THE DESTRUCTION OF A PROUD SPIRIT.

OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.-Margaret Howard, on the eve of departure to join her secretly married husband, leaves her with Susan Rivers and is drowned at sea. Susan rears the child, Daisy, as her own, and dies. Her daughter, Margaret, alone knows Daisy's secret. Lord Lisle seeks his child, and Margaret, taking Daisy's birthright, announces herself his daughter. She falls in love with his nephew, Philip.

CHAPTER XIII. "Philip," said Lord Lisle to nephew, a few days after the ball, have you ever thought of marry-

Mr. Lisle laughed. "As a remote possibility, uncle he replied. "If you ask the question seriously, I answer seriously, I have never thought earnestly of it. Yet you are old enough now said Lord Lisle, "and you know many nice girls. How is it?" "I have not 'met my fate' " Philip. "I know clever girls-beauthe girl I should like to marry.' Lord Lisle felt something like sharp pang of sorrow at these very

You may be mistaken," he said. No." interrupted Philip. 'Like all young men, uncle, I have my wife. I do not care so much beauty; but | she must be fair,

"There are many such," said Lord

"I believe it." was the reply ; "but I have not yet met that particular violet I am destined win and wear." "How can you know that ?

"Because," he replied, "I am great believer , in first love. day I shall meet a young girl, and I shall say to myself the first I see her, 'I must win her for my own.' I am no believer in love founded upon intimate acquaintance aches to-day." and constant association.

Lord Lisle sighed deeply; but he understand the Philip's old college friends, Lord They talked long. Daisy had much Carlow, came over to Naples. month or six weeks.

Philip looked anxiously at Lord beautiful home. the invitation was given.

And Philip went. Rita, lost no might charm him more easily.

It seemed a strange coincidence my dear mother back again." came from Daisy, saying that, in ac- strangely pale cordance with Lord Lisle's wish, we must all be very kind to her ; many friends ; I had but her." she is quite alone in the world." Rita, in a low voice, the thought of seeing her sister. Rita, darling, I shall leave the ar your travelling dress I will take you inspiring was the whole scene that Remember, that even as her mother with you, so we must make her one of ourselves. She is to be treated in every way as your sister. You furnished with taste and elegance. know her, see that every taste and The boudoir contained a few rare

happy, my darling, now." "and I will see to everything

Yet if for one moment she could piano is a gift from Lord Lisle," have had her will she would have Daisy touched the keys lightly. mitten the gentle girl dead, In her dream, in her all-absorbing love, she for me ?" she said. had forgotten her, forgotten danger that might dome with her, chamber a cry of delighted surprise forgotten almost the evil deed and came from her lips. It was so white, treachery that had given her Daisy's so light, so elegant—the toilet-table, place: It came home to her like a mortal blow; yet she was powerless to avert it. In vain she watched the long night through, trying to think of some plan or expedient the white late draperies. The white late draperies the long night through, trying to think of some plan or expedient which should keen Daisy away. But the provided the provided the provided that we should be the provided that the practice of smoking that man can entable occupation that the most their children receive more detable occupation that the most their children receive more d which should keep Daisy away. But four years ago, that we should excite suspicion. She remembered the puzzled look on Lord Lisles face and stood before her sister.

dream, Who would have thought pipe in royal presence one was sumfour years ago, that we should excitently a woman, however, to twit the suspicion. She remembered the puzzled look on Lord Lisles face and stood before her sister.

Then Rita closed the door quietly, casions that the knight replied:

"I can assure your majesty that I' have so well experienced the nature boldly, I shall conquer in the end." when he wishes to talk of it do not wager you twenty gold angels that the preparations for Daisy She It also be the subject adroitly. the preparations for Daisy. She It does him infinite harm. Will you placed flowers and books in her try and remember?"

The preparations for Daisy. She It does him infinite harm. Will you room. She told Lisle how "Yes," said Daisy; "I will not fond her sister was of music; how forget it. But just own to me, Rita, weighing the resultant ashes, and sweetly she sang. A magnificent now that we are alone, is it not pland was purchased for her. Had strange that our lives should have che been the daughter and heiress changed so entirely ???

the been the daughter and heiress changed so entirely ???

the home, there could not have "It is very strange," she replied;

then norse preparation.

Rita spoke of her continually. She to dress. I will send my maid totold the countess her foster sister morrow you will have one of your Madame's first question was :

hair, the color of Beatrice Cenci's madame answered like her. The only blonde in the world I admire or like is myself." Which very characteristic speec being repeated to Lord Lisle by Rita caused him great amusement. It was late on Tuesday afternoo when Daisy reached the villa. Lord Lisle, with the delicate tact that distinguished him, thought it would and, what is more, of good taste. be better for the two young girls to meet alone.

Rita nerved herself for the effort Brave and courageous as she was, when the carriage drove up to the door her heart beat so that she to be 'descended from a hundred could hardly see or hear. Some few earls !' " minutes afterwards Daisy entered th room, and Rita's eyes were drawi dread, half fear.

the same smile, the same spiritual that has no name, yet distinguishes expression, the same clear, musical a true lady, and is seen in one voice, and the face so fatully like glance. tiful girls; but I have not yet met the pictured face of Dame Sybilla

There was no suspicion in Daisy's say that Lord Lisle awaited them in heart. She clasped her arms round the drawing-room. Rita's neck, her eyes wet with happy tears.

am so glad and happy to come to fear " you How kind and good Lord Lisle is ! I shall never be able to thank her face as she took Daisy's hand, and sweet, and gracious, true and him. I cannot possibly believe that saying. I will take you. Remember modest, refined and sensitive a kind I am to live in this beautiful home, we are both to be Lord Lisle's chiland call it mine.",

"It is to be so," said Rita, "We are to be sisters here, Daisy, just as we were at Queen's Lynne. We are both to be Lord Lisle's daugh- the while, "here is my sister your Daisy clasped her little white hands in a transport of gratitude. "It is like a fainy-tale," she cried. 'Ah, Rita, what would my mother say if she knew all this?" The beautiful face into which she time gazed grew suddenly pale.

"Daisy," said Rita, "you startle me with your raptures, and my head "You have altered, Rita," said the young girl. "You are beautiful as a said no more. There was no hope, picture, sister dear ! Ah, it gladthen, for his darling child. Ah, if dens my heart to see you here ! Philip could but know, could but Jewels and . rich dresses suit you treasure he had well; you are like a rare gem in a won! wonderful setting! Is not Lord Florence Nightingale is Remembered by Old Soldiers.

He to tell-of the kindness she had met was going on a yachting expedition, with from her friends; how deeply and pressed Philip to join him. they deplored her leaving them; of They should return, he said, in a her unbounded happiness at the thought of Riving with Rita in this Rita said less. She "It will be a sad interruption to year they had spent in Paris; of all our gayeties," he said. "Madame her lessons; of her masters; of of herself.

hope. He would return, she thought, Daisy at length; "but the happiess tired of the sea, tiled of being al-thing of all is to have found some Sir John's studio. Many of the men ways with gentlemen, and then she one to love you. I would give all in his company had passed through this a hundred times over to have the hospital at Scutari, and he ob-

"Daisy," said Rita, "you will make she would be with them on Tuesday. me quite nervous if you talk con- stood in line. Lord Lisle was unfeignedly pleased. tinually about dead people."
"She will find you much changed, "I will not do that," said Daisy, he said. "What will she gently; "but my mother is never Without a word of warning the bust e is quite alone in the world."

When is she coming? asked said Rita; "you must like them, Miss Nightingale!" surrounded the late, in a low voice, Daisy. You have a suite like mine, model, and with thats off cheered the He thought she was agitated at and I furnished them as I thought figure of their devoted nurse until thought of seeing her sister.

'On Tuesday," he replied; "and now, and when you have changed So spontance.

took you, a poor friendless child, to through the long galleries leading to ment of his life. her heart, and shared all she had the suite of rooms Lord Lisle had chosen for Daisy.

wish is consulted. You will be very pictures and statues, and a magnificent piano, splendidly bound books Yes, very happy," she murmured; lay in profusion about the table. "I remembered your tastes, Daisy" said Rita-"books and music. This could piano is a gift from Lord Lisle." "What happy hours are in store

When they stood in the pretty

She Daisy," she said, gently, pardare not offer any more objections; don me if I venture to say something of it that I can tell even the weight suspicion and mistrust would surely to you. Try to lorget Queen's of the smoke in any quantity I con-"I must meet it boldly," she said speaking about it. Lord Lisle has Lynne. Do not get into the habit, of sume. to herself. 'I have played for a suffered so much during the past plied Elizabeth, holding it was imgrand stake; it is worth some risk, that any allusion to it pains him possible to weigh smoke, and maysome bravery. If I meet the danger Take my advice, dear sister; even hap scenting he joke, "and I will water you twenty gold angels that Under any other circumstances When Rita answered that she was her dainty delicate sister. She look very fair and sweet, with golden od like a sweet freelle flower. She her neck and shoulders in sunny waves. She had no jewels One white rose lay in the bright hair. ind another was placed in the bodice of her dress.

Mrs. Marche looked up in surprise as the beautiful vision came into the She welcomed Daisy warmly there was a puzzled look upon her face as she did so. Hours afterward, while Daisy sung in the evening gloaming, Mrs. Marche went up to

"My dear Rith," she said, "there s nothing I dislike more than cu-"Ah, a blonde! Then I shall dis-riosity. Pray pardon me_if I ask was not your foster-mother-this young lady's mother a very superior woman ? "Yes," said Rita. "Why. do you

> "Because I never saw anyone innately refined as your sister. She has every mark of good breeding, Look at those little white hands ; they are like rose leaves! Look at the delicate little ears, the beauti-

With a sore, envious heart Rita whed the | truth of all that Mrs. to her, with a look that was half in the said. In mere point of gicide scorches and cuts holes out beauty and coloring she was supe-Daisy—a tall, elegant girl, with a rior to Daisy; but she had not the after the spraying; and second the sweet, pure face and tender eyes spiritual face, the refined, patrician Daisy, grown and altered, yet with manner, the indescribable something gradually from a week to a month,

> It was almost dinner-time when the young girl received a message to open or at the time they are swel-

"Now," thought Rita, "now comes the real danger. If I escape during the standard bordeaux 6-4-50 formu-"Rita, my darling," she cried, "I the next hour, I have nothing to la, that is 6 pounds bluestone, 4 There was no trace of emotion on

sister's hand

"Papa," she said, gazing at him lime in 50 gallons of wat other child, as you call her." There came no sign of recognition into his face—only a kindly smile of welcome. The tender eyes were rais both as a producer and as a man- the idea of large sums, yet if ed to his. Lord Lisle never understood how it was, but in one moment the golden head lay upon his at the same time a large patron of poultry fancier it means the breast, and the sweet, fair face was the same, writes Mr. R. H. Speed. and no farmer should ever be wet with tears.

"My other child !" he said, gently. 'My cear Daisy, welcome home (To Be Continued.)

RECOGNIZED OLD ERIEND.

bered by Old Soldiers.

The love which English people, esdecially British soldiers, feel for Florence Nightingale has been shown at many times and in many places.

A new and striking instance of it was recently given by the Sunday worthless ones.

And the is made out to be. Tommy him whatever changes may be made in worthless ones. at many times and in many places. was recently given by the Sunday

The late Sir John Steell, sculptor la Comtessa will lose her right hand. Mrs. Marche; of Lord Lisle, but she bust of Miss Nightingale, when an ly where it is delivered Still, if Philip would like it, by all never even named Philip, or spoke officer of one of the Highland Regiments, which had suffered so cruelly skillful, "You must be very happy," said in the Crimea heard that the bust had just been completed, and was in had to refuse many cans that on the very day he left a letter Once more the beautiful face grew to bring some of them to see it. Actained permission from the sculptor cordingly a squad of men one day curing room. A much lower tem-marched into the big studio and perature will prevent the developmarched into the big studio

They had no idea why they been mustered in so strange a place. think of You? Poor little Daisy! long out of my thoughts. You have was uncovered, and then, as by one impulse, the men broke rank, and > in after days Sir John Steell tle-The two young girls went together clared it to be the greatest compli-> > bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbers what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., Toronto,

Dr. Chase's Cintment

TURNING SMOKE INTO GOLD.

Queen Elizabeth's Wager with Sir Walter Raleigh

I can assure your majesty that I have so well experienced the nature

Gallantly accepting the wager

nounced the weight he had smoked Your majesty cannot deny that the difference has disappeared in Truly, I cannot, shewered the queen. Ordering the wager to be paid, she turned to the courtiers around her and said: "Many alche mists have I heard of who turned Rita would have been very proud of gold into smoke, but Raleigh is the first who has turned smoke into easonable and Profitable fints for the Busy Tillers of the Soll.

FOR FARMERS

PEACH AND PLUM ROT.

Our experiments in

of monilia, the rot f peach and. plums, last year were not altogether satisfactory. says Prof. M. B. Waite and clover, in others, a choice gar of the United States Department of den flower. On poor or improperly Agriculture. In fact, this has been prepared soils weeds can obtain the usual experience of investigators all over the country for several therefore they emphasize the need years past. The fact is that spray- enriching the soil and of fitting the ing with bordeaux mixture reduces the best known mainer for the rop the monilia fungus, but the mixture which is to occupy it. Those firm itself is injurious to the foliage. This ers who have land, which they have has varied with the strength of the brought to a high state of cullivamixture used and the amount of lime tion do not complain bitter of it contains, and in unexplainable weeds. ways it has varied in different seasons, times and places. We hesitate fully arched neck. If I had not to advise anyone to spray peaches known, I should have believed her and Japanese plums after the foliage and Japanese plums after the foliage is out, on account of the danger of of two sorts: First, the short-hole or corrosive effect, by which the funof the leaves; this follows shortly defoliating effect, which comes on or even two or three months after the spraying is done.

There is no question about the desirability of spraying before the buds This will prevent | peach leaf curl and will also be advantageous for the monilia. For this purpose pounds lime and 50 gallpns can be used, or even more concenif necessary. trated should be sprayed until they are blue. If any spraying at all is done after the foliage is out, it should be She entered the room, holding her done with a formula containing 3 pounds of bluestone to 4 pounds of

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

I have had considerable experience ufacturer of cheese, having been for abstract and by comparison, it many years owner of a factory and great as in other stock. I infer that you would like me to tent without owning as good mention some of the advantages of even better than his reighbors. co-operation among dairymen. Much of the drudgery is removed from the farm by having the milk sent direct to the factory. There is also an increase in both the quality and the quantity of the manufactured article by having all the milk in the neighborhood handled by an expert; thus the double test at factories tends to press. It appears that Toming importance of cleanliness in milking Cape in postal orders during the and the cure of milk by the producer until it reaches the factory especialit once a The cheesemaker however cannot make first-class cheese out of third-class milk. We during the hot weather last June. Recent experiments show that a uniform temperature of 70 degrees is not necessary, as heretofore believed, for the ment of bad flavors and dive a better product. I had experience one season in making butter from whey, by running it through a separator as soon as taken from vat. A sample was exhibited at the state fair and scored as high as creamery butter. A few unusual or new experiments like this might be of interest.

ACRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

The better a man'is educated for the business he follows the better prepared he is, to take advantage of his business. And as tilling the soil successfully is the most scientific a manner as to tempt other people work that man can engage in, therefore he should have a thorough agricultural education. Our boys and girls should be taught more of the practical working of nature. They tention. True culture and refinement should be made acquainted with the different properties of the soil which produces that which keeps them alive and is the motive power of all other industries. They should be taught the different elements of plant life, and how to produce the most with the least labor and expense. The time has come when our wisest men acknowledge that it takes brighter intellects to successfully are never self-demonstrative. They woung man with two instances—the young man wi should be made acquainted with the are never self-demonstrative. Title cation in that direction in the ture than they have in the past WEEDS

Weeds have their use, and the blessing in disguise. They make the lazy man till the soil. Many furn ers look upon them as a nuis ince and cultivate the soil largely to de stroy weeds. However, a few o elect are beginning to look upon cultivation as a means of both him better crops, and the destruction weeds as a secondary object. weed is merely a plant out of in some places it may be timithy stronger hold than the crop planted

FARM ADVANTAGES. The farm offers a sense of security possessed in few other posit Not only is there insecurity of position among those working on ary, but there is often insecurity of business itself. Who of us has not seen a business swept away by some industrial revolution. The farm also offers a large degree of pendence. There is no absolute dependence; we are each related to the other, but upon the farm there is none of the servile flattery oftentimes demanded in other lines.

More important than all, the offers good opportunity to benefit our fellow men. The educated and intelligent farmer is sure to become a leader in the community where he lives. He is needed in legislative and other public affairs. Who can measure the good influence of such example in a community.

POULTRY. Thoroughbred stock by universal testimony, is considered of the greatest value. Even to the untu the word "thoroughbred" carrie surance of increased value. the ring of more mondy value. the actual amount in money of oughbred poultry dods not cont and no farmer should ever be

NOT SO ABSENT MINDEN

British Soldiers in South

Saved $5,000,000. . The postoffice is throwing sidelights upon the character of the having the whole output up to the British soldier which will be read standard of the best dainies. Again, with interest, says the London Dximpress upon dairymen the impor- not such an absent-minded beggar as a million of money home from the past year is a colossal testimony to his thrift and thoughtfulness of lipine needs. This useful public service has section with every column for graphic and postal work, and only do they get letters salely through, Boer-ridden territory, but they manage to preserve government stock from capture with great exill and foresight. Of course some postal dispatches have fallen into the enemy's hands, but the check upon be-lated mail bags is so keen that the misuse of postal orders is rare. Mail running from columns of the railway is a dangerous game, had the army postoffice man requires po only to be an efficient postal vant, but a strategist, in so much as to know when not to send. Several deaths have occurred in the defence of mail bags, so that he has to be combatant at times.

SHOULD WOMEN DRESS WELL?

The majority of the people in every country are poor, therefore the rich people should not dress in such

DANISH OLD AGE PENSIONS! System Works Well After Ten

Years' Tried. A thw for the pensioning of sup. erannicated and indigent citizens has been in operation in Denmark ever since 1801. After a ten-years' trial the prople have become so favorably impressed by its results that a gene al despand has been made on the Government for additional legisle. tion giong the same line. amenament of the law is one of the most important tasks of the Rics. dag row in session.

The present law is lesed on the principle that every person who has self whable to carn a livelisand for himself and those dependent on him s entitled to public support without being regarded as an object of paslie charity or suffering sinstranchist required that the pensioner be a Danish subject, that lo shall shall not have been convicted of any relonitus offence; that his indigence, shall not be the result of extratagance or the deeding away of his property, and that he shall no have he recipient of public charity within ten years of his to bioning. In jouing numbers 60 persons are new receiving aid under the law. and the number of those dependent on them is estimated at 17,000. The pensioners hus form one with of the population that has passed the age of 60.

In 1398 the average paid to each pensioner was [14 kron. er, or about $30. Taking die rural communities separately however here is a marked difference in the werate, which in the termer amounts 16 .160 kroper, or $42. while the latter gives only as krower. or $25 Such suns may seem Tidle dously small when it is remembered that a person for a whole year. Ther inadequiley should not be thinged by our sandards. A arone: " !! go about as the over there ins . tollar The total amount of more paid under the the in 1898 was $1,300. One half of that was pall by the communities and the jotied half by the state. The many of the amount to be paid to each personer has so the been left to the companities, many of which, with while wholly to refuse aid, are known to have concelled only a nonnia.

Among the amendments L. posed the most important is an ing a minimum sum, below which a pension must not fall. It is proping ed to slift the burden wing and by the law as much as possible the conmunities to the general ernment lind to permit pensiones to receive an annual income of not more than 100 kooner, or $26, from other sources without | becoming d. q.

One thing seems certain, rankly, that the law has come to stay And tend, not to restrict, the scope of the

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

A long face is a poor investment. Haste to get rich keeps may a nan poor Many a man's word is like a nerely a lollow mockery. A very young man is and hose his heart and his head sin din-

Unless you forget that you are living to go to sleep you will s.c. The pop author is double mor compelled to borr w his houghts.

A married woman seldom goes on the lecture platform; she has ... clience at Morno Actions speak louder than words. Some men never say die, yet they all have to do it.

When a mail says he had forgatton all about that little loan you just returned hi is a liar. When a dog barks at the m all ght it is a sure sign of insolania on the part of the dog-and others. The man who leaves church .. as

Protruding Bleeding

Two Letters from Mr. Walker Explaining the Severily of His Case and the Permanency of His Cure by Using Dr. Chas o's Ointment.

Some people seem to think that it is too much to claim that Dr. whase's Ointment will cure every form of piles, but facts go, to prove the truth of this claim. These are interesting letters from one who has suf-In November, 1901, Mr. Sherwood Walker, a fireman on the Canada Atlantic Railway, living at Mada waska, Ont.; writes: I am a great sufferer from bleeding piles. Sometimes the protruding spiles come down, causing much misery and uneasiness, and at other times I am subject to blending piles, and they bleed to such an extent as to make me quite weak. If Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure this awful ailment you

I now take pleasure in writing to you. If you remember, you sent me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for bleeding, piles some three months ago. I used it faithfully, and can say thur it prover a Godsend, for it has entirely cured me of bleeding piles.

I would have written sooner, but I wanted to be able to tell you that was a termanent cure. This you can use for the benefit of other suffering people. There are several people here who have been cured of So far as we know there is no other preparation extant which is so successful in curing piles of the most aggravated kind as Dr. Chase's Cintment. Its soothing, healing powers are marvellous, and its cures there are the cure the cure there are the cure the cu ough and permanent. Sixty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson Bate & Co.

will have my everlasting gratitude."

On March I, 1902, we received the following letter from Mr. Walker, which speaks volumes for Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles of the most distressing form. He writes:—"According to my promise, and the speaks of Dr. Chase's Ointment for

WOMAN'S AILMEN'S

SUFFERING WHICH DO FAK TO CURE.

Thousands of Women Thro Canada in a Similar Con -Words of Hope to Suff countless homes three Canada, where health and ha hould reign suffreme, the weakness and discuses of wor monsible for an atmost pelessness and despair. T condition is largely due to derstanding of the proper ibles of all kinds. Dr. W Pink Pills have been more si in cases of this kind, than a medicine, and they should be ery home, and should be very woman who is not hearty and strong. Mrs. Fre a well-known resident Head, N.S., cheerful testimony to the great valu williams. Pink Pills in wom ments. Mrs. Murphy says:years ago my health was co broken down, my troubles in one of the ailments which quently afflict my sex. great sufferer from violent pain which would seize stomach and around the he impossible for me to des agony of the spasms, the doctor was hastily si my friends thinking me dy: wholly unable to perform hold work, and was und treatment all through th but without benefit. | M left me: my heart would violently after the least and I was pale and emaci husband urged me to in Hams' Pink Pills, and proc supply. After using the pil ple of weeks, I could feel seven bottles, I was full spring of 1901 L enjoyed the health, but at that time down, and suffered from pa I at once got soil Dr. Williams' Pink \ Pilis soon put me all right, and feeling better than I have I cannot praire tho much, nor can I

> Dr. Williams's Pink to the root of disea tered nerves. In this such troubles as the ments of women, resti health to sallow chi lysis, St. Vitus' days hame "Dr. Williams Pale People." on ex do not find thent he they will be mailed Co., Brockville, On bublished showing of the world for t 1900. The figure: tion of Malcoln A of the registrar Western Austrains authority on the ome time has be ormation which i public. He'has ar as he is are... producing che most of which is

GREAT YIELD OF Expert Compiles

FIGURES, IN His details ections Austr 85.20K Africa has > *xcluded for ob ounces to 6,101,-11 £9,133,499 and £ dvely. Europe moves ounces, valued at 840.116 ounces . to 892,305 our GROWTH IN TH The grand total in 1891 5.991:877 duced in 1900 the 870,154 ounces. E. do not show the act ad the 1900 record was at compulsory closing mines. A more accurat in the circumstances, 1899, when the total 900,145 ounces. Altogether the statemer able one and worthy sideration of students questions.

FREE TO MOTHERS To every mother of you who will send us her nat dress plainly written or card, we will send free of a valuable little book on infants and young chil book has been prepared clan who has made the little ones a life study. book we will send a free Laby's Own Tablets-th chie in the world for th ments of infants and you Mention the name of thi address The Dr. William Co., Brockville, Ont.

London fever hospitals modata 4,000 parients.