box, have, within limits of the constitution, unchecked power. They may give away the public lands if they wish, and there is no power to restrain them.

Therefore you will see the advisability of sending independent representatives to parliament. That is to say, a change in our system of assessing and taxation laws, that all large incorporated bodies shall pay their fair share of municipal tax, in the municipality where they do business, whether Trust and Loan Companies, Banking institutions, or any other incorporated body.

The Temperance question is and should be one of the most important questions at the coming election. We should consider well where we place our votes. Our present member voted against every measure regarding Temperance reform.

I am yours respectfully, J. M. DAVIS.
