Editor STANDARD. in last week's STANDARD claiming to be the expression of the 'town at large,' I wish to say that when one or two men attempt to speak for a community they should know whereof they speak. I am glad to say that we have hundreds of citizens who do not endorse the regrets embodied in the address. If such were the general sentiment of our people then might we pray for some safe Zoor as a refuge from a modern Sodom. I am sorry that our social and religious life has been so misrepresented, and hope that readers of the STANDARD will let it go for what it is worth. As a community or a town 'at large' we lend neither signature or voice to such a false representation of address and its preamble. | Citizen.

Dropped Dead.

A terribly sudden death occurred at Kimberley about four o'clock on Monday afternoon when Joseph Henderson aged 65 years and 5 months, brother of Dan Henderson of that place, was called away. He had been in his usual good health all day, but about four o'clock a weakness of the heart overcame him, and although Dr. Danard was summoned at once all efforts towards saving the old gentleman's life were without avail, and he expired within a few minutes after the doctor's arrival. Mr. Henderson who has been a resident of Kimberley for many years, was an honorable and much respected citizen, and his demise is much regretted by all who knew our sentiments as is set forth in that him.
