

NOTES AND COMMENTS

De-James M. Buckley, a prominent Methodist divine, is quoted as saying that a clergyman has no right to make his congregation laugh—that it is impudent to do so. Perhaps Dr. Buckley did not in reality make so broad a statement as that. Perhaps there were reservations and qualifications which the reporter omitted. Dr. Buckley may not have gone so far as to say that laughter in church is impudent under all circumstances. Assuming a church is not a "house of mirth," but there may be such, a man may be godly laughter. The minister who chews, in order to tickle the ear of his audience certainly does not go against the canons of good taste. He does not belong in the ministry but in the circus tent. There have been preachers who, without any desire to make their hearers laugh, have suffered affliction and now to help others from trouble. My brother, Mr. S. M. S. of Philadelphia, N. J., suffered long before he died at home, but he did not suffer longer because he was asking for my address.

—A. H. Gray, Philadelphia, Pa.

22 miles north of from Ardmore, Pa., to church school, manufactory situated, water impure, houses old, roofed with slate, shingles, corrals, etc., substantial will be tools and house furniture, all plowmen, mixed farms, application to Gray.

WALKING OUTINGS EMITS
our French Process Type.
OTTAWA & QUEBEC

ABY SLEEP
SON'S PADS

the terrible and the softest could married in this say so. Why, they their friends bailed them out, they threw it at the die annually from sun compton, sun saved a proper drinking a bottle of

treasury "Cordial" the

helped it out, it thoroughly

in calling with my hands and your hand, to get your feet to get

</div