THINGS THAT NEVER DIE. The pure, the bright, the beautiful, That stirred our hearts in youth, The impulses of wordless prayer, The dreams of love and truth: The longings after something lost, The spirit's yearning cry,.
The striving after better hopes
These things never die.

The timid hand stretched forth to

A brother in his need, A kindly word in grief's dark hour, That proves a friend indeed;
The pled for mercy softly breathed,
When justice threatens nigh; The sorrow of a contrite heart— These things shall never die.

The cruel and the bitter word, That wounded as it fell; The chilling want of sympathy,

Let nothing pass, for every hand.

Must find some work to do.

Lose not a chance to waken love—

Be firm, and just and true. So shall light that cannot fade, Beam on thee from on high, And angel voices say to thee These things shall never die. -Charles Dickens.

DYSPEPSIA CURED.

Severe Sufferer Tells How Overcame the Trouble.

"Not only do I not hesitate to delare the benefit I have received from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I feel t my duty to do so." These are he words which Mr. Edward Lavoie, of St .Jerome, Que., lately addressed o the editor of L'Avenir du Nord, when relating the story of his cure. Mr. Lavoie is well known in St, Jerome, and what he says carries weight among those who know him. For a considerable time he was a creat sufferer from dyspepsia, which caused severe headaches, pains in the stomach and sometimes nausea. Sometimes he felt, as though he would sufficate, he would become lizzy and experienced ringing noises in the ears. His appetite became' poor, and his general health, so had that he found it almost impossible both physically and mentally more She had been robbed. We feel, but cannot tell;
