Our Fall Exhibition is past and an annual success, but it is an uphill work when the exhibits are unsuitable. It is a pity that a spacious plot with suitable exhibition buildings all within easy access, and then crowd all into one place commencing at say 10 o'clock, and the handling of the same being the previous day. The present grounds are unsuitable. But could be improved by a spacious figure of 100 feet by 100 feet or fifteen acres which would be suitable for a public park and pleasure grounds as well as for agricultural show purposes. Who will take hold and agitate the question? A thousand dollars might be realized if the gate receipts under favorable circumstances about as readily as one quarter that amount at present.

Children's Service. Instead of the regular service in the Methodist church on Sunday morning being held, Rev. Buchanan, the pastor, reviewed the last quarter's play school lessons for the benefit of the scholars, who were out in large numbers, occupying the choir loft and front pews. The music was furnished by the scholars and the Sunday school orchestra and was specially good. A large number of the parents and other attended and all enjoyed the service very much. In the afternoon a dramatic program of readings, vocal and instrumental music was rendered by the scholars in the school room during regular Sunday School hour. The interest that is being taken in the children by the teachers and others is resulting in a large attendance and a prosperous Sunday School.

Fowl Supper.—Owing to the exceptionally fine evening and many other attractions, the fowl supper held at Ebenezer church on Monday evening last was a success in every particular. The shed had been closed in, stoves erected, a sawdust floor added, and the walls tastefully decorated, making an excellent dining hall, which for a long time was crowded by those who appreciate something good in the line of dressed fowl. Watermelon was on the table, among many other delicacies, and at least one champion consumer was discovered, while the left wing of the Markdale choir gave evidence of immense appetites by reducing one of the benches to kindling wood. At eight-thirty the church was crowded to suffocation, and the proceedings opened with the singing of the coronation hymn. Then the program proper followed which consisted of chorus singing by the Methodist choir from this place, solos by Mrs. Hill, Miss L. Rutledge and W. Guy Pickett, instrumental music by the Markdale quartette and the Bush family, a reading by Miss H. Shore, and a splendid address by the Rev. Wm. Buchanan, all of which received generous applause. The chairman, Rev. McAteer, announced the proceeds of the evening to be $58 which was highly satisfactory and creditable to all connected therewith.
