coat-

Within the year almost 30 children have been placed in approved foster homes, visited there and their been greatly improved and many comforts added to it, and just now steps are being taken to place a bath and other necessary conveniences in the home. There are at present five girls and one boy in the shelter, for whom homes are desired, their ages being between 3 and 10 years.

The need of funds for this work causes the society to hesitate in some cases where it might do good service but fears the expense. We look with children in Owen Sound and thippingout the county for a generous resignate to this appeal. Contributions to work may be handed to any member of perly acknowledged by them.
