the Kine's Hoyal Sommer Hotel

While out with the A.O.U.W. exhad a personal look through the King's Royal Summer Hotel at Balmy Beach from top to buttom, and a genuine view of its surroundings from the lofty tower and cannot express ourselves better than by reproducing the following from the Daily Mail:

"It would be hard to conceive a more delightful place in which to spend one's holidays than the King's Royal, the new palatial summer hotel at Owen Sound. Nature has lavished her best efforts to provide an ideal spot for allkinds of outdoor pleasures, and neither money nor ingenuity have been spared to supply everything that the most fastidious summer holidayer could desire in the building.

The hotel is a beautiful structure, just erected at a cost of over $50,000. and is supplied with every modern convenience and luxury. It is situated in a park of about a hundred acres, with a mile of frontage on the Owen Sound, a superb sheet of water. A delightful view is obtained from the spacious hotel verandahs or windows of deep land-locked waters, hill and dale, while further away can be seen the blue waters of the Georgian Bay.

The King's Royal Hotel is built on the most modern plans, with large, airy rooms, a spacious rotunda where in the evenings orchestra concerts are given, and a magnificent dining room. Smaller dining-rooms are also provided for the accomedation of parties desiring more privacy. The cuisine is as near perfect as an expert corps of cooks can make it, and is by no means the least attractive feature of the place. The King's Royal is lighted throughout with electricity, generated by a private plant; it also has its own water works, which supply excellent pressure for the numerous bath-rooms, as well as a well-equipped fire department. The arrangement of the rooms are well conceived for either single individuals or large parties, there being a number of fine suites of rooms, with private bath-rooms, etc.

The reading and sewing rooms are much appreciated by the ladies, while a fine billiard and ping-pong room is a centre of attraction for the sterner sex. Besides these, there is a well appointed tennis court, quoits court, golf links, and bowling green, so that there is no excuse for tedium during the longest summer day. The hotel is furnished throughout in a luxuriously comfortable style.

The whole park is most thoroughly drained, and is an exceedingly healthy location, lying on a gentle undulation between the surface of the Sound and ground to nature's panorama. The part I of second class certificate. soil is light and gravelly, and is so in the neighborhood. Stranger still, there are practically no mosquitoes or other insect pests.

The park is divided into a number of building lots convenient for summer cottages. Already about 100 of these lots are sold, and a number of pretty cottages have been built, many of which can be rented by families desiring more freedom than a hotel can They got them from Mr. McGill, offer. The bathing is excellent, the Chatsworth. Their cost is something shore gradually sloping out into the over $60. We have got a new teacher Sound some distance before it becomes | from the County of Middlesex. deep, so that danger to children is reduced to a minimum.

The people of Owen Sound are frequent visitors at this summer resort, and it is a favorite picnic grounds for the citizens. There is a neat little theatre, where a series of companies perform during the summer, and a band-stand from which concerts are given during the season. In addition there is a first class orchestra, conducted by Madame Hausch, which and many are the pleasant "hops" in around here as they were kind neighthe rotunda to its strains. There are bors and good friends. We wish them boat honses, bathing houses and a happiness and prosperity in their new handsome pavillion within a minute's | home. welk of the hotel.

For sportsmen there is excellent fishing in the neighborhood, from salmon trout and bass to speckled trout. The fishing grounds of the Georgian Bay are within easy reach, while good bass fishing is obtained quite close to the hotel. The streams that abound in the neighboring hills supply excellent trout fishing. Later on there is good duck and deer shooting.

There is a well-equipped livery in connection with the King's Royal, and many beautiful drives can be enjoyed to beauty spots within easy access. Quite close to the hotel is the Indian River and Falls, which form an exquisitely pretty seen. The drive along the shore to Owen Sound is over four miles of surpassing beautiful country, while the further trip to Inglis Falls is the recipions of many beautiful even more enjoyable, the scenery presents which showed the high esteem becoming more ruggedly grand as the in which she was held. It is situated about three miles from Owen Sound. with which place it is connected by a good ferry steamer, which runs to and fro eight times daily. At Owen Sound the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railroads connect with all steamers, while the Northern Navigation Company, and Owen Sound, Georgian Bay and Sault Ste. Marie lines of boats provide easy access to all points on the great lakes. In addition to this the C. P. R. runs a weekly "Saturday to Monday" excursion from Toronto to Owen Sound at specially reduced rates, while its steamboat express leaves Toronto at 1.80 p. m. vevery Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, returning from Owen Sound at 5 p.m. every Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday.

The hotel is under the management of Mr. J. M. Walsh, who is well known in Toronto and other parts of the province as an expert in the hotel business that caters for high-class trade. The King's Royal will undoubtedly gain by its able management, and when its many advantages become better known, summer visitors will have to book their rooms very early to get in at all. It is well patronized now and departing guests invariably declare that they will certainly return to spend more holidays."

Leaving Orangeville I took a tour to Cataract, a station six miles south. A genial host is Frank McInnenary, at this picturesque hamlet, where was seen some from Toronto enjoying the sights, and angling for the trout of the Credit river. Here an incident occured. To wait for the evening train, took a short ride on a spoil driver, called "pile driver" by the boys. A red flag was on the station platform to stop trains, etc., yet a freight train passed the flag and a collision was the result. Walking back I met the cars going to the "pile driver." The cars were damaged to considerable extent. Nobody was hurt, we understand, as they jumped in time to save themselves. I took the train at 7.20 p.m. for Markdale, where I arrived at 11.30, being late and it was raining smartly, too. Next day I purchased a ticket for Owen Thos Jurgay. Inc. suther Ford. The closing week at the lake was unpleasantly attended by a boating incident which fortunately had serious consequences. While out for a spin on the lake, with Dr. Campbell at the helm, the boat was capsized by a sudden squall and Miss Lucas, of Markdale, thrown out with the skipper. The affair had been seen from the shore, and in a few minutes a boat had put out and taken Miss Lucas to the boat house. The Doctor got his boat righted after some trouble and brought it in himself.
