London's Big Show.

Everything is showing well for a most successful Western Fair. Notwithstanding that the dates, September 12th to 20th, are a week later this year, entries are fully up to what they were last year at this time, and by the closing date, Sept. 11th, every department will be crowded to its fullest capacity. A number of American Manufacturers have applied for space and more will follow.

The stock and other buildings are being thoroughly overhauled and put in first-class condition, changes being made that will very materially improve the general appearance of the exhibits, and add to the comfort and convenience of the sightseer.

In an earlier issue of this journal some reference was made to the list of special attractions engaged up to that time. Since then two more high priced features have been secured. The world-famous Streater Zouaves, (seventeen in number) the champion fancy drill and wall scaling team, and Tom Eck's motor cycle whirl, the only act of its kind in the world. It virtually consists of riding on the side of a picket fence. The whirl is a circular track 18 1/2 feet across at the bottom and 21 feet at the top, within a foot and a half of being perpendicular, ninety-seven times around making one mile. Around this miniature track five riders on motors at the one time race at the enormous speed of 30 miles or more per hour, passing and re-passing each other, and at times going in opposite directions, requiring the greatest presence of mind and nerve. Miss Lottie Brandon, the lady in the act, holds the record for the fastest mile by lady, as well as the hour record, having made over 83 miles in the hour. The others are all riders of note, including the champion trick rider of America.

Five evenings of grand fireworks, giving each evening a thrilling spectacular representation of South African War. The Secretary informs us that special and late trains at specially low rates have been arranged for, so no one need miss seeing the Exhibition in all its completeness.

Epping.
The farmers are busy gathering in the grain and the whistle of the steam thrasher is heard again in our midst. Mrs. Clock and daughter are now living in Mr. W. J. Black's house.

Mrs. Jos. Howe, of Powassan, visited friends in this vicinity recently.

Mrs. John Stafford visited her sister, Mrs. Abercrombie, Grier'sville, lately.

Local and General News.

Weigh Scales.
Farmers look to their own interest and buy no scale that has not a drop lever to take the friction off beam. Just wheel a scale on plank, the smoothest you can get, and see how the beam plays fast enough to rack it. I sell the handy Truck Scale, the best farmer's scale in the market. Michael Reiley, Priceville.

Heirs to Seven Millions.
John Loftus, of Ottawa; Nicholas Loftus, of Perth, and Francis Loftus, of Lockport, N. Y., have received legal notification that they are the heirs of an estate valued at seven million dollars by the death of their uncle, Sir Francis Loftus, Killenny, Ireland. The estate consists principally of landed property in Ireland. It is very extensive and includes the freehold of several small towns, where the real estate is let on building leases, much of which will soon be falling in. The legal adviser of the heirs is Hon. Edward Blake.

Two Pioneers.
Mr. John Walter, of Walters Falls, was in town Tuesday and gave THE STANDARD a friendly call. He resides at the corner of four townships, Holland, Ephrasia, Sydenham and St. Vincent. He also called on Mr. Thos. Campbell, of the suburbs, whose land borders on Glenelg, Ephrasia and Holland. Mr. Campbell has been a continuous resident fifty-one years, while Mr. Walter goes three better, having located in 1818. They both agree as to the road going out of Markdale to the north-west being a disgrace to the municipalities concerned, viz.: Glenelg and Artemesia. We trust our municipal road commissioners may take a hint from our respected pioneers and improve this important public road.

The Wheat Fields.
The Melita (Man.) Enterprise says: A drive out among the wheat fields just now reveals to the beholder a sight worth seeing. Just to see a stretch of golden grain a mile long, waving in the gentle breeze, is inspiring. It would do our friends in the east, who have not as yet visited Manitoba, a world of good just to get a peep at a stretch of grain as far as the eye could see. One feature noticeable in the grain fields in this district is the absence of weeds which speaks well for industry and carefulness of the tillers of the soil. A representative of the Enterprise had the pleasure of a drive around Mr. G. L. Dodds' wheat field which comprises 155 acres, where a couple of binders were at work. On close inspection it was evident care had been taken in the cultivation of the lands. This farm is an ideal one, well watered and well drained. In the question of fine crop Mr. Dodds is not alone in this respect; his surrounding neighbors are none behind. The covetous person might well envy each and every one. These cases are not exceptional or impossible, it is merely a question of using common sense in farming, the same as in any other business. The farmers in this district have reason to be thankful for the bright prospects. [The Mr. Dodds mentioned above is a brother of Mr. Joshua Dodds of the suburbs.—Ed. S.]

Spare the Wild Birds.
Few farmers take into sufficient consideration the value of birds to them. Did they realize their worth in dollars and cents, these feathered friends of ours would not be so recklessly destroyed. Farmers would not allow hunters the freedom of practicing on meadow larks and robins that they may become "crack shots." Were it not for the insects and insects' eggs that the birds destroy, the farmers would soon be so overrun by pernicious pests that their crops would not repay their labor in cultivating. One may lose a few cherries or other small fruit, but it is more than paid for in the protection from ravages by insects and vermin. All hawks are not hen hawks, and many a one is shot on false accusation, when only seeking for field mice or grasshoppers. One should study the birds of our fields and woods and learn their habits and characteristics. The better we know them the more highly shall we prize them. There is an ethical side to their value that should not be forgotten. While being gladdened by their song, pleased by their beauty and cheered by their companionship, we are being made better in character. We are rising to higher moral standards. While the financial reasons for encouraging birds to come to us bear weight with us, let us be influenced by the higher reasons, by the spiritual good we receive from them. Then spare the birds. Induce them to come about your homes. Put out boxes in which they may build. Do not allow their nests disturbed on your premises. Keep dishes of water where they may bathe and drink. You will be surprised by the increase of interest and pleasure you will derive from their company.

Died in the Pulpit.

Two years ago the Rev. Alfred Moon left Newmarket to take up the pastorate of the Kelvedon Congregational Church, London. Last Thursday he visited his old congregation, and died in their presence.

Mr. Moon was for eleven years at Newmarket, and his return for the day to his former church brought an unusually large congregation Thursday morning, all desirous of renewing their acquaintance with one who had been so highly popular while among them.

The minister seemed especially happy that morning, and there was no indication that he was in any other than good health.

The service proceeded, and Mr. Moon, in addressing a few words to the congregation, alluded feelingly to those who had died during his absence. He missed several friends from among those who worshipped regularly there, and then in a voice that sounded almost strange to those who new Mr. Moon best, he said, "But I can see them above."

A minute or two later he gave out the hymn and sat down. The choir and congregation were singing and had just reached the line, "Man's eyes majestic after death," when Mr. Moon fell forward in the pulpit. Several persons hurried to him and found that he was dead.

Meaford High School.

From a handsome illustrated prospectus of the Meaford High School, issued by the Mirror Printing Office, Meaford, we learn that this up-to-date and very well-known High School has again been unusually successful in its work for the year.

Seventy-eight per cent. of all who wrote and ninety-two per cent. of those recommended passed the various examinations. Of the 29 who wrote for Part II Junior Leaving, 23 were successful; and some of these successful ones spent only one year in the High School and at their entrance to the High School knew nothing of Algebra, Euclid, Latin or German.

We notice also the wide range of work done this year by this school.—Matriculation, Junior and Senior Leaving, Scholarship and Commercial Diploma. In fact there is no form of work done by the largest Collegiate in the country that the school does not do.

One pupil, N. H. Anninghas, won the Chancellor's scholarship ($200) and the Mowat scholarship ($150) given by Queen's University to the pupil ranking highest in Mathematics.

All parents, pupils and teachers wishing a copy of this useful and beautiful prospectus which is a compendium of useful information not only about Meaford and its High School but about all the various courses of study and the latest educational changes of vital interest this year to every teacher of Continuation Work, can have one by sending name and address to J. L. Cornwell, B. A., Principal, Meaford.

They Father Consumption.

Bad coughs, colds and catarrh are responsible for more consumption than is traceable even to heredity. Catarrh ozone cures more quickly than ordinary remedies because it is the only antiseptic yet discovered that is volatile enough to reach the root of the trouble in the tubes, and impregnate every particle of the air breathed with its healing germ-killing vapor. Colds can't last thirty minutes when Ozone Catarrh is inhaled. It clears throat, nose and sinuses at once, stops drooping, headache, and eradicates catarrh from any part of the system. Two months' treatment $1.00; trial size 25c. "Drug Store" or N. C. Polson, Kingston, Ont. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are mild.

A Boston paper says: "Spring is here at last. A butterfly was caught at the south end yesterday." That may be the proper way to catch a butterfly, but when you grab a wasp it is better to catch it about the equator lifting north westerly toward the head.

The substantial stone foundation for Mr. B. A. Irwin's new brick store and residence is finished and the carpenter will proceed to work at once. The structure when completed will be a commodious one, and the site is most desirable one—Chilliwack, B. C. Progress. [Mr. Burrows Irwin is a former Markdale boy, and we are pleased to learn of his prosperity.—Ed. STANDARD.]
