ile in Paris, offered $5,000 lo or that had figured in the h Revolution. Through it nad such famous folk as Marie nette, Charlotte Corday, Dan nd Robespierre. Truly a door ich some awful memories cling ollection comprises doors from is ancient halls and castice of more or less historic value authorities of the Carnavale m, in Paris, have in their pos n a door of THE OLD GASTILLE.

n the prison of Mazas was de ned they thought of purchasing: its doors, but for some reason er changed their minds. se relics were, however, cagerly r; and one purchaser, a latter amson, actually carried his in home on his back. The 1, eys of the prison were disposed the same time, but brought ingly poor prices. Even the interesting of them were sold low price of five francs, or a ess than one dollar each. that celebrated old hostelry. rab Tree, was about to be uested that the door should be lly preserved. This was a very s portal, with quite a unique running back to the time Food Queen Bess left her black-Bible in the bat-parlour as she om an unexpected police raid. rtunately, owing to some mistanding the door, which conthe names of landlords and notabilities with their own auhs, was completely destroyed. ough Mr. White offered a conile sum for even a quarter of lucd door, not, even this much rthcoming. All that the v rke ould bring him was

BARROWFUL OF BITS. ich not a name or a mara he made but. possibility of preserving an in-ng relic had vanished forever. to the disappointment of Mr. who regarded the door as one most precious features of his years, ago the people ord-on-Avon waked highly int on learning that one of the wardens had sold as old lumincient carved oak and panoors of the north porch of the celebrated as the burial-place loors were erected a century Shakespeare's time, weighed ton, and were in perfect con-

They had just been temporemoved to bring to light some ving and a peculiar holy waup in the church. The purintended using them in the iction of a pigsty! The inits had some difficulty in gete doors returned and restored r proper purpose.

E SIZE OF RAIN-DROPS. instaking meteorologist has ken the laborious task of ing the dimensions of rain-He finds that the largest are one-sixth of an inch, the smale five-hundredth of an inch iner. They are larger in suman it winter and larger in hotcold climates. The size of op when it reaches the earth on the height from which it en. In summer the lower of air are warmer than in and therefore clouds are at a greater height. The falling from these clouds, re, are larger than the win-

Makeahit It is my highest on to marry some titled forester-Why don't you try the Makeahit-"S-i-r!

ONE EXPLANATION.

TOO MANY, WIVES.

Snaggs-I could never underwhy the Russians call their. he White Czar. Snaggs-I suppose that the us plots against his life keep le all the time. ssel drawing 10 feet riges 2 n passing from fresh water to 340 Germany factory-workers 83 hours a week; a world's cent. of steamers and 4 perf salling-vessels are lost at rly. e age of 30, the average Eng-weighs 156lb., the average an 150th. n-Are you sure you can put eth into satisfactory condi-Dentist-Yes, sir; at any rate spare no pains to do so.

heart, said the lecturer, eventy times a minute. This ation does not hold good for running away from a mad for schoolboys discovered in le tree by a lively farmer. did you send for me, Mrs rife? said Dr. Redlight There utely nothing wrong with the Oh, I'm so glad doctor nt made you think there was doctor, he hasn't cried a his e than an hour.

The Man Who Knows.

TERS-Miss Wetherell is abducted was very thick and the ground by Nikola who demands as ragsom Focky; for this reason it was nearly from her father £150,000 and a myst twenty minutes before I reached the had been captured and carried back tenious Chinese stick. Mr. Wether top of the hill. Then down the to the huts? In that case we had rell and her lover, Richard Hatterasi, other side I crept, picking my way better proceed thither and try to attempt a coup to release her but carefully, and taking infinite precaute rescue him. This, however, was a are betrayed. Hatters finds the tions that no noise should serve to much more serious undertaking, and has been carried to Pipa Lannu. A warn our fees of my coming.

vacht is equipped and pursuit commences. Wetherell tells the story of looked about me. A small perpent the plateau again.

China Pete's stick. The vacht ar- dicular cliff, some sixty feet in When we reached it the huts were rives off Pipa Lannu.

CHAPTER V.-(Continued). About dusk I was standing aft, think you ought to go to-night? forces now. Remember you will run the risk of being shot!

if he knew?

know you will send it on to him. our climb.

But if we both come out of it safe. By this time the clouds had cleared the boat was waiting for us. What know you will send it on to him. our climb. ing to ask a favor of you?"

could not possibly desire." 'I like to hear you say that. We've been through a good deal together since we left Europe, haven't we?" taken.

think. If he finds himself cornered he'll probably fight like a demon." "'It's Baxter I want to meet!

an pick the land up ahead."

sky-we crept up towards the coast. ing the hail every man on board was have recognized everywhere. on deck gazing ahead in the direction In answer I took Phyllis in my of it: Not a sign however, of any quietly; I passed outlinto the stargreatest vigilance had to be exercis light, leading her lafter me. As we to those ashore. Exactly at nine stepped forward, any at the same out in answer, and thereupon we assembled on deck, and the surf-boat was swung overboard. Then in the darkness we crept down the gangway and took our places. The mate was in possession of the tiller, and look after her, made our way ashore. cried: was a strange experience that Where is Mr. Wetherell? landing on a strange beach on such an errand and at such an hour, but and surely enough the old gentlemen we were all too much taken up with was missing. Discovering this, Phyl-the work which lay before us to lis nearly gave way, and implored us tor, was conducted across the island mand of the expedition had fallen mies hands again, so selecting four her, five minutes later I was coning course of action. To begin with the rest spall the best out ato the three persons were collected. and set out by myself to ascertding the contains charge while the half the whereabouts of the hute Having ance accompanied me ashore again discovered this I would return and in search of her lether. Having discovered this I would return and we would thereupan make our way inland beight, was before me, so throwing as quiet as when I had first made myself down upon my stomach; I their acquaintance. Not a sound wriggled my way to its edge. When came up to the top of the little pregot there I looked over and discipice save the rustling of the wind covered three well-built huts on a in the palms at its foot. It seemed Gossip About Some of the World's leaning against the taff-raff, when little plateau at the cliff's base. At difficult to believe that there had Bockenham came up and stood be- the same moment a roar of laughter been such a tumult on the spot so side me. It was wonderful what a greeted my ears from the building on short a time before. difference these few months had made the left. It was, followed by the in him; he was now as brown as a voice of a man singing to the accom- down to the buildings, this time, berry, and as fine-looking a young paniment of a hanjo. Under cover directly," I said as he came to an the track along which I had come.

CHAPTER VI.

Once we had left her side and turned our boat's nose towards the more clearly defined.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAP plateau to lie. The undergrowt

Having reached my friends again I By the time we had thoroughly ex-informed them of what I had seen, plored the plateau and its surround-"I have thought of that," he said. and we then arranged the mode of "I believe it's my duty to do my attack as follows: The mate of the we had discovered no trace of the best to help you and Mr. Wetherell." yacht, with two of the hands, would missing man. Just as the sun rose "But what would your father say pass round the hill to the left of the plateau, Wetherell and another cou-"He would say that I only did ple of men would take the right side, what was right. I have just been while Beckenham and myself crept ter luck, however, than on the prevwriting to him, telling him every-down from the back. Not a sound ious occasion. Wetherell and our thing. If anything should happen was to be made or a shot fired until assailants seemed to have completely to me you will find the letter on the I blew my whistle. Then, with one disappeared from the island. chest of drawers in your cabin. I last word of caution, we started on ly and rescue Miss Wetherell Im go off the sky and the stars shone was to be done? We could not for brightly. Now and again a bird obvious reasons leave the island and Granted before I know what it would give a drowsy "caw" as we abandon the old gentleman to his disturbed him, or a wild pig would fate, and yet it seemed useless to 'It isn't a very big one. I want jump up with a grunt and go trot- remain there looking for him, when you to let me be your best man at ting off into the undergrowth, but he might have been spirited away "So you shall. And a better I still. Once more I arrived at the Suddenly one of the crew, who had small precipice behind the huts, and, been loitering behind, came into having done so, sat down for a few view waving something in his hand. moments to give the other parties As we approached we could see that time to take up their positions. Then it was a sheet of Paper, and when he "We have, and to-night will bring signing to Beckenham to accompany gave it into my hands I read as folit to a climax, or I'm much mis- me, I followed the trend of the pretken. You think Nikola will show where we might descend in safety, I In less than a minute we were on the cliff in which is a large cave, a little Not a doubt about it I should plateau below, creeping towards the centre hut. Still our approach was undetected. Bidding Beckenham in a whisper wait for me, I crept cau-"Nikola is my man. I've a big tiously round to the front, keeping a against him, and I want to as much as possible in the shadow." As soon as I had found the door, I "How ittle we thought when we tiptoed towards it and prepared to were cruising about Bournemouth force my way inside, but I had an Bay together that within such a adventure in store for me which I it.

sailing the South Pacific on such an crand! It seems almost too strange hidden in the shadow, was the figure he answered. 'Well, the only thing for us "So it does! All's well that ends leap, for he did not become aware do now is to set off to the north of Greece is an expert sailor, and sinches round the waist and 62 inches of my presence until I was within a shore and hunt for the cave. Two his younger brother is preparing to limit to the post which he call are both 22 inches in circumster. I will wind this watch of call are both 22 inches in circumster. It was about to give the to the yacht and ask the captain to vacated on becoming Governor of ence. His weight is 560 pounds de reith and so the round to the which is 560 pounds de reith and so the round to the which is 560 pounds de reith and so the round to the which is 560 pounds de reith and so the round to the which is 560 pounds de reith and so the round to the round to the which is 560 pounds de reith and so the round to the roun alarm. Before he could do so, how-follow us round." I left him and went forward to the ever, I was upon him. A desperate As soon as the boat, was under captain's side. Dusk had quite fal- hand-to-hand struggle followed, in weigh we picked up our rifles and set Prince before he ascended the throne, four miles in ten hours. Needless to len by this time rendering it im- which I fought solely for his throat. off for the north beach. It was and his son, Prince Oscar, is still say he holds, and is likely to hold possible to see very far ahead. A This once obtained I tightened my swelteringly hot by this time commodore. hand had been posted in the fore-ris- fingers upon it and squeezed until he and, as may be imagined, we were Lord Dufferin has the reputation. As an adjunct to wrestling weight with an adjunct to wrestling weight with a reputation of being one of the finest linguists is often of use, and it is said that it works were that combet work. However, the men has been posted in the fore-ris- fingers upon it and squeezed until he and, as may be imagined, we were Lord Dufferin has the reputation. As an adjunct to wrestling weight with the combet work. However, the men has the fingers upon it and squeezed until he and, as may be imagined, we were Lord Dufferin has the reputation is often of use, and it is said that it works the men has the reputation of being one of the finest linguists. Wormen are our best customent we expected to hear his warning horrible nightmare, that combat work. However, the men knew they in the United Kingdom. This facil- to this end without noise in the dark entry of would be amply rewarded if we could it. cry but nearly ah hour passed, and without noise in the dark entry of would be amply rewarded if we could ity for equiring languages has been to this end with such success that the hut, and I was more than thank-Then, suddenly the shout rang out, ful that it ended so satisfactorily whom we had been searching, so they sador at four European Courts. "Land ahead!" and we knew that for me. As soon as I had disentangour destination was in sight. Long led myself, I rose to my feet and before this all our lights had been proceeded across his body into the obscured, and so in the darkness hut itself. A swing door led from north end of the island. It was not and was greeted by the students in sive Louis Cyr, whose 308 pounds for a thick pall of cloud covered the the porch, and this I pushed open. Within a couple of minutes of hear-went?" said a voice which I should small c, iffs, in the centre of which hesitation Lord Dufferin teplied to lighter build would have been impos

By ten time we had brought the arms and, whispering my name, kissbeen wrestling came to his senses! and gave a shout of alarm. In an instant there was a noise of scurrywhen all was ready we set off for the the top of my voice, and, taking South Wales. Phyllis by the hand, set off as quick- In less time almost than it takes ly as I could go up the path, Beck- to tell, we had cast loose the ropes enham, assisting her on the other which bound him, and led him, for

If I live to be a hundred I shall and the yacht lay behind us, a never forget that rush up the hill. black mass nearly absorbed in the In and out of trees and bushes, general shadow. Not a light show- scratching ourselves and tearing our ed itself, and everything was as still clothes, we dashed; conscious only of tion. Addressing himself to me he as the grave; the only noise to be the necessity for speed. Before we heard was the steady dip, dip of the were half-way down the other side oars in the smooth water and now Phyllis's strength was quite exand then the chirp of the rowlocks, hausted, so I took her in my arms others as fast as I could go; but I'm For nearly half, an hour we pulled and carried her the remainder of the an old man and could not get along on pausing at intervals to listen, distance. At last we reached the as quickly as I wanted to, and for but nothing of an alarming nature boot and jumped on board. The rest met our ears The island was every of the party were already there and hind. I must have been half-way moment growing larger, the beach the word being given we prepared to down the hill when a tall man, dress-more plain to the eye, and the hill row out to the yacht. But before a bush and raising a rife hade more cleanly at the hill row out to the yacht. we could push off a painful surprise As soon as the boat grounded we was in store for us. The Marquis, sprang out and, leaving one hand to who had been counting the party,

We looked round upon each fother. would leave the party behind me yacht and give Miss Wetherell into the persons were collected.

In the west out by myself to ascertain the captains charge while the ball.

remembered having seen him descend ing the hill, so we devoted our attentions to that side. For nearly two hours we toiled up and down. but without success. Not a sign of the old gentleman was to be seen Could he have mistaken his way and be even now searching for us on another beach? To make sure of this we set off and thoroughly searched the two bays in the direction he would most likely have taken. But still without success. Perhaps he

Again with infinite care we crept

however, without encountering a fellow as any man could wish to see. of his music I rose to my feet, and soul. The first was empty, so was "We shall be picking up the island crept back through the bushes, by the second, and so was the third. This result was quite unexpected, anchor alongside me. 'Do you I knew enough to distribute my and rendered the situation even more mysterious than before.

ings it was nearly daylight, and still missing man. Just as the sun rose above the sea line we descended the hill again and commenced a second search along the beach, with no bet-

About six o'clock, thoroughly worn

"If you cross the island to the north beach you will find a small will discover the man for whom you are searching."

son to doubt its authenticity.
"Where did you discover this?" inquired of the man who had brought short space of time we should be had not anticipated.

Sailing the South Pacific on such an Seated in the doorway, almost bushes up on the beach there, sir, pushed on.

tered the bay which constituted the he visited McGill College, Montreal, many of us can remember the mass a large beach on this side, but it had four addresses-English, French, La-enabled him to accomplish feat Who is it, and what do you at its western end, a curious line of tin and Greek. Without a moment's which to an equally muscular man of a small black spot could be discern- each address in succession in the lan- sible. ed looking remarkably like the en- guage in which it was couched. trance to a cave. Towards this we Mr. Hugh Hole, the son of the

It was a cave, and a large one. So far the letter was correct. Preparing ourselves, in case of surrushed in.

A remarkable sight met our eyes. "Make for the boats!" I cried at was the Colonial Secretary of New > he was too weak to stand alone, but into the open air. While he was resting he inquired after his daughter, and having learned that she was safe, gave us the following explanasaid: "When you cried Make for the boats,' I ran up the hill with the this reason was spon left far bea bush, and raising a rifle bade me come to a standstill. Having no time to lift my own weapon I was obliged to do as he ordered me, and he thereupon told me to lay down my weapon and right-about face. In this fashion I was marched back to

The Boar: "As I was saying, my demands are-The Lion: "Roar, roar-r-r!" fiercel The Boar: "Oh, I say, Mr. Lion, lowhow you startle me! Well, I should be willing to discuss-

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Great People.

Pope Leo XIII is still addicted to the habit of taking snuff. It is not generally known that the snull used by the head of the Roman Catholic Church is made especially for his use in America. This particular kind is the highest-priced male anywhere in the world, and before being packed is flavoured with the costly attar of Police-Constable Jones; the artist, has had two of his landscapes hung at the Royal Cambrian Academy. His large painting of a Shropshire scene was only conditionally accepted at the Royal Academy, and it has been crowded out of the Exhibi-tion. The artist has a hundred or more paintings in his studio, all of which he has produced in his spare moments when not acting as caretaker at the Leeds Town Hall.

Dr. Boyd Carpenter, who recently paid a flying visit to the Empress Frederick, has always been a favorite with the members of the Royal Family. There is not a more popular Bishop on the Bench than he, and among the million people who live in his diocese it would not be easy to find one to speak ill of him. He is one of the working Bishops. He is said to travel, within the bounds of his diocese, over ten thousand miles a year.

It is interesting to learn that St: Paul's Cathedral has an octogenar, can be numbered several weighty rid ian bell-ringer in Mr. J. R. Haworth who has just celebrated his eightieth Waterford, Ireland, turns the scal birthday. Mr. Haworth has rung at 308 pounds a not excessiv above high-water mark. There you bells all his life with skill and gus- weight when his height, 6 ft. 6in. to. He helped to ring the bells of taken into consideration. A well Westminster Abbey on the accession known Dublin physician, 70 pounds There was no signature to this of Queen Victoria, and he was one heavier, is likewise an ardent rider epistle, and the writing was quite of the ringers at St. Paul's both at nor does he confine himself to cycling unfamiliar to me, but I had no reather the Jubilee and Diamond Jubilee, for despite his avoirdupois, he indu the Jubilce and Diamond Jubilce, for despite his avoirdupois, he indu-Mr. Haworth is still hearty and full ges in most outdoor games, having T of anecdote.

Royal sailor in the person of the most massive cyclist in the world. Crete. King Oscar of Sweden and spite which, on a specially construct Unusual! Ch. no; what frequently Norway was a most popular sailor ed machine, he has covered eighty-

When he was Governor-General of ring. At weight-lifting, too, it is At last we turned the cape and en- Canada a quarter of a century ago at times of decided advantage, and and considerably nearer, and by ed her over and over again. She regard of the excitement of the search.

It was a care and delight the search of the search. Rochester, thas returned in good den Circus, London, was Emile health from South Africa, Hole was Nauke. Five stone heavier that one of the first C.I.V.'s, and recalls with pardonable pride that the fact ed on our part to allow no sign to which I had descended, Beckenham calling Mr. Wetherell's name. As corps who averaged 6ft in height to those ashore. Exactly at nine stepped forward, and at the same our shouts died away a voice came and over 40in. in chest measurement. Hugh Hole himself did something to bring up the average, for he is all Some of the Largest Gold Nugbut 6ft. 6in. in height and broadly In the centre of the cave was a stout made in proportion. Moreover, he ing feet and a great shouting of or upright post, some six or eight feet has genuine ability, and a broad in height, and securely fied to this sympathy with his fellow not to be acquired in the schools.

descent on one side, but received his throughout.

reputation in Sheffield, where he is so well known and much beloved of California is known as the "Oliver being one of the most unpretentious Martin," which was valued at $22,think of that. Having left the to go back at once to find him. But to this beach, where a boat was in men that aver lived. A few weeks water's edge we came to a standstill having rescued her with so much beneath a group of palms and discounty I did not wish to run any a small schooner lying at an church in one of the streets off the cussed by the streets off the streets of the streets off the streets of the streets off the streets of the stre to this beach, where a boat was in waiting In it I was pulled out to ago, at a small Roman Catholic a small schooner lying at an one of the streets off the church in one of the streets off the streets of the shooner lying at an one of the streets of the street of the streets of the stre

The Lion: 'Roar-r-r rr-roar-r-r! The Boar: 'Dear me, how very spring breeks they are not necessare lerce! I implore that you will al-fily done for, unless in another world.

The Lion: 'R-r-roar-r-r!!!! The We can't terms will be mine, and not yours!" Whichen all jokes aside, perience," he was told that the quiet.

of Nortolk. FAT FOLKS AS ATHLETES. ---- stout people refrain from entering move are magnetized, too, sions when they essay to emulate the feats of their leaner brethren. Such a one occurred some months since at Berlin, Germany, when a race over a short course took place between a butcher and a tailor, weighing respectively, 336 and 378 This the latter, after & pounds. desperate finish, won by a yard. The time was not stated, but in all probability record was not beaten.

The king of all fat men. Daniel Lambert, of England, prided himself upon his pedestrian abilities, and of one occasion showed that as a pugit ist his punishing powers would have gained him respect. When out with a friend he found himself unexpectedly face to face with a large bear, which had broken loose from its master's control. Butin, being cit er playfully or spitefully inclined went for the man-mountain, who nothing daunted, resolutely met its charge, which, on its being again re peated, he effectually stopped with such a vigorous right-handed Lion as stretched the animal senseless i the road.

Among the votaries of the wheel ers. An expert cyclist, residing a quired of the man who had brought Russia's sailor Princes are the Weightier by; far than either did not examine the pin and the pivots, and the pivots of the man who had brought Grand Duke Admiral Alexis and his these two gentlemen is Joseph Withich you see here. Sometimes I nephew Cyril. France, long after Grimes, an American, who can, with the pivots of the ushes up on the beach there, sir, she became a Republic, retained a out question, lay claim to being the market thing to detect is a most massive evelist in the world states there on one of the wheels. an especial liking for lawn tennis. Governor of ence. His weight is 560 pounds der with it is that it is bun down.

> all records for a man of his size. to 420 pounds are to be seen in the

Another strange man of prodigious dimensions, who exhibited his powers some years ago at the Covent Gar den Circus, London, was Emile Louis Cyr, his muscular vigor was the wonder of the day.

HANDFULS OF WEALTH.

gets Eyer Found.

carly training in German schools. The great 'find' was unearthed at unproductive. For all Europe this His grandfather settled in Germany a small mining camp called Hill End. less would amount to $600,000,000 and married a German lady. Their Two men, Byer and Haltman, were which should be added to the $750, son Karl, or Charles, Milner, the the discoverers. Strange to say, 000,000 annually paid out for milfather of Lord Milner, was born at they had lost all their money seek, they and naval purposes. Neuss in June, 1830. He received ing for gold, and at the time of their in Germany every year more than a thorough education in theology discovery were without a penny, 340,000 young men reach the miland philology at the University of deeply in debt, and almost on the ithry age and enter the Army as a Tubingen. At the latter town he in the solid lump was made at Bake two in active service and four in the took the degree of Dr. Med. in 1856, ery Hill, near Ballarat, Australia, on army of the reserve. On a peace and became professor of the English June 15, 1858. It was discovered looking the Kaiser has more than language. He died at Tubingen in by two or types men of a prospect half a million soldiers at his comlanguage. He died at Tubingen in by the state of twenty-four. These men mand and it case of necessity this Bonn, or at Giessen, on the 23rd of had decided to share pro rata, every number could be raised to 3,000 March, 1854. He received his early thing that was discovered. Conso 600. March, 1804; He received his carry tune charge had to be divided But the greatest military power-berg; and in 1869 came to England, into many portions. Other than this on land, at least is Russia, which where, full of German intellectual- find the prospectors met with little maintains an establishment of more ity, he entered King's College. He luck. Hence the mass of gold be than 800,000 men in times of peace

The largest nugget ever found in four, or even five. 700 , and earned $10,000 more MAKING SHORT PEOPLE TALL

THE TIPE OF WATCHES

nces and Conditions That Affect Their Behaviour.

"Thetches" d'the jeweler, as ho ad a little glass into one eyo squinted into a case of wheels, like human beings in many are delicate; they run only when in perfect order, and often wather they stop or not. They become sick, in a way, as we Eut, unlike us, when their main-They can have new mainsprings.

really amost human sometimes. They take cold readily. Never lay perience," he was told that the quiet a watch of a cold marble table or unassuming gentleman was the Duko men an open window all night after body all day; it will contract a sort of pneumonia, and ten to one it will stop before long if the practice be Some of Them Do Wost Remarks (2007 thried. The cold contracts the are, must not be smaller, and they Though, as a rule, excessively sprinc. Thus the wheels cannot the persons who wear them. I have shen the statement that watches vary i timekenning with the Health of the Mearer, and that if dianged from one person to another they will also strice The static electricity of a person many effect a watch. All of thers. Dark persons give of more han light ones do, and a dark woman more han any one else. Bark comen spuld have rubber cases for help watches if they wish to have

KEE PERFECT TIME.

Nover y a watch flat, at night fter at has been worn in a vertical osimpo a day. It throws it offits so to speak. If the pivots be the pheels will not run level. sucrep jar will often stop a in as getting on or off a suddenly. The hairspring's

Mog. does this. The jolt comes exact fraction of a second the spring is in a position to This occurs at infrequent inrykla, as may be readily imagined. which should be fed or oiled every gliden months, even if running in best of time. The oil dries in ine, and the wheels are likely wear one another.

in jewelers examine watches o same way; it seems to be a tration of the craft: Hirst, a man ill look the hands, as I have doing If they are not caught sight burr on one of the wheels

Some one is in here every happens. day with an unwound watch, thinking that it is out of kelter because got 31 for this, but the talk will

Now, when you go home wind your watch in the morning. No; not at bid lime, but when you get up. That gives the full spring to work on during the day, when the jars and Jolts are more numerous. And hold your watch still when you wind it, and wind the key. That's all, try

And the jaweler handed back the watch, running beautifully.

VALUE OF MEN.

In Time of War Said to be Worth $200 a Head.

For military and naval purposes the nations of Europe spend annual-13 $750,000,000. They keep under agms dontinually more than 3,000-The largest gold nugget in the 000 men, with six times as many ren-world was found in New South Wales dy to fly to arms when the world sympathy with his fellow not to be It was worth $148,000. It was acquired in the schools.

Lord Milner is not only of German wide, and four inches in thickness £20 a year for each many who is kent unden arms and is, therefore,

Bonn, and later applied himself to verge of despair.

Another famous discovery of gold the Empire must serve six years—proceeded to Oxford with a scholar came known as the "Welcome" nug while under pressure of war this fig-ship in 1873. It wolve was $37,000. It ure might easily be multiplied by we would thereupen make our way for this the boat was identificant of the most of the control of growth of the cartilage.