

CITIY IN MINING.

Carter Reports That Industry is Flourishing.

Toronto dispatch says—The official Inspector of Mines, Mr. Carter, who has been on a inspection through Western Canada Copper Cliff two new mines are being built by the Canadian Copper Company, with a capacity of 550 tons each. They are to produce 80 per cent. nickel-copper in one operation, instead of 50 at present. It is expected they will be in operation by spring.

The Creighton No. 2 mine, operated since the diamond drill was working there it has been found that the property, containing about 3,500,000 tons of ore, contains mica-schistous contents. Goldwood district considerable interest is being taken in the upper part of the mine. The National Mine is situated near the body of specular iron in Desbarats, which is of excellent quality, is situated by diamond drill. Relocation work on the iron and shafts St. Marie, is

THE DUMB SPEAK.

Tongue Recovering Power to Talk.

Two days ago, Tom Agnew, of Liverpool, England, recovered his speech after a year's silence. He had been silent because of a severe attack of diphtheria, and had been unable to speak again.

According to the census for England and Wales for 1891, there were over a hundred lady doctors, but in the census for 1901 the number was 212. Whereas in 1891 there were fifty women physicians under the age of thirty-five years, in 1901 there were 120.

A LADY DOCTOR. According to the census for England and Wales for 1891, there were over a hundred lady doctors, but in the census for 1901 the number was 212. Whereas in 1891 there were fifty women physicians under the age of thirty-five years, in 1901 there were 120.

This life is full of sorrow. Which increases day by day; It's jolly hard to borrow, And it's harder still to pay.

RAFTING IMPROVES WOOD. German experts say that wood which has been floated in rafts, or otherwise, gives a more trustworthy material for joinery and building purposes than does that which has been carted, or otherwise carried dry, to the sawmill and workshop. The reason is that while the wood is lying in the water its sap and albuminous and salty materials are dissolved out. If these substances remain in the wood they readily absorb moisture from the atmosphere, after coming out of the water roots and the wood swells. Artificial processes of washing out the hydroscopic substances from wood which has not been floated are practised in Germany.

DEATH DUTIES. During the past British financial year the capital value of estates passing on death amounted to £302,779,927, and the amount paid in death duties was £18,153,379.

CONFessions OF LIVERS

DO NOT TELL YOUR BETRAYED EVERYTHING.

Young Violinist Was Once a Tobacconist—This Young Lady Was a Pro-Boozer.

A man confessed in half redressed, but in some cases a confession is given as a pretext for breaking faith, the confessor to whom the secret is intrusted. A falser person continues the means of serving beauty waned to constancy, says London's Weekly.

About two years ago a young violinist who had been giving lessons to the daughter of a retired Army officer, fell in love with his fair pupil and proposed marriage. The pair is now engaged to the same, and everything proceeded smoothly for a time. When, however, the young violinist one day heard the disclosure that, before taking up music as a profession, he had been engaged in a tobaccoconist in a distant land, it caused quite a consternation in the family circle. The old axeman of peddled himself strongly on his tobacco, and rather than allow one who had ever been connected with trade to enter his family, he insisted upon his daughter breaking off the engagement.

Only about six months ago a lady of high social standing, and moving in good society, became engaged to a young gentleman after a very short acquaintance. The couple were suited to each other in every way, and just after all the arrangements for the wedding had been completed a fact occurred which upset the whole affair. The lady, who was a pro-boozier, made the discovery that her lover was possessed of opiate tendencies to her own regret.

It was an insurmountable barrier to the union, but when the young man told the girl the truth, she turned her face to the wall, and said: "I'll never marry you, for I am a volunteer agent of the Salvation Army, whose cause she sweetly espoused, she abruptly turned him over.

A bright girl lost a suitor through a circumstance which she need not have had, but which, once made, seemed to be a disastrous effect upon the girl's affections of her admirer. After he had given her her betrothal ring, he seemed to think it an important duty to disclose to him an episode in the life of her father. The old man, whilst living in America several years before, had been tried for murder, and narrowly escaped the death penalty. He had been attacked in a drinking saloon by a pair of desperadoes, and, in the struggle which ensued, one of his assailants received such injuries through his socket. The close, indoor position, that he afterwards died in hospital from loss of blood. The old man was arrested, tried, and sentenced, but, additional evidence being forthcoming in the nick of time to the desperate character of his crime, he was at once liberated. As he was being discharged, ten years later, related the affair to the young man, who was greatly grieved, and naturally aroused the suspicion of his finance.

The strange abhorrence with which she regarded all connected thereto concealed his secret as long, being teased for information to his doings during the years mentioned, he made known that he had spent travelling as an assistant to a local hypnotist. WORKALANSHIP IN GLASS.

One of the greatest artistic marvels of the world is to be seen in the museum at Harvard University. This curiosity consists of hundreds of specimens of flowers and plants formed of glass, but with such exquisite fidelity to nature that they appear to be real, every tint and marking, every tiniest detail, being faithfully reproduced. The very hairs which appear on the stems on certain plants are reproduced on the glass

WIND COLIC.

"In my opinion," writes Mrs. Philip Collins, of Marindale, Quebec, "there is no medicine equal to Baby's Own Tablets. Before I began the use of the Tablets my baby cried all the time with wind colic, and got little or no sleep, and I was nearly worn out myself. Soon after giving baby the Tablets the trouble disappeared, and sound natural sleep returned. I have also traced the Tablets a cure for hives, and a great relief when baby is teething. I would not feel that my children were safe if I did not have a box of the Tablets in the house."

SENTENCE SERMONS.

A man needs no label. Life is the laboratory of religion. Our phrases are but the garments of the truth.

A day without good feed leaves you in debt.

Happiness is never picked up on the bargain counter.

The best men are always looking for the best in men.

He became the Man of Sorrows for the sorrows of men.

You cannot carry a crooked rule along the straight road.

The road of prejudice never leads to the realm of truth.

It is only tomorrow's burdens that break the back of today.

It is cheap makeshift to mock at what you cannot make.

Keep your complaints out of your heart and they will die of neglect.

The more of a man the saint the man of a saint the man will be.

A brother's boost is often worth a whole lot of sisterly sympathy.

You cannot get up an orchestra composed of people who blow their own horns.

It is no use a man's trying to be holy unless he has made up his mind to be honest.

Clerk—"I am to be married shortly. Could you manage to increase my salary a little?" Employer—"Couldn't I, really. But I'll tell you what I'll do for you, my boy.

I'll shorten your hours during the first three months, so that you can spend your evenings at home, and after that I'll lengthen them again, so that you will have an excuse to go away."
