

FALL MILLINERY OPENINGS

A Magnificent Array of Hats and Trimmings for this Season.

There is no time of the year when the gentler sex is in the zenith of her glory as when the opportunity arrives for her to look upon the beauty of the coming fashions in headwear...

The display of seasonable headwear at F. T. Hill & Co.'s is more attractive than ever this season, and their enlarged millinery parlors have been made to look their prettiest for the occasion...

Mrs. Sproule, who recently opened in the millinery business in the Standard block, has a magnificent display of hats and bonnets for this, her initial millinery opening...

Among the styles shown were the following: A large turban, in golden brown pan velvet, with green facing with chenille over, trimmed with buckle and wings...

superiority of her millinery display has no doubt created the most favorable impressions to all those in this locality who are interested in stylish headwear...

The bright and spacious millinery room of this firm is a place of beauty and of special interest to the ladies, and every person who visited the show-rooms last week were convinced that there was nothing lacking in this department...

Miss Smith informs us that on opening night about seventy-five trimmed hats, no two alike, were on exhibition; not including all the different styles of ready-to-wear hats which can be procured at this season of the year...

One hat made in white felt which is so much used this season was made to represent a chrysanthemum. This was particularly striking. It had one large ostrich pom-pom at front and black velvet bow falling gracefully from side band.

After this we were shown the children's counter, which was indeed very attractive; where all kinds of bonnets and hats for the little ones were on exhibition, and at a range of prices to suit the most careful buyer.

The council convened on Monday evening, September 29, at 8.30. Present—J. E. Marsh, reeve, in the chair, councillors—Messrs. Chapman and Graham...

No Hair?

"My hair was falling out very fast and I was greatly alarmed. I then tried Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair stopped falling at once."

The trouble is your hair does not have life enough. Act promptly. Save your hair. Feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor.
