S., one of Orangeville's esteemed citizens, at the hour of four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when his second daughter, Miss Mary, and Mr. W. Guy Pickell, of the staff of the Evening Telegram, Toronto, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock. Only the very immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. The silken knot was tied by Rev. N. Wellwood, Methodist clergyman at Dundalk. The house was very prettily decorated with flowers and the marriage service was performed beneath a handsome arch of mountain ash berries and autumn leaves. A Pointer to Correspondents. An exchange remarks: The draw-back to the work of a good many correspondents is that they can't resist the temptation to get off some jokes at the expense of other people. The joke is usually wrapped up in some way that only those with local knowledge can see the point. Nevertheless the point is often so sharp that it hurts. Everybody enjoys harmless fun, but the private doings, the little ambitions, the love makings, the little slips and petty misfortunes should be let severely alone. To never write about a neighbor anything you would not like written about yourself, is a golden rule.
