"If You Want a Wife—"

You must keep your eyes open for a warm bundle of Femininity." The Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D. D.; dissonous "The young man and marriage," in the Ladies Home Journal.
"Marriage, to a certain degree," he says, "a man is to look upon from a utilitarian standpoint. A good wife is so much capital. She makes him to be, by a kind of grace, a great deal more than he is by nature. She contributes the qualities needed in order to convert his vigor into a safe as well as productive efficiency." She introduces, for instance, into his intellectual nature that ingredient of sentiment which intellect requires in order to be able to do its best work. Heart and brain need to conspire in order to the attainment of the true, and without caring to assert that man is naturally brainless, yet heart in his way is just as precious as brain in its way, and woman, so long as she is untainted by the passion of wanting to be a man, will be that member of the conjugal corporation that will be its particular contribute to the capital stock its affectional element. Some women may resent this, but I would like to caution young men against cherishing matrimonial designs upon any woman who is likely to resent it. If what you want is a wife and not merely a housekeeper, you must keep your eye well open for a warm bundle of femininity that will be to you in a personal way what the fire on the hearth is to you in a physical way—a fund of tropical comfort that will keep the stiffness out of your thinking, the frost out of your feeling, and the general machinery of your life in a condition of pleasurable activity.

What a Tale It Tells.
If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaun-diced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, if your liver troubles; but Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only

The heavy rains last week caused much uneasiness to many farmers, who had grain out but could not get it harvested. The continued wet has had largely the same effect on spring wheat and oats as it had a few weeks ago on the fall wheat, and a lot of spring grain is growing in the shock, with considerable loss as a result.
Excellent pasturage has been produced however, and good yields in root crops are looked for.

Country vs. Town.

Not many years ago an idea prevailed somewhat generally among farmers to the effect that towns and villages were not necessary; in fact some went so far as to say they were a hindrance to agriculture, and that the success of individuals in mercantile and other lines of business was necessarily at the expense and disadvantage of farmers.
As year after year have come, and gone this erroneous idea has been on the decrease, and in this community at any rate, the prosperous farmer prides in the growth and prosperity of his market town, having learned that a mutual advantage may be developed, and should exist between the rancher and the village business man. Experience has proven to him that the substantial development of his market town adds to the value of the farm. It helps to create a demand for the products of the soil and brings a market nearer home, and when a generous patronage is given to the home merchant he can and will furnish goods in his line as cheaply and as good a quality as can be had from the jobber or departmental in the city. Since the advantages of having a live, progressive market town within easy access has been demonstrated, farmers have become more and more convinced of the advantage of doing all their shopping at home and in this way our merchants have been enabled the better to not only carry a larger variety of goods and of a better quality, but to sell at a lower profit owing to the increased business, and in this way the customer is benefited and rewarded for patronizing home, and besides this the money is kept in circulation in his own community instead of being sent to outside points. When the stove pedlar comes along, or the picture canvasser calls, or any of the other numerous oily tongued gents, citizens of both country and village will be consulting their own best interests by emphatically and unyieldingly giving them the cold shoulder. The country and town cannot well get along without each other, and the greatest possible harmony and good-will should exist so that the relations may prove mutually pleasant and profitable in the highest, possible degree.

Harvest Home.

Last Sunday Harvest Home services were held in Christ Church, which has been beautifully and lastingly decorated for the occasion. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. George M.
Franklin, rector of Brookholm. Mr.
Franklin is a third cousin of Rear Admiral Sir John Franklin, who lost his life in 1845 while attempting to find the North-West passage; and his wife is a niece of the celebrated author, Thomas Carlyle, being a daughter of the youngest sister of the Sage of Chelsea. The people of Markdale manifested their appreciation of Mr.
Franklin's visit by turning out in large numbers on Sunday to hear him.
His morning sermon was from Isaiah 120: 6—"He that hath sown and weeps, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him." The evening sermon was from St. Mark 4: 3 —"Harken: behold there went out a sower to sow." Both sermons were of a very high order and were much appreciated. The preacher seemed to touch a responsive chord in every heart, and many expressed their regret that the sermons were not longer of a very good evidence of their acceptability. The reverend gentleman will be gladly welcomed back to Markdale at any future time. The choir, under the able leadership of Mr. J. H. Dundas, rendered the choral portion of the services in good form, the solo by Miss Gerlie Coleman being especially admired.
