W. C. T. U. COLUMN.
A Child's Rebuke.
"Do you ever pray?" asked a tiny bit of a girl, of an avowed infidel one day, as she had strayed into his office from an adjacent room on the same floor.
She was a pretty, bright child, and the young lawyer had been pleased with her fair face and winning ways, and had often, by means of candies and other small gifts, encouraged her to come; and at this time, although the office was crowded with clients, he had called her to his side and given her a seat upon his knee, where she had remained unusually quiet, until a pause in the conversation had given her opportunity for the question which seemed uppermost in her mind.
"Say, do you?" she persisted, as he hesitated, visibly embarrassed. Although he was now an open follower of infidel doctrine, he had in his boyhood a Christian home, and, somehow, he could scarcely have explained why, he was ashamed to meet the honest blue eyes of that five-year-old child, and frankly acknowledge that he did not pray.
"Do you?" he inquired at last, desperately; hoping thus to change the topic, to him, very unobnoxious subject; for there was an unmistakable smile showing upon the faces of his visitors at his evident unwillingness to answer.
"Oh, yes, of course!" she answered promptly, not in the least disturbed by the question; "once every night and morning, besides lots of other times. But say, do you?" You know—you did not tell me."
"Didn't I?"—the color actually crimsoned his forehead. "Well, I think I might say, 'God bless my little child!' Do you think that would do?"
"Yes, sir," naively, "but I think you would much better pray for yourself."
"I could have stood up and faced and answered the most scathing rebuke ever leveled at infidelity in public," he said, in repeating the story afterward to a company of friends in my hearing. "I could have laughed in the face of the most eminent divine who dared to urge upon me the duty of prayer; but that child's question completely nonplussed me. I believe in all the defeats I ever experienced, I never felt so unspeakably little as I did that day."

London's Exhibition.
The extensive preparations which have been made in the way of enlargement of buildings and general improvement to the grounds this year will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the many exhibitors and visitors.
We are informed by the Secretary, Mr. J. A. Nelles, that the entries, which close on the 5th September, the fair opening on the 6th and continuing till the 15th are coming in rapidly, and space will be at a premium. There will be many new and attractive exhibits. Every province will be represented. From present indications all departments will be well filled.
The special attractions and fireworks will be on a scale never before attempted.
No one should miss seeing the grand representation of "An Armored Train's Attack on a Boer Stronghold," typical Baden-Powell's memorable stand at Mafeking.
The best features obtainable have been secured, the aim of the management being to get only what was new and novel, and that object has been accomplished. Everything therefore goes to show that the Western Fair of 1900 will be one to be long remembered and there is no doubt the attendance will prove greater than on any previous occasion.

Rocklyn
Harvesting completed once more.
Quite a number of our citizens are taking in the Toronto Exhibition this week.
Miss Clemy Patton, of this place, intends going to Toronto for some time. She is accompanied by her cousin, Miss Ethel Patton, of Laskay, who is on her way home from a several weeks' visit here.
Mr. J. H. Sinclair wheeled to Notawassa last Saturday, returning on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and daughter Lottie, of Woodford, visited at Dr. Danard's last week.
Misses Annie and Bella Buchanan, of Vandeleur, are visiting friends in these parts.
Miss Edith Hutchison of Vandeleur was the guest of Miss Maggie Gould a few days last week.

Priceville
As some very large bush fires, were raging a mile or so south of the village the rain on Monday morning was very acceptable.
The roof of our village farmers threshed out their season's crop last Saturday. The three Mac's are hustlers.
A number of the young people of this burg and vicinity picnicked in Mr. J. Aussem's grove last Monday afternoon.
The frame work of the Presbyterian church sheds was successfully raised on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week. The sheds when finished will accommodate nearly 50 teams.
We are very sorry that Mr. John McPhail is compelled to give up work for the rest of this year. We sincerely hope that a few months' rest will result in a complete restoration of his health.
We are pleased to see Mr. D. McDonald on our streets again after a short but serious illness.
Mr. Scanlan, of St. Catharines, is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. P. Dolger, of the Crown Hotel.
Miss Alice Ross returned to her school duties at Mimico at the first of the week.
Very few of our residents are taking in the Toronto Exhibition this year.
Mr. John Nichol received a post card from his son Walter lately, which was written in the top of the Eiffel Tower in Paris. We are glad to know that Priceville is represented at the great Exposition.
Mr. Henry Deitz, of Detroit, spent Saturday and Sunday with his brother-in-law, Mr. George Tryon.
Mr. Leo Grier, of Dundalk, visited at his parental home here on Labor Day.
Our pathmasters have received what might be termed a "dressing down" by one of our citizens in a recent issue of the Chronicle. However, the commissioners are still pursuing the even tenor of their way regardless of the lugubrious imprecations of the pen-donamous correspondent.

Her Head a Fright.
"Large hoars covered the head and face of our child," writes C. D. Ishill, of Morganton, Tenn. "no treatment helped till we used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which quickly cured her." Infallible in Eruptions, Bruises, Accidents and Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. at R. L. Stephen's drug store.

The annual exhibition of the Euphrasia Agricultural Society will be held in the village of Rocklyn on Friday, October 5th, 1900. Societies who have not fixed the date of their exhibition will please not arrange for the above date. James Erskine, Pres.; J. W. Patton, Sec'y.
The Westminster lacrosse team defeated the Capitals of Ottawa on Saturday last on the latter's grounds by a score of four to one. The westerners are sustaining the great reputation that preceded them and are playing rag with our best eastern teams.
We have just received from the publishers, Messrs. Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., of Montreal, a copy of the latest edition (the sixth) of their publication "Nursing the Sick." This booklet being written by a professional nurse has not only the approval of the medical profession, but is considered an invaluable acquisition to every household, being literally a first aid to the wounded, or a simple medical and surgical handbook. It is published in French and English, and may be obtained by enclosing a 2c. stamp to the above mentioned firm.

Wodehouse
Miss S. A. Thompson, of Corbetton, formerly of Kimberley, gave us a short call in passing through here on her way home via Markdale.
Mr. George Gibson, the youngest of the family of the late James Gibson of 3 and 4 side line, Euphrasia, who has been living in Chicago for thirteen years, returned two weeks ago for the first time in all these years to visit his brothers and sisters and his former home. Geo. is a wood machinist and is engaged in building pullman cars. Your scribe enjoyed a call from him last week.
Mr. Edgar Donnelly and Mr. R. J. McAfee are taking advantage of the excursion rates to visit Assinaboia and the North-west Territory.
Messrs. Tory and Anderson are clover hulling in this neighborhood. There is a good yield.
Miss Hattie Shore, of the 9th line, is visiting the Toronto exhibition.
Labor Day in Markdale apparently means that it is a day in which no labor is performed in that large town.
This neighborhood has contributed $21.50 to the India famine fund. Part has been forwarded by Mr. Wm. Caruthers to Dr. Talmage's paper, New York.
