TRIFLES WITH HISTORIES
KNICK-KNACKS WHICH TELL OF HUMAN TRAGEDIES.

Disasters of Long Ago Brought to Mind by the Finding of Relics.
On January 16th, 1862, work was being pushed vigorously in the Hartley Colliery in Northumberland, England. Suddenly there was a grinding crash, and one of the immense twenty-ton iron beams of the ventilating shaft collapsed, and fell into the depths below. With its huge weight it smashed the brattice and carried down tons upon tons of earth and rock, burying completely every soul below. Two hundred and two were buried alive, for the pit had but one shaft.

A Run Down System.

Shows that the blood and nerves need toning up.
This Condition Causes More Gen- uine Suffering Than One Can Imagine—How a Well Known Exeter Lady Obtained a Cure After She Had Begun to Regard Her Condition as Hopeless.
From the Advocate, Exeter, Ont.
"A run down system!" What a world of misery those few words imply, and yet there are thousands suffering from this condition. Their blood is poor and watery; they suffer almost continuously from headaches, are unable to obtain restful sleep and their least exertion greatly fatigues them. What is needed to put the system right is a tonic, and experience has proved Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to be the only never-failing tonic and health restorer.

KING EDWARD'S STABLES.
THEY ARE A SMALL PALACE IN THEMSELVES.

Some of the Most Valuable and Beautiful Horses in Europe.
It is only fitting that the horses of a King should be lodged in an equine palace and should lead lives of dignity and luxury worthy of their high station.
That all the King's horses" have comparatively speaking, as good a time of it as all the King's men cannot be doubted by anyone who has seen the royal stables at Buckingham Palace and Windsor and has seen the conditions under which they live.

HE FLUNG HIMSELF

heart and soul into the cause of the King and Queen.
Like all the others who did so, he paid the penalty. After long weeks in a gloomy dungeon, he was led out to die with many others of the world's finest aristocracy. Just before his turn came, he held the ring to his ear, and for the last time he heard it tinkle out its cheery melody. Then he laid his head upon the guillotine, and his life-blood stained the block on which a few hours before a queen had died.

ACTUALLY RAISING HIS CLUB

when, with a shriek and a roar, a shell swept in from the sea, and burst among the savages.
A German warship had seen the "Fly" fast on the rocks, and come up just in time. Mr. Matthews' relic is the fork which, but for that lucky shell, would have been used upon him as it had already been done upon his comrades. This frightful fork is of a very hard, bluish-red wood, and of a pattern only used at cannibal feasts.

MISSING LONDONERS.

Probably you have seen a crowd of 20,000 people; you have looked about you at this sea of heads and thought that such a number of human beings represents the population of many a small town. It will surprise you therefore to hear that 20,000 persons are reported as missing in London every year! Are they found again? Only about one-fifth—less than 4,000—of these missing persons are ever accounted for; by suicides and in other ways.

FORCE OF HABIT.

People Who Can't Sleep for the Quiet.
Country people, when visiting London, rarely sleep well for the noise. Most people know this, but has it ever occurred to you that Londoners frequently suffer in the same way while staying in the country owing to the excessive quiet?
They miss the dull roar of the streets by day, and by night the rattling of carriages and the hundred-and-one noises familiar to those who live in the crowded thoroughfares of the metropolis.

FOUR TONS.

The carving on it cost over $7,500, the gliding nearly $5,000, and the coach-maker's bill was $3,365.
But this truly regal, if not very comfortable, coach is only one among many State carriages of more subdued splendour. The semi-State coach which was built by a Lord Mayor of Dublin is a beautiful vehicle. It is all the glory of lake, vermilion, and gold, surmounted by one large centre crown and four smaller ones, one at each corner of the roof. The hammer-cloth is a gorgeous arrangement of purple, scarlet, and gold, embossed with the royal arms.

ings nearly sixty years ago, Robinson drookies, a French chair-banc, and many other historic vehicles, which the King will treasure in memory of his mother.

KNEW SHE WOULD COME BACK.

A young man who looked as if he might be twenty-five years old, was sitting in the waiting room of the railway station. On his knee was a year-old baby. Presently the baby began to cry, and the awkwardness and helplessness of the young man were so marked as to attract general attention.

HE WOULDN'T DO.

I would like, she said, walking up to the counter, to see the manager of this department.
The clerk, seeing that she was beautiful, smiled at her in his blandest way, felt that he ought to avail himself of any opportunity that might be to explain things to her, and sweetly replied.

A LUCKY OPPORTUNITY.
