MARDALE, SEPTEMBER 1, 1898

The Captivity of Canada

When young Canada did grow
In the forest, long ago,
Then her guardians declared,
Despair for her neighbors feared.

Her life early should be free
From the pangs of slavery;

Her sons banded in bold should feed

The fresh blushing of her west;

Men from shore should be free;
Men to men should brothers be.

"Stayed to human hand;

Heath shamed our beauteous land;

Of an iron tyrant's hand;

Hate was born of every doth ill.

With a deadiform of creeping ill.

To the earthy infernal level,

Wouldn't the Dominion sink;

Chained to his hell-door brink;

With the load of his face,

Day and death beneath his chase,

Lover, left from his gate;

Men, left from their native land;

Brothers left from home;

Wives left from their husbands' love;
