A Sad Fatality.

On Monday last about 11 o'clock Mr. Joseph Middleton of Holland township met death almost instantly. He had purchased a load of oats from a neighbor on the townline, which is the next concession to his farm, and was on his way home when the sad fatality occurred. On the wagon was a low tanbark rack, and piled upon this he had about fifty bags of oats. While driving quietly along nearly opposite Thomas Neely's farm house on the sideroad leading to his home he was seen sitting on top of the load by Fred Bassett, lad who was working in a field by the road. The next moment Bassett looking up saw the horses starting to rup but no driver was on the load. H hastened to the road and found Middleton lying on the ground, the wagon wheels having passed over his head In a moment Mrs. Neely was there and he breathed twice after her arrival but
