THE FUTURE OF CANADA.

Portland, U.S.A., Oregonian.—Lord Dunsford, the military representative of Great Britain in the Dominion, is anxious to increase the war strength of the Canadian militia to 100,000 men. He wants Canada to spend $12,000,000 in fortifying Canada against the United States. But the Canadian people are more likely to spend that money in the development of the resources of the Dominion, than to fortify the border against a nation which is sure not to be an enemy unless Great Britain goes to war with the United States, an event which is outside all present or future possibilities.

There was a time when the separation of Canada from the Mother Country and its peaceful annexation to the United States were considered probable by both English and American observers. In 1840 James Russell Lowell, in a magazine article, argued that the annexation of British North America to the United States was manifest destiny. And this prediction might have come true but for our own folly when in 1866 we abrogated the reciprocity of 1854. Our only reason for its repeal was the bad blood excited between the United States and Canada during the Civil War, Canada had shown strong sympathy with the Southern Confederacy and had become an asylum for its agents and military conspirators.

Senator Justin S. Morrill led in 1866 a successful movement for the repeal of the reciprocity treaty of 1854 and the next year the Dominion was organized and started on its career as a distinct nationality. John Charlton, the Canadian statesman, recently said that "reciprocity thirty years ago would have been a working force in the direction of political union of the most powerful character." But in our intemperate resentment we replaced the reciprocity treaty and threw Canada back on Great Britain and its own resources and from that day the Canadian mood for annexation began to die and is now dead beyond hope of resurrection.

The contrast between Canada in 1854, when a reciprocity treaty was negotiated by Lord Elgin, the Governor General of Canada, with the United States, and the Dominion of to-day, is worth reciting since it shows that Canada was feeble, then, while to-day she is developing so rapidly that she is likely one day to become a powerful rival of this country.

Canada was at that time a land of enormous area but small population, limited to the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, now corresponding to Ontario and Quebec. The reciprocity treaty of 1854 was a good thing for Canada, but the balance of trade was distinctly in favor of the United States during almost the entire life of the treaty. The movement to repeal it came as a result of the United States.

The repeal of this reciprocity treaty was disapproved by the Chicago Board of Trade, by the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce, by the Board of Trade of Boston, and by the Detroit Board of Trade. From that day this Canada has been directed in all her efforts to renew trade relations with the United States. In 1874 a treaty of reciprocity with Canada was promptly rejected by the Senate of the United States. In 1891 the Canadian proposals for reciprocity were rejected by Secretary Blaine unless they could be placed on the basis of discriminating duties against other countries and a common tariff against the world. This action of our government compelled the Liberal party of Canada to drop reciprocity as the chief plank in its platform, and when the Liberals came into power in 1896 it endeavored to have reciprocity between Canada and the United States a foremost subject for discussion before the Joint High Commission, but the American Commissioners practically refused to consider the question of commercial reciprocity between the two countries. From this date the Liberal government decided that reciprocity with the United States was an impossibility and prepared to develop the country in other directions and with a result exceedingly satisfactory to the Canadian people.

The total volume of trade in Canada in 1896 amounted to $289,025,360; in 1900 it reached $381,517,000; for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, it had reached $429,940,444. That is in proportion to population the volume of trade of Canada is vastly greater than that of the United States. In 1900 the trade of Canada represented $71 per head of its population, while in the same year in the United States it represented $29.70 per head. In the face of these figures the Canadian people have unhesitatingly decided to make no further efforts to secure reciprocity with the United States. Canada will no longer go to Washington begging reciprocity; the advances will be made by the United States. The United States lost its golden opportunity to educate Canada into a nation when it repealed the reciprocity treaty of 1854. It has refused all proposals looking toward reciprocity trade relations with Canada from 1866 to 1896, and now Canada has reached a condition of present prosperity and excellent outlook for the future, so that she will henceforth ask nobody to help paddle her own canoe. Canada is destined to be a great nation in wealth and population.

A Unique Summer Outing.
 Our Summer in a Barn, in the August Delinicator, relates the story of a unique and undoubtedly enjoyable outing during the warm days. Certainly if the barn be located without city surroundings, be big, cool and clean, and admit of comfortable interior arrangement, as did this one, it is a pleasant place in which to pass away time. Such a summer outing is the happy mean between camping out and country boarding, and the experience of the author of the paper, Frederick J. Burnett, warrants that it possesses advantage over either. The illustrations show that a large measure of comfort and coziness can be introduced even into a barn.

Priceville
 (Intended for last week.)
 The recent rains have greatly improved the condition of crops in this locality. Your cor. has a field of peas out in bloom.

The Messrs. Parslow raised their large barn with block and tackle last week.

S. Henderson is having his farm much improved by putting up straight fences.

Miss Jennie Jones is recovering from her recent illness. We are glad to see her around again.

Rev. J. Varley leaves to-day (Monday) for his new field of labor in the Oxford district. The rev. gentleman preached his farewell sermon Sunday on the future of Man and delivered a very fitting and eloquent discourse. He and his highly esteemed wife leave with our best wishes and prayer that God may bless their ardent efforts to uphold his kingdom and enable them, like one of old, to live above the sun; that their lives may be full of joy in the service of their blessed master. Miss Anna Jones sang a beautiful solo, "We shall meet Him face to face."

(This week.)

Miss Stone bade good-bye to the scholars of S. S. No. 7, O.D.E. She leaves to join her mother and other members of the family in their new home in Manor, N.W.T. Her scholars presented her with a beautiful teachers bible and hymn book, china cup and saucer, and other little tokens of remembrance. Miss Stone has been very faithful, and her example and influence for good has been much appreciated.

Miss Fannie Jones, teacher, is visiting the parental home.

Miss Dow, of Toronto, is visiting her mother at the old home on the O.D.R.

S. Henderson is somewhat on the shelf, inflammatory rheumatism being the trouble. We hope to see him recruited in time to house his large crop of hay and grain, as helps scarce.

The Priceville Highlanders are doing justice to the football.

Wedding bells are ringing.

The Workmen's picnic at Sullivan's grove was a decided success as far as numbers were concerned. The storm in the evening was rather uncomfortable. Hope to see you on the 18th, Mr. Editor.

The new minister arrived on Friday, but was prevented from filling his appointments on Sunday, one of his family having taken ill with diphtheria. The family are quarantined. Mr. Wm. Watson and family, who entertained them on their arrival, are also quarantined. We hope to see them able to be at the post of duty soon.

Some hay has already been cut in this locality. Crops are looking well. The pea crop is remarkably good thus far.

Mr. H. McLean has commenced work on Mr. Williamson's new brick dwelling.

THE TORTURING BACKACHE OF KIDNEY DISEASE.

Summer Offer

50 CENTS

Causes Untold Suffering and Drives the Poor Miserably to Distraction.

The duties of the kidneys are among the most important that devolve upon any organ of the human body. If for any reason they get out of order, it results in the system becoming poisoned by unhealthy matter that is bound to cause serious illness. This explains the large number of deaths from neglected kidney trouble.

It is quite possible that you may have faulty kidneys, and not be aware of the fact. Among the most common symptoms are pain in the back and sides, morning headache, nervousness, sediment in the urine, specks before the eyes, dizziness and sour stomach. If you have any of these, hasten at once to take the purest of kidney and liver cures, Ferrozone. It is guaranteed to bring prompt relief and banish every pain and ache.

Thousands are kept in perfect health and free from kidney complaints by Ferrozone. Among those who speak in the most laudatory terms of the merit of Ferrozone is Mr. Chas. F. Olive, of the Gazette, St. John, N.B.: "For several years I have had kidney trouble," says Mr. Olive, "until quite recently I suffered torture. A few months ago my condition assumed a very serious form. I consulted several city doctors, used a well-known pill, but without the slightest benefit. I suffered from an intense pain in the groin, and the increasing seriousness of my trouble prompted me to try Ferrozone. It gave me quick relief, and half-a-dozen boxes cured me. Ferrozone I can recommend as a specific for disordered kidneys."—Chas. F. Olive.

Ferrozone not only cures kidney complaint, but also such maladies as Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatica, Skin Eruptions, Diabetes, Lassitude and Nervousness, which are caused by defective kidneys. It neutralizes and destroys all poison in the system, cleanses the blood, and invigorates the enfeebled energies. It is mild, gentle and certain. Costs 50c per box, or six for $2.50. At druggists everywhere. Ferrozone assures health.
