Much progress in this direction has been made in the last few years, more especially as regards the lands still remaining Daily Express, came every morning in the possession or the Crown. A great deal, however, remains to be accomplished before the situation can be regarded as satisfactory. The annual report of Mr. Thomas

Southworth, Director of Forestry for 1900-1901, is an instructive document dwing to the clearness with which it presents the conditions now obtaining in the two great divisions of the province. In dealing with New Ontario the administration have for them. avoided the mistakes, of the past, and by the adoption of protective measures against the danger of fire; and the establishment of forest reserves are endeavoring to insure the preservation of a due proportion of
