RAILWAY WRECK AT PROTON STATION.

The most disastrous railway wreck that has ever occurred on this line of the C. P. R. took place Saturday afternoon near Proton Station, about ten miles south of this place. As a result of the accident, Engineer Campbell, of Toronto Junction, and Wm. McCraw, a brakeman, are dead, and Fireman William McAuley, son of Roadmaster Alex. McAuley, of the Toronto-Havelock division of the C. P. R., and John Lancaster, another brakeman, whose home is at Havelock, are in the hospital at Owen Sound seriously injured. The wrecked train was the way freight between Toronto and Owen Sound, and consisted of fifteen box-cars, the majority of them being empties, and the van. It was in charge of Conductor Lappin, and was making the run from Dundalk to Flesherton to make way for the steamboat express. The train was running at about thirty miles an hour when the locomotive left the rails in a cutting and turned over. Thirteen cars instantly piled up inside the length of two cars, the debris reaching fully twenty feet in height. Engineer Campbell was thrown out of the cab of his engine, and the ponderous boiler crushed him into the ground. Death must have been instantaneous, though the body was literally cooked with the escaping steam. Fireman McAuley was terribly scalded from the waist down, while Brakeman McCraw, who was riding on the locomotive, was scalded all over his entire body. His fellow-brakeman, Lancaster, who was riding on the centre of the train, could not be found for some time after the accident, and it was feared had met a similar fate as the engineer, but he was discovered amongst the wrecked cars. He is seriously injured internally, besides receiving several cuts and contusions, which made his case very serious. The injured men were taken to the Proton Station, about two hundred yards from the point of the accident, and the engineer's body was removed from under the engine.

The auxiliary was sent from Owen Sound and the three injured men brought to town and taken to the hospital, where McCraw succumbed to his terrible injuries at about 4.30 Sunday morning. Wrecking trains were sent from Toronto Junction and the wreckage was cleared away by Sunday night.

The accident is attributed to the fact that a gang of men who were working on the line with scrapers in crossing the track filled up the space inside the flanges of the driving wheels, striking this gravel, threw the engine off the rails. The steamboat express was half an hour late at Orangeville. Had it been on time it would have passed the way freight at Dundalk, and would have been the first to reach the spot where the accident occurred, in which case the consequences to the hundred and seventy-five passengers on board would have been disastrous. The steamboat passengers were transferred to another train at the wreck and reached Owen Sound at midnight. All the injured men are unmarried. McCraw's father drove over from Craigville Sunday morning, and the body of his son was taken back in the afternoon by the Collingwood steamer. McCraw was one of seven brothers, all of whom are railway men, two being station agents on the G. T. R. at Merriton and Aurora. Campbell's father is C. P. R. station agent at Cheltenham. Both of the dead men are very popular. The first train to get past the point where the wreck took place reached Owen Sound at 11.45 Sunday night, the wrecking crew having succeeded in clearing the track 24 hours earlier than was anticipated. County Crown Attorney Armstrong called an inquest, which was held at Proton on Monday afternoon. The funeral of Brakeman McCraw took place from his father's home at Craigville on Tuesday, and that of Engineer Campbell from Cheltenham on the same day.

Supt. Timmerman Saturday night confirmed the statement that the derailing was due to a packing of earth on the tracks. It occurred at a temporary crossing made up of a contractor who was excavating an extension at one side. He was hauling earth over the crossing, and it accumulated there. The marks showed that the first wheel of the locomotive left the rails at that point, the earth being sufficiently hard to raise the wheel out of the flange. The engine stopped very short, causing more damage to rolling stock than would have been the case otherwise, as it tended to pile the cars up together. The damage to rolling stock was about $1000. There was no loss of freight, as only three cars were loaded, and these contained coal and salt. As the wrecking crew were out of the wreckage, the wreckage was sent out from Proton to the of the wreck, and they succeeded in clearing the line Sunday night.

An inquest was held Monday, conducted by Dr. Hurlburt of Thornbury. The evidence showed that the track was in good condition, that the clay packed between the rails had planks on the crossing caused the accident, but censured the C. P. R. for not keeping said crossing clear of accumulation.

Dan Leach, of this place, who was working on the new siding with his team, had both horses killed, and narrowly escaped himself. Several thousand people viewed the wreck on Sunday.

From Nebraska in a Wagon.

Mr. W. Sparling, a brother-in-law of Mr. Valentine Bauer, of Bentinck, arrived here on Thursday last, having driven all the way from Dewitt, Nebraska, a distance of between 13 and 14 hundred miles. He was accompanied by his wife and seven children. They left on the first day of May, intending to be here on the 1st of July, but owing to delay in Michigan they were a week late in arriving with friends in Normansby where he pulled up a week before his arrival here. He was nine weeks on the road and the horses are in exceeding good condition, having lost only 90 pounds since leaving home. His wagon was especially built for the trip by Mr. Sparling himself, and is filled with beds, stove, water tank and all conveniences. The total weight of the outfit is 32 hundred pounds, and rides as easily as an ordinary buggy. Mr. and Mrs. Sparling are natives of Normanby, having left Ayton for their western home seventeen years ago. They made lots of money out there, and of course like the place well. To meet any emergency the company was fortified with a first class dog and revolver capable of shooting sixteen times without reloading, but such was unnecessary as no harm befel the travellers on the whole trip in the course of a couple of months. Mr. and Mrs. Sparling, we understand, are well off, and desiring a summer's leisure they adopted this plan which will certainly commend itself in many ways. In no other way could they get a better idea of the country, and in no way of tramping can they exercise greater independence and have greater freedom to enjoy the family circle. They can go when they please, rest when they please, sleep when they like it. In short it seems an ideal way to make an independent visit.—Durham Chronicle.

A Knock Out for Asthma.
If you have had many disappointments, tried your stomach with nasty drugs, filled lots of things, but they all failed. Not being a stomach complaint, of course, Asthma can't be cured with stomach medicine. But Catarrhazone cures Asthma; it gives it a tired feeling in about fifteen minutes. Inhale Catarrhazone, it makes breathing easy, cures the cough, makes you well. Doctors say there is nothing like Catarrhazone for Asthma.

Dundalk.
Mr. T. W. Rutledge of Fort William, proprietor of The Times-Journal, of that town, gave us a friendly call on Thursday last week. Mrs. Joseph Treford and her darling baby, of Proton Station, visited Mrs. J. W. Whitby for a few days last week.

A lacrosse match between the Thistles of this town and the Duffries of Orangeville, last Friday was won by the Thistles, score 6-2. It was a good game and void of roughness. Mr. and Mrs. Trayer, and daughter, of Coneaut, Ohio, are visiting friends in town. The farmers in this vicinity report good crops again this season. Mr. Neil McAuley an old resident in this locality, passed over to the silent majority on Thursday of last week and was buried on Saturday. There were over sixty rigs in the procession. Mr. Jno. Gibson's brother, of Chicago, visited here a few days last week. Miss Edith Morrow is visiting five friends in town. Miss Edith was formerly in the employ of Macfarland & Richards but owing to ill health had to give up her position but we are pleased to see her so much improved.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.
Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar, avoid damp food, drink water abundantly and always rely on Ross's Nervine as an absolute relief for all rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than other remedies, it's power over pain is simply beyond belief. Buy it in 25¢ bottles—daily, next 1¢, and see if this is not so. Ross's Nervine always cures rheumatism.

There's a queer little place called Hopedale, where a quill-driven machine is made. A wicker chair, a wooden chair, a wooden table, a wooden bedstead, and a wooden trunk. It's a queer little place, but it's a good one. If you want a piece of furniture, go there. They'll give you a good one for a good price. It's a good place to go for a piece of furniture. How "Gat" Howard was Killed.

It is gratifying to learn from men who were under Major "Gat" Howard's command that they believe he was killed in action, and not, as at first reported, made prisoner, disarmed and shot in cowardly fashion by his Boer captors. The original story was the tale told by the Kaffir runners who had gone forward with the Major and his orderly. Such fellows seem to "lie spontaneously," as if convinced that, no matter what the truth of a matter might be, they are dullards if they cannot invent something that will better serve.

"Gat" Howard's men think he and his orderly were called on to surrender but preferred to fight it out, and were killed, while the Kaffir made himself scarce. This view is entirely in keeping with Howard's character, for he was the kind of man who would consider it an eternal disgrace to be captured, no matter what the circumstances. This view also relieves the Boers of a charge that represented them as barbarians. The friends of "Gat" Howard may accept the assurance that he died game in fair fight.

What a Tale It Tells.
If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, it's liver trouble; but Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, cure chills, rich complexion. Only 25c at R. L. Stephen's drug store.

Billy Bailey, of Orangeville, was seriously stabbed in the hip while trying to scare an old man named John Brown. Bailey wrapped himself in a white sheet and persisted in his ghostlike performance, when the old man drew forth his jack-knife and used it with the above effect. It was first thought that he had been fatally stabbed in the bowels but it turns out that the wound is in the hip.

To Save Her Child.
From a frightful disfigurement Mrs. Annie Gallagher of La Grange, Ga., applied Buckler's Arnica Salve to treat sores on her head and face, and writes: "its quick cure, exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in sores, bruises, skin eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds and piles." Cure guaranteed by R. L. Stephen's drug store.

Orangeville is to have two combination fountains at a cost of $75 each. One to be placed at the market and the other at the J. Hill. The fountains will be handsome in design and can be used by man, horse or dog.

Band Garden Party.
The Markdale Citizens' Band Garden party which took place on Tuesday evening of this week was one of the most successful events of the kind ever held in Markdale. About 6.30 the Dundalk Silver Band arrived and for an hour on the market delighted the townspeople with their choice selections. The band is nineteen in number and under the leadership of Mr. J. Park is one of the best bands in the county. About 8 o'clock the procession formed, and led by the Dundalk band marched to the Agricultural grounds where a foot ball match was in progress between Flesherton and Markdale juniors, which resulted in a victory for the Markdale boys by a score of 1 to 0. The grounds were lighted by electric supply was served in the Agricultural Hall by the ladies of the town, and the band desires taking this opportunity of thanking the ladies for their kind assistance in providing the choice eatables for the occasion, also to Mr. Minnis for letting his light shine.

refreshment stand on the grounds presided over by members of the band and others was well patronized and the ice cream, bananas, soft drinks, etc. found a ready sale. The Markdale Citizens' band rendered a few choice selections at the close of the evening program, and Mr. W. C. Logan, of Owen Sound, gave a few vocal selections which were thoroughly enjoyed, one especially "You can't keep a good man down," being much appreciated by the gathering. Mr. J. T. Park, leader of the Dundalk band, rendered a difficult piccolo solo with beautiful accompaniment, which was received with loud applause. The proceeds of the garden party amounted to $70.00.
