FLESHERTON HAPPENINGS

Mr. James Stafford of the 4th-line has been laid up for a week with s broken collar bone. While on horseback driving cattle from the field the animal ridden stumbled and threw Mr. Stafford with the above result, an unfortunate mishap for a farmer in the

Mr. Archie Boyd of the back line met with a close call on Saturday by a severe blow on the side of the head from the lever of a mower he was handling. The blow upset Mr. Boyd and was so dangerously near his temple that he is grateful for his escape from more serious results.

On Thursday evening last a number of the members of the Baptist; Church with a few other friends took possession of the residence of Mr. W. E. Richardson of this place and gave his elder daughter, Miss Florrie Richardson, a very pleasant surprise. Miss Richard. son has been for a number of years organist in the Baptist church and the congregation, in a tangible manner expressed their appreciation of her faithful and valuable services by presenting her with a silver service accompanied by an appropriate address which was read by Miss Stafford, teacher at Rockvale. Little Miss Gladys Cornfield made the presentation. Miss Richardson was genuinely surprised and found it difficult to express to the donors all that was in her heart to say though her reply was neat and to the point. Refreshments were served and with music and social intercourse the evening was very pleasantly spent. Mr. R. J. Sproule was in Toronto on Thursday last attending a meeting of the directors of the Huron and Ontario Electric Railway. A new board was elected consisting of fifteen members who elected P. Y. Ellis, Esq., of Toronto, President; Messrs. M. K. Cameron of Meaford, R. J. Sproule, Flesherton, Mr. McNamara, Mr. Robertson and Judge Cline of Walkerton, members of the old board, were re-elected. The new members are leading business men of Toronto and all assume office with determination to push the project to a successful issue.

Boyd Bros. had a raising one evening last week, adding a carriage house to their barn in the village.

A large congregation greeted Rev. A. H. Ranton at the opening service of the evangelistic campaign in the Presbyterian church on Sabbath morning last. The storm interfered somewhat with the attendance in the Methodist church in the evening. Mr. Ranton preached powerful sermons and, made a deep and favorable impression on his audiences. He is a fluent, pleasing and convincing speaker and will doubtless be heard by large congregations

Whips were stolen from carriages in the Methodist church sheds and a uviction of the guilty parties.

Two boys in the family of Mr. John Chard, east of the village, are ill with malaria fever. Rumor has it that typhoid is the trouble but we are pleased to learn from the attending physician that the report is not correct. Miss Maud Richardson, who has risen to a point of distinction among Canadian artists, has accepted the position of art teacher in Alma Ladies' College, St. Thomas, and enters upon her duties there this week. Miss Richardson's friends here will be pleased to learn of her call to this important position in this leading ompleted. The carpenters are now at work on the woodwork, which is expected to be finished within two weeks. Mr. Harry Harness spent Saturday night and Sunday at the homestead at Jackson, Derby township. Miss Robinson also Sundayed at home in the Stone Settlement.

The Rev. Mr. Newell paid his initial visit to the Home on Monday of last week and expressed himself as highly pleased with the provision made for the omfort of the inmates. The Rev. entleman also expressed regret that his several appointments prevented him from holding divine service at the Home on the Sabbath, but hoped that in the near Vuture some arrangement might be made for an evening service during the week.

Mr. Thomas Boland of Gore Bay was also a visitor on the aforesaid day. Although Mr. B. expressed in glowing terms his admiration of the Home, its object and its management, yet he intimated that your correspondent had. been rather profuse in his eulogy of the institution, which might prove dangerous by inducing old people to become improvident, depending on the House of Refuge as an haven for their declininy years. We do not for a moment magine that Mr. B. was serious on the ubject, but we feel confident that those whose duty it is to send their poor to this institution will not do so indiscriminately, sending only those who are worthy subjects; and not until some great change for the worse takes place will your correspondent cease to proclaim to the public his praises of this noble institution and its manage-

On Sunday afternoon last the divine service held here was more than usually interesting inasmuch that we were favored with the presence of several ladies and gentlemen from the village which clearly demonstrated to us that we are not forgotten or lightly thought of on account of our unfortunate positions, but that we have many christian friends who take a loving interest in our spiritual welfare. Those present at our service on Sunday last were: Mrs, Wm. Littlejohns, Miss Artley, Mr. Artley, Mr. Morwood and Mr. Wm. Flesher. After a brief but plain and pointed discourse by Mr. Harness, based on Isaiah 54: 17, Mr. Morwood very ably addressed the audience for fifteen or twenty minutes, closing the service in the usual manner. After the close of the service the inmates showed appreciation of their praise meetings as they have moved to English's bush at the other side of the their kindness in attending the meeting, and inviting them to come again municipalities paying James Lynch for and bring others with them, which was his part of the deviation and says he accordingly promised. After a cordial had nothing to do with it. Several of handshaking all round and a few cheer- Mr. Walker's neighbors who are coning words to each, the visitors left for sidered truthful men say that when the
