REGULATION MOUSTACHES

Was Officer Circular--Something About the Moustache Adornments of Timbary Atkins...

It has been noticed that a predominant fashion exists in your regiment for young officers to shave the upper lip...

Now, this is very interesting, for, as will be imagined, the department does not issue a solemn warning like this without good reason...

Just a century ago in all our regiments powdered hair and pigtail predominated, and a clean shaven face was the order of the day...

The Peninsular War came whiskers, and with it the Crimean War, the beard, our officers and men paying a grateful compliment to their Russian prisoners by emulating their heavy moustaches...

And now the moustache is "going out," after a long reign of over forty years, and circulars and regulations can only delay the change...

The general change, when it comes, will be a hard one to get reconciled to, for some people think a moustache becomes aid some necessary to the military man...

And now the moustache is "going out," after a long reign of over forty years, and circulars and regulations can only delay the change...

TRUTH IN BULK

Recent Issue of the Star Causes a Sensation Among Its Readers.

EMINENT MEN INVOLVED

Irrefutable Mass of Evidence Gathered by a Canadian Concern Operating in the United States.

Readers of the Star were startled last Saturday to see the names of prominent public men high in the service of the United States printed in connection with a patent for a Canadian patent remedy...

It takes a very unselfish man to allow his name to be associated with a patent medicine... The fact can't be evaded...

Such, no doubt, was the condition of mind of R. A. Wade, the great criminal lawyer of Chicago, whose testimonial appeared on the page under discussion...

There were no traces of hesitation about the letters on that United States history page in last Saturday's Star...
