

LESS DEADLY

NG FACTS AND RES.

of Hand-to-Hand
Slaughter

and paradoxical
movement in arms
war less and not
and that in these rises, Maxims, and shrapnel ratios
the less than in the skies, of bows and hand-to-hand conflict the wings of to much shorter and
than that they have gone.

primitive conditions
gunpowder was un ited for genera centuries. For a most without inter
waged war with France, and later War are epochs, in Rebellion, though

seize-loading guns
years; a year later Austria to her most weeks, and ushered the power of months. The United had ninety days to even the late war
though it covered half years, would red absurdly short.

BATTLE GOING ON.

A despatch from Gen. Kuroki's headquarters says: "A heavy and to the north, artillery roar has been heard to the westward all Thurs days. Apparently the largest en gagement since October is being fought. Reports received here are to the effect that the Russian force has as yet the Hun River on the left wing. A Japanese force advanced against the Russi ans, taking an attack.

The fighting must be attended with great suffering from the cold.

A long storm began on Monday, fol lowed by a long period of remarkable calmness. The temperature is below zero, the plains are covered with several inches of snow. The ground is too hard for rapid movement. Thursday's move by the Russians, the first important one since Gen. Matsuoka's recent raid.

BESS OF ACTION AT MUKDEN.

A despatch from London says:

"A rumoured mysterious dis sappearance of the St. Peters Emperor is a despatch, mailed from London, says that a discrediting of Gen. Kourapatkin was at the War Office, and led to a council of the war ministers, and the Roman not fewer than the stain; indeed, the army is short of food,

despatch indicates events of greater character."

A Petersburg correspondent says: "A great piece of absolutely information reached me

Gen. Kourapatkin has been sent to the Emperor a tele gram, and his offensive was seriously hampered by the reluctance of the soldiers in France against the enemy.

They differ vastly from the French and Cossack regiments, more full of dash. The Euro pean armies argue that Port Ar thur surrendered, there is no way out of the war. But

while was encircled in the city of

Port Arthur,

the British and French

and Chinese

and Japanese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Austrians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks

and Indians

and Chinese

and Americans

and Germans

and Russians

and Belgians

and Spaniards

and Portuguese

and Greeks

and Turks