A Proton Station Sensation

R Clark kept a general store at Proton Station until last week, but he sells goods there no more. He has gone and the sheriff is now taking charge of the store. Three years ago Clark opened up a general store at Proton Station and was considered to be doing a good business. He was genial and affable and won friends in plenty. Many of these friends are now sincerely mourning his departure. For some time Clark appears to have been in deep water financially, and borrowed money right and left from his trusting friends. The grain buyers at Proton Station are said to be out about three hundred dollars by trusting too implicitly to Clark's integrity, and others in the vicinity are out in smaller amounts. This is thus far the story of an ordinary absconding debtor, but there is a darker side to the tale. Eleven years ago Clark married a Miss Cunningham, one of the most estimable young women in this township, having met her at Collins Inlet on the north shore, where she taught. The couple have always lived happily together, and Mrs Clark has had no reason to believe her husband anything but loyal and true, or that he contemplated doing aught that has resulted in breaking up a once happy home. A week ago last Monday Clark informed his wife that he was going to Toronto to arrange some money matters and bade her an affectionate farewell. Previously he had borrowed from Messrs Reid & McMillen $100 to defray a year's load of flour which had arrived. This money was retained and the flour remained unredeemed. Clark, instead of going to Toronto went at Orangeville, where he took the Toronto branch of the C P R, and now comes a woman into the narrative. On the Saturday previous a young woman who, we understand, was employed by Clark, left for Owen Sound. On Monday she bought a ticket for Barrington, where, it is alleged Clark met the girl and then proceeded to the states. The father of the girl is making an effort to trace the couple. Mrs Clark, for whom much sympathy is felt, will go to reside with her mother near Markdale and feels most keenly the position in which she has been placed. The only satisfactory thing about the whole miserable affair is that there are no children to bear the stigma of their father's disgrace.—Flesherton Advance.

S G Agricultural Society

The annual meeting of this body took place on Wednesday of last week, and officers and directors were elected.

Again the members have elected Mr Jas Edge to the honored position of President which he has held for over a quarter of a century, and if bodily health is not quite so active as when first elected his interest in the Society is as active as ever.

A change in the Secretaryship however was forced on the meeting since the resignation of Geo McKenzie was before them. He has held the office for twenty years exactly and his time and health are such as to forbid him continuing in an office whose duties are very exacting. As a small testimony to past services, the Society in addition to warm expressions of thanks made a grant of $5 to their retiring Secy, whom everyone would rejoice to see restored to perfect health in the near future.

There were four applicants for the vacant position of Secy and the choice of the Directors fell upon Mr Arch Davidson, whose affability, experience and tastes will make him an efficient Secy. The office of Treasurer has been dissociated from that of Secy, and to Mr Wm Calder was given in charge the shekels of the society.

Another change and a popular one it will be, is that a public audit of the accounts is to be made. This has always taken place and open to the members of the society but has not heretofore been published. It is to be hoped that thus taking the public into fullest confidence our fine fall show will be more liberally patronized than ever.

The following are the officers and directors for 1899:

President, Jas Edge.
1st Vice Pres, H Parker.
2nd Vice Pres, Wm Smith.
Secretary, Arch David on.
Treasurer, Wm Calder.

Directors

Glenelg, Geo Binnie, C Firth, Hon, D Edge.
Egremont, Jas Matthews, T Caldwell, Hon, Jas Allan.
Bentinck, Wm Dawson, Wm Scarf, Hon, H Brighton.
Normanby, R Morice, Thos Gadd, Hon, R Barber.
Durham, Wm Calder, Hon, Jno H Hunter.
Auditors: T Holt and C Ramage.—Durham Review.

County Council

The County Council commissioners assembled on Tuesday afternoon to transact the County business. Five new members took their seats. They are Messrs Thos Pringle, Bentinck, in place of Jas Anderson; Wm Graham for No 3, in place of Geo Dick; J W Frost for Williscroft, in place of W A Bishop; F Quance for Div No 8, in place of Gilray for Div No 7. Four nominations were made for Warden, namely: John McDonald, Chatsworth; Brown, Meaford; D S Preston, Derby; and Charles Gordon, Owen Sound. Two ballots were taken, the first resulting: McDonald 3, Brown 2, Preston 2. The second and decisive ballot gave McDonald 4, Brown 3, Preston 5 and Gordon 8, which, being a majority of the Council, Gordon was declared elected and took the Warden's chair.

A deputation was then heard with reference to the incorporation as a village. The people was that the village should be retained in the township of Grey, and that the whole village should be incorporated by the county. A committee was appointed with Mr Richardson as chairman, to report on the matter. A committee was also appointed to strike the standing committees for the present year, of which Mr McDonald was chairman. The Council adjourned till 9 o'clock on Wednesday at 10 a.m.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

All the members present, the warden in the chair. After the disposal of communications and accounts which were then read, among which were the following:—From Colclifford, asking for a grant of $500 to supplement the grant of the volunteers and make it $1,500; and also for a grant of $300 to purchase instruments for the Regiment, which had to be established in Owen Sound; H Poehlman's account for taking census of Hanover., $15; J. H Rutherford $14.07; Sun Printing Co, $5; [illegible] for advertising in connection with the Plebiscite vote, $5.50; [illegible] to the Finance Committee, the following gentlemen were appointed a deputation to wait on the Government with reference to the Council for the connection with the Plebiscite for which the Association had been interested. The hour fixed was two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Council adjourned until 1.30 p.m.

MR. MONTAGUE, DUNVILLE, ONT.,
Has an Interesting Story About Dr. Chase's Ointment.
HIS SUFFERING FROM ULCERATING PILES CURED.

He says:—I was troubled with itching piles for five years, and was badly ulcerated. They were very painful, so much so that I could not sleep. I tried almost every remedy heard of, and was recommended to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. I purchased a box and from the first application got such relief that I was satisfied a cure would be made. I used in all two boxes, and am now completely cured.

Every remedy given by Dr. Chase cost years of study and research, and with an eye single to its adaptation for the ailments for which it was intended Dr. Chase detested cure-alls, and it has been proven ten thousand times that not one of his remedies leave a bad after-effect. Dr. Chase's Ointment is based on kindline, and the best physicians prescribe it.

Mr. M. T. Wigle, of Kingsville, Essex Co.
Cured of Itching Piles of 23 Years' Standing.
Physicians Fail to Make a Cure When Dr. Chase's Ointment Gave Immediate Relief.

M. T. Wigle, better known to every one in the vicinity as "Uncle Mike," was troubled for over 23 years with itching piles. At times it was so bad he would have to quit work. The irritation became so intense with constant rubbing that they became ulcerated and would bleed. He had been treated by many physicians, but found nothing that gave him relief. Reading in the paper the cure of a friend who had suffered in a like manner, and being cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, he procured a box. After the third application he got such relief that he had the first comfortable night's sleep he enjoyed in years. The one box made a complete cure, and he says he would not be without it for $50 a box if it could not be replaced. Mr. Wigle is a wealthy farmer, well known in the community in which he resides. It is over two years since he was relieved, and he has never been troubled since.

Finance Committee.

Mr McDonald presented report with the standing committees for 1899. They are as follows:

All members of the council.

Finance—D K Preston chairman.

Road, Bridges and Harbor—Messrs Frost, Pringle, Watson, Brown, Schenck Williscroft, McKinnon, McColman—McKinnon, chairman.

County Property—Richardson, Gilray, McDonald, Allan, Frost, Totten, McColman, McKinnon—McDonald chairman.

Education—Gilray, Preston, Richardson, Williscroft, Frost, Totten, Watson, Allan—Watson chairman.

Printing—Totten, McKinnon, Brigham, Schenck, Gilray, Watson—Schenck chairman.

Communications and Memorials.—McDonald, Brigham, Brown, McColman, Preston, Allan, Pringle—McColman chairman.

Warden's committee—Messrs McDonald and Richardson.

No objection was made to the formation of any of the committees, the chairman being appointed during the momentary withdrawal of the members to the Judge's chamber as their names were read out, and announced on their return to the Council room.

Mr Richardson presented report of his committee, recommending that the Council act on their first resolution with regard to the incorporation of Hanover village, and that a by-law be passed to this effect. This report was adopted, though Mr Mitchell of the Hanover Post and Mr H H Miller, who were permitted to address the Council on this question, endeavored to influence the Council to a contrary course by intimating that this action was unnecessary, as the Hanover people were unanimously in favor of being attached to Grey County.

By-laws for the appointment of the Judicial Board of Audit, and for the incorporation of that portion of the village of Hanover which lies in the County of Grey, were introduced and read a first time.

Rev W E Norton, on behalf of the Ministerial Association of Owen Sound requested the Council to time when they could give a deputation from the Association with reference to the House of Refuge, in connection with the Plebiscite for which the Association had been interested. The hour fixed was two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Council adjourned until 1.30 p.m.

He Was Doing It.

A gentleman going into his stable one day found his little son astride of one of the horses, with a slate and pencil in his hand. "Why, Harry," he exclaimed, "what are you doing?"

"Writing a composition," was the reply.

"Well, why don't you write it in the library?" asked the father.

"Because," answered the little fellow, "the teacher told me to write a composition on a horse."—Chicago News.

Punishment.

Captain—Sergeant, note down Private Dobbs three days on bread and water for slovenly turning out on parade.

The Color of Calcium.

Calcium is usually described as a yellow metal, but Moissan has recently shown that when pure it is of a brilliant white, crystallizing in six sided figures, which are got by dissolving the metal in liquid sodium at a low red heat and removing the sodium by the use of absolute alcohol.—London Globe.

A Disputed Hero.

"I suppose that Whittem is a great hero in your community," said a Detroiter to a friend from one of the interior towns.

"Oh, I don't know!"

"Don't know? Why, man, his bravery was remarkable! I read all about it in the papers. When his store was on fire, he rushed to the scene, disregarded the warnings shouted to him, pushed his way through the blinding smoke and seething flames and dropping firebrands to his office, dropped on his knees in the live coals before the safe, worked the hot knob until the combination caused the glowing doors to open, seized a valuable paper, rammed it beneath his vest to protect it from the raging element and staggered forth again from the consuming caldron. It was one of the most thrilling acts of bravery I ever heard of."

"Do you happen to know what that paper was for which Whittem risked his life?"

"No, but it must have been a very important document. No man would incur such danger without his very fortune was at stake."

"You'd think so, wouldn't you! Well, sir, that paper was the pedigree of Whittem's trottin boss that never beat 2:28 and never will."—Detroit Free Press.

Hope of a Disturbance.

He had been tossed about uncomfortably for 30 years. He had a gentle, contemplative, book reading disposition, was fond of pretty things, good manners and repose. But he had had to work hard at things which ruffled his spirit. "Intolerable" was the word most frequently on his lips. But now he has an easy, salaried position, congenial work, and for the time is comfortable.

The other evening he sat in his cheerful apartment, with a warm dressing gown about him, and talked to a friend about how the troubles of life had fallen away from him, how at last he had arrived in the haven. His friend told him that he was just in the condition to experience a new disturbance, deeper than all the others; that this rest was only a lull in the storm.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

The reply was a counter question.

"Are you as much resolved as ever to live alone?" this friend asked.

There was a pause. Then the contemplative man said slowly, "As an abstract proposition marriage doesn't seem as disagreeable to me as it did."

His friend smiled. "You will find that you will be deeply disturbed again before very long," he said.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Convictions, Indeed!

"What a whip likes," says Mr. Labouchere in London Truth, "is a sheep that never opens its mouth and which submissively goes into the pen to which the whip's finger points. Years ago I remember once voting on some very trifling issue against Liberal officialdom. The next time I met the chief whip he glared at me as though I were a monster of iniquity and asked me whether I could give any explanation of my conduct.

"I modestly replied that I had thought that the other side was right. He almost had a fit and gobbled at me like an irate turkey. I asked him whether I was to vote against my own convictions. 'D—n your convictions!' he said. 'A pretty pass things are coming to when one of our lot talks about convictions!'"

Not So Bad.

Brown lived between Gray and Green. Green was as quiet a neighbor as you could wish to have, and so was Gray, for that matter, but he had a barking dog that was the torment of Brown's life. One day in his desperation he told Gray that if he would get rid of the dog he would give him $5.

"All right," said Gray. "I'll do it."

Meeting Gray down town that afternoon Brown asked, "Have you done what you agreed to do and got rid of that dog?"

Gray—Yes, I've got rid of him.

Brown—Thank goodness! Now I shall sleep nights. By the way, what did you do with him?

Gray—I sold him to Green. He gave me $3 for him. Not so bad, eh?—Boston Transcript.

He Never Complained.

"I never complained," once said Sa'di, the poet, "of my condition but on a single occasion, when my feet were bare and I had not money to buy shoes, but I saw a man without feet and became instantly contented with my lot."

Being asked from whom he learned his philosophy, Sa'di replied, "From the blind, because they never advance a step until they have tried the ground."

"They asked me," Sa'di writes in the Gulistan, "'Of whom didst thou learn manners?' I replied: 'From the unmannerly. Whatever I saw them do which I disapproved of, that I abstained from doing.'"

Ransom Cabs on the Stage.

Clement Scott used to think the first ransom cab driven on the stage was in Andrew Halliday's "Great City," at Drury Lane, in April, 1867. But an old playgoer writes to him: "The first ransom cab that was ever driven on the stage in my recollection was at the Olympic, under the management of George Wild, in the early part of 1841. It was in a drama by Laman Blanchard, called 'The Road of Life; or, A Cabman's Career.'"

Aristocracy of Dolldom.

"My doll can shut her eyes and go to sleep just lovely."

"Huh! My doll never goes to sleep at all; she's got insomnier."—Chicago Record.

Reade's Eccentric English.

Reade's use of the English language, too, was eccentric, not to say ludicrous. In "A Simpleton," when he wished to signify that two people turned their backs on each other in a fit of temper, he wrote, "They showed napes." Describing the complexion of the New Haven belles in "Christie Johnstone," he says, "It is a race of women that the northern sun peachifies instead of rosewoodizing." In "Readiana" he describes a gentleman giving a lunch to two ladies at a railway restaurant as follows: "He souped them, he tough chickened them, he brandied and cochinealed one, and he brandied and burnt sugared the other" (brandy and cochineal and brandy and burnt sugar being Reade's euphemisms for port and sherry respectively). While he was preparing his series of articles on Old Testament characters he read what he had written to John Coleman on one occasion and came to this startling passage in his argument:

"Having now arrived at this conclusion, we must go the whole hog or none."

Coleman objected to this phrase.

"You don't like the hog, I see," said Reade. "Well, it's a strong figure of speech and it's understanded of the people; but—yes, you are right. It's scarcely Scriptural. So out it goes."—Gentleman's Magazine.

An Anecdote of Admiral Dewey.

One afternoon Mr. Dewey came down to my table on the gun deck. With an easy air he sat down on a camp stool and said quietly:

"Also you're the ship's writer?"

"Yes, Mr. Dewey."

"And these, I presume, are the ship's books?"

"Yes, sir."

"This is your liberty book. Let me see." And Mr. Dewey turned over leaf after leaf, glancing down the list with a grim smile.

"Mr. Kimberley tells me that you are a conscientious bookkeeper," he said after a pause.

"The men think that I'm too much so, sir."

Dewey regarded me with a searching look.

"Why, what do they say?" he asked.

Boylike, impetuously anxious to learn what manner of man I had to deal with, I blurted out:

"They say they wait less book and more executive officer."

Mr. Dewey's face darkened and his square set jaw closed hard.

"If they mean by that that they expect me to sail ship on sweet words and fair promises in spite of past experiences, they will be badly out of reckoning," he said slowly.—Harper's Round Table.

The Birdlike Love.

"Now, there's the people that buy canaries," said the bird dealer. "Queer people they are. The canary has no more love in it than a cat—not so much as a cat has for a canary. It loves nothing but food, and it can't make believe as much affection as a cat can when it wants something. But, hundreds buy canaries and love them—queer people; lonely people mostly. Some have friends, but that makes no difference about their being lonely. Nobody loves them, just the same.

"But the worst is nobody wants their love either. They are humblelike, though. They don't expect love. All they want is something to love—not much of anything, just anything. So the canary does.

"Yes, I sell lots of 'em canaries, and I can tell every time a customer comes in the door if he wants a canary or canary feed."—New York Commercial.

It's sad to think that so many women suffer from pain, Weak Spells, Heart Palpitation, Sinking Sensations,

Nervousness, Sleeplessness—who could be restored to the full enjoyment of perfect health by a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

There can be no question about the efficacy of this remedy. Thousands of women, have found it do all that is claimed for it. Here is the testimony of Mrs. Gillen, Wesley Street, Moncton, N.B.

"Before taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I used to suffer untold agony from violent headaches, irregular action of the heart, together with pains or spasms in various parts of my body.

"Sometimes I felt so weak that I was unable to look after my domestic duties. However, I had to endure this worry and trouble, because all the remedies I tried failed to give me relief, until happily I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I had only been taking them a short time when I felt greatly benefited. This encouraged me to continue their use until a complete cure was effected.

"I have not been troubled with a headache since taking these pills. They increased my appetite, invigorated my entire system, and gave me back my old time strength and vigor."

HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

Too many times the origin of a headache is miscalculated, and one begins dosing the stomach for it, when an application of Griffith's Liniment would draw out the pain and give immediate relief—it will cure any ache, no matter how severe.

"I suffered from severe headaches and could not obtain any relief until I used Griffith's Menthol Liniment—the cooling soothing action of this magical applier always takes away the pain. I have had a headache last longer than a minute since I began using this wonderful liniment."—L. DEAS, 127 Centre avenue, Toronto.
