Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage preached from the following text: Romans i, 14, "I am debtor both to the Greeks and to the barbarians." A national debt! It is popularly understood to be a financial obligation which a Government has pledgal itself to pay. Sometimes this contracted in the interest of a single subject. About thirty years ago the English Government assumd a debt of over $25,000,000 to liberate a single man, Captain Cameron, who had been unjustly endun-geoned by the king Abyssinia in the rocky fortress of Magdala. took six months for the news of the outrage to travel to England, but in less than eleven days afterward a British army of 15,000 men, under General Napier, was on its way. It not only crossed the seas, but also marched a terrible journey of 400 miles under a tropical sun, until the troops reached Magdala and batterd down the fortress and rescued heir incarcerated countryman. A civilized country is usually ready to egin any undertaking, assume any innucial responsibility, in order to protect its own from the tyrannical lutches of a foreign foe.

ligation is assumed by a government in times of peace as well as in times of war. A government can owe to repay our obligations by making it newspapers have been foreign lands more than money. Such definitions as we have given are right as far as they go, but they are too circumscribed. Hebrew Paul wrote, "I am debtor to those people to whom he was about to present Jesus Christ.
