Deceased was born in Cornwall, England, the 16th June 1822, married Joseph Hawken the 5th April, 1839. They came to Canada in 1848 settling in Mariposa township, county of Victoria, where they remained until 1866 when they moved to Euphrasia where they since resided. They had nine children, seven sons and two daughters, five of whom survive their mother, viz: Mrs James Hugo, Dundas; Mrs James E Sparling, Owen Sound; Messrs Joseph A, William and Martin Luther of Euphrasia.

Mrs Hawken became a member of the church when but 13 years old and has all these years led a consistent christian life. During her long illness she manifested a spirit of patient resignation and joyful christian hope. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large number were present to pay a last tribute of respect to the departed. Two wreaths and a large bunch of flowers were placed upon the coffin by loving friends. Six of her grandsons acted as pall bearers. The remains were laid away in Lyon's church cemetery, Rev Mr Simpson conducting an appropriate service taking for his text Psalm 71:5. "For Thou art my hope O Lord God, Thou art my trust from my youth." Mr Hawken who is also a good old age tho' hale and hearty, has the condolence of the community in his bereavement and solitude.

An Engineer's Story

Suffered the Pangs of Rheumatism for Years

Was Reduced in Weight from 180 to 130 Pounds—His Friends Feared that Recovery was Impossible—Now Actively Attending to his Duties.

From the Midland Free Press.

Alexander McKenzie is one of the well known residents of Brookholm, Ont, where he has lived for many years. A few years ago it was thought that an early grave would be his; on the contrary, however, he is now stout and strong, and the story of his recovery is on the lips of almost all the citizens of that burgh. The writer, while visiting in the village, could not fail to hear of his recovery, and with the reporter's proverbial nose for news decided to put to the proof the gossip of the village. The reporter visited Mr McKenzie's home and was introduced to Mrs McKenzie. Enquiry elicited the information that Mr McKenzie was not at home, but when informed as to his mission the lady freely consented to tell the reporter of her husband's case. Her story ran like this: "Mr McKenzie is 40 years of age, an engineer by profession, and is now on a boat on the lakes. About five years ago he began to feel twinges of rheumatism in different parts of his body and limbs. For a time he did not think much of it, but it gradually got worse until the pain was such that he was unable to work, and could not get rest at nights. I would have to get up two or three times of a night," said Mrs McKenzie "to try and relieve this intense suffering. Of course he consulted a physician who pronounced his trouble sciatic rheumatism. The doctor did what he could for him, but without giving him any permanent relief. This went on for several years sometimes he would be some better and try to work, then the trouble would come on again and be as bad as ever.

He was pulled down from being a stout man of 180 pounds to about 130, and was so thin and miserable that all who knew him thought it would be only a matter of a short time until he would be in his grave. For four years did he thus drag along a miserable existence, until in the beginning of 1897, some one recommended Dr William's Pink Pills. Tired of medicine, with some reluctance he procured a box and gave them a trial. Almost at once a change was perceptible and as he kept on taking them, the improvement continued, and he was soon able to be about. By the time he had taken about a dozen boxes he was free from the slightest twinge of rheumatism, and as stout and strong as he had been before his affliction. So great is his faith in Dr Williams' Pink Pills that when he left home recently to go up the lake for the summer, he took three boxes with him as a preventative against possible recurrence of [illegible] trouble. Mrs McKenzie [illegible] quite willing that
