Important Resolution

Ministers Express their Views on the House of Refuge Question.

At a recent meeting of the Owen Sound Ministerial Association it was resolved to call a convention of all the ministers of Owen Sound and vicinity, for the purpose of arranging a series of meetings in view of the coming plebiscite on the question of a House of Refuge for the county of Grey. In accordance with this resolution a convention was held on the 12th Dec in the Y M C A hall, Owen Sound, at which the Rev James Ledhard was appointed president and the Rev James Ardill secretary. After discussion it was decided that it would be indavisable to attempt to hold a series of meetings, as it was thought that it would be impossible to make them successful at this season of the year and with the present unfavorable condition of the country roads. It was however unanimously resolved to request all the newspapers of the county to give an expression of the convictions of the ministers in reference to this important question. Taking as our basis the short prepared and circulated by the county clerk at the request of the county council, supplemented as this is by reliable statistics subsequently made by the county clerk and embodied in this resolution, we are convinced:

That the number of homeless poor in our county is sufficiently large to demand that some concerted action should be taken to secure their comfortable maintenance.

That the present system of maintenance by family competition has proven to be inadequate and has been found to press unfairly upon some parts of the county.

That a large number of these poor people have been for years supported by the county in the county jail at a large expense, and as one of our judges lately expressed it, with all the odium that attaches to being herded with criminals.

That according to the most careful estimates it is clear that in general, the indigents in any county may be more comfortable and economically supported when well conducted House of Refuge than by any other system.

That such House of Refuge can be built and maintained at a very small cost per ratepayer, thus removing the objection so often heard, that a House of Refuge will be a perpetual and heavy drain upon the resources of the county. This statement is borne out by the following figures the approximate accuracy of which is vouched for by the county clerk:

"There are 22,000 municipal ratepayers in the county of Grey, as shown by the last voters' list. 5 cents per ratepayer would produce the sum of $1,100 - sufficient for paying the interest and providing for a sinking fund to meet the debentures to be issued for the establishment of a House of Refuge. 6 cents per ratepayer will provide $1,320, which, with a part of the amount now being paid from year to year by the local municipalities in the county for the maintenance of their poor, and which will be greatly reduced by the erection of a House of Refuge will be sufficient to provide for an average of fifty inmates at 50c per head per week. So that a rate of 12c on the average ratepayer will be the cost per annum for building and maintaining a House of Refuge in the county of Grey."

And lastly we are convinced that the Christian and humanitarian sentiment of the county will not tolerate or permit its deserving poor to be compelled either to suffer actual want or to submit to the humiliation of repeated appeals to the municipal councils for aid or worse still, as heretofore expressed to be "herded with criminals in the county jail."

The convention would respectfully request all the newspapers in the county to publish the foregoing resolution and all ministers of the gospel to read the resolution to their congregations and to press upon them the moral obligations under which all Christian communities are said to provide for their deserving poor in a worthy way. And we would remind the electors that the vote that will practically decide this question for the county will be the vote on the 2nd of January, 1899, and so would urge every friend of the poor to mark his ballot in favor of the House of Refuge.

James Ledhard, President.
James Ardill, Secretary.

County Court and General Sessions

(O S Advertiser)

Court opened before His Honor Judge Creasor at 2 p m Tuesday. The following Grand Jurors answered the roll call:—Marcus Andrew, St Vincent; David McLean, Owen Sound; Richard Watson, Artemesia; Thomas Jackson, Holland; Maymon White, Collingwood; John R McKenzie, Owen Sound; John Metzzor, Normanby; Robt Taylor, Derby; Andrew McLenhan, Owen Sound; W J McIvor, Keppel; John Merchant, Keppel; Samuel Goodfellow, Euphrasia. Mr Samuel Goodfellow was elected foreman.

His Worship Judge Creasor addressed the Grand Jury at length, explaining the law bearing on the several cases that would come before them. Dealing with the number of old and infirm people that are now confined in the gaol owing to poverty, some sixty in number, of whom not more than 10 or 12 belonged to the class for which a jail is the proper place, he characterized it as a disgrace to so large and wealthy a county as Grey to have the greater number of these crowded into jail with those of a criminal class. The number now so confined was about double that for which there was any reasonable accommodation. Simcoe, Bruce and other neighboring counties have all built houses of refuge for the aged and infirm poor of their counties. Grand Jury after Grand Jury for the past eight years had condemned the present arrangement and suggested the required remedy. He was glad to know that a vote is to be taken in January in the county on the question of building a suitable Home for the aged homeless. He hoped that humane feelings would prevail among the ratepayers, and that out of the plenty with which they were blessed they would willing contribute to such a desirable purpose. The government gave a very substantial grant, and with proper management such an institution could be economically run, and would avoid the absolute necessity of enlarging the goal premises and building under the present system.

The following civil case was disposed of.

Struthers vs Simmers plaintiff is a market gardener, carrying on business in Owen Sound, who purchased cauliflower seed from Simmers, wholesale house, Toronto, last spring. The seed were to be early snowball cauliflower of the best quality. The crop proved almost an absolute failure. Several witnesses, among others the plaintiff, Col Brodie and J R Todd stating that save some two or three dozen head there were no snowballs in all the 4000 odd plants. The defendants rely upon a non-guaranty clause in their catalogues, &c, whereby they claim to be free from responsibility as to quality, productiveness &c, and from failure in the crop. The Judge, however, was obliged to follow a recent case in the Court of Appeal in England, which held that the non-guaranty clause was no protection if the particular kind of seed ordered was not supplied. On the conclusion of the evidence the Judge submitted several questions to the Jury, and upon their answers judgment was entered, for $225 and costs. MacKay & Sampson for Plff; E T Malone, Q C, and J M Kilbourn for Defts.

Criminal Docket.

Reg vs W W Hall, in which a true bill was found at last Assizes for theft, was tried Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning. Hall of Hopeville was charged with stealing carpenter's tools from Gilbert McArthur, who held a lease of his shop. Verdict, guilty. Prisoner was fined $25 and allowed to go. A G MacKay for the Crown; Lucas & Wright for accused.

The presentment of the Grand Jury was handed in on Friday morning. The Jurors had visited the Collegiate Institute, the General and Marine Hospital and Gaol, in accordance with the instructions of the Judge. The Collegiate Institute and the Hospital were found to be running very satisfactorily, but out of about sixty inmates in the gaol only a few of them are confined there for any criminal offence, the others on account of their poverty-stricken condition. The presentment dwelt upon the necessity for a house of refuge being erected in this county, as has already been done in neighboring counties. His Honor, in reply, thanked the Jurors for their presentment, and with regard to the present overcrowded state of the gaol and need of a house of refuge he pointed out the influence which each juror would have in the coming vote on the question, and enjoined on them the necessity of showing to the people of their locality the present state of affairs.

The following criminal cases have been disposed of since Friday.

Reg vs Edward Beamish, in which the prisoner, a farmer near Dundalk, was charged with stealing clothes from the Queen's Hotel at Dundalk. After a session which extended late into the evening the Jury retired and returned in a couple of hours, having disagreed. A G MacKay for Crown; Lucas & Wright for prisoner.

Reg vs Alexander Fawcett—The accused is a resident of Dundalk, and is indicted for stealing a pair of boots from one Hicks, and also for burglarizing Noble's hardware store and stealing cartridges, scissors &c therefrom. The charges were tried separately. The trial of the former charge commenced on Saturday morning and was concluded about 3.30 p m of the same day. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. The court then adjourned till Monday at 2 p m, when the charge was proceeded with. A G MacKay for the Crown; Lucas & Wright for accused.

His Life was Saved

Mr J E Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo, lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became burdened. I was so weak I couldn't sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr King's New Discovery. One bottle gave me great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. 50 cents and $1.00 at any drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

New Picture of Admiral Schley.

"I saw Admiral Schley in New York the other day," said a New Orleans business man who had just returned from a trip to the metropolis "and, 'pon my word, I never met anybody who filled my ideal so perfectly. He is the bluff old sailor to the very life—the 'shiver my timbers heave ho my bullies' kind that one reads about in books—and I went wild, just like the other chaps, at the very sight of him. You might mistake Sampson for a banker or a dry goods magnate, but Schley has the salt of the sea about him. He looks older than his pictures, and his mustache and little goatee, twisted to one side, are nearly white. There are a thousand tiny crow's feet at the corners of his eyes, and when he smiles, which is often, a fellow feels somehow like throwing up his hat and letting out a yell. Admiral Schley is certainly one celebrity who don't disappoint you at close range."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Selective Refractors.

Some time ago a learned oculist was suggested which may be without refractive effect for light of some one color, but which as to light of others does exercise refraction, so that it becomes possible to more or less completely correct the chromatic aberration of the eye in any given circumstance. The plan proposed was to cement together a positive and a negative lens of nearly equal focuses, but of different dispersive properties.

One of the effects aimed at was to annul the dispersion between "advancing" and "retiring" colors. Thus of red and violet on a plane, the former seems to be nearer to the eye than the latter, because it demands a greater effort of accommodation. But with the aid of the colored glasses, if they are of radiation concentration, any such effects are said to be of being diminished or even reversed.—Keystone.

Preserving Strawberries by the Sun's Rays

"While the sun-preserved fruits require time and patience, they are, without doubt, much to be preferred to those cooked over the fire," writes Mrs. S. T. Rorer, on "Strawberries in Thirty Ways," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "In the country, where a hot-bed is at command, the work is easily done. Stem strawberries carefully without bruising; put them into a wire basket, which plunge down into a pan of cold water and drain thoroughly. Weigh the strawberries, and to each pound allow one pound of granulated sugar. Select large stoneware plate, make them very hot either on top of the stove or in the oven; sprinkle over a layer of the granulated sugar and cover this closely with the berries. Cover with glass and stand in the sun's hottest rays. Move the dish as the sun changes its position. At four o'clock bring them in and stand aside in a closet or cool place. Next day put them out again in the sun; by this time they will no doubt have become clear, almost transparent, and thoroughly soft, but perfectly whole. Lift each berry carefully with a fork and put into a tumbler or bottle. Boil the syrup over the fire for a few minutes until it thickens; strain, cool, and pour it over the fruit."

Helping Each Other.

Such help as we can give each other in this world is a debt to each other, and the man who perceives a superiority or capacity in a subordinate, and neglects, confesses, if not assists it, is not merely the withholder of a kindness, but the committer of an injury.—Ruskin.

An Old Birthright—Ent. Cured by Clarke's Kola Compound—Develops Into a Hearty, Lusty Boy.

If the discoveries and sacrifices of life in exploration of the Dark Continent had but proven a benefit to humanity the Kola plant, has proven a benefit for Asthma, it would be worth all this cost. Right in the heart of the African jungles such explorers as Livingstone and Stanley made many discoveries of medicinal plants, but up to date this superior one from all is under to that heretofore immeasurable disease. Contracted disease is bad enough to battle with, but the hereditary forms always prove most stubborn in resisting a cure. Mr. Jas. Kirkland, 252 Princess avenue, Victoria, B.C., writes: "Our boy, nine years old, has been troubled with Asthma since his birth. In spite of medical aid it grew worse and worse. Neither myself nor my wife had a night's rest for a year—had to be continually pounding and feeding him medicine to keep him from choking. A neighbor had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound, and we resolved to try it ourselves, with the result that to-day our child is completely cured. We used about two bottles, and it is now over a year since any symptom of the trouble has appeared. He is healthy and strong. We give the credit to this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists.
