PARENTS AND THE SCHOOLS ABOUT ALGONQUIN PARK

Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis Speaks of Their Responsibility.

A despatch from Brooklyn, N. Y., says: Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, who has been preaching from the following text: "A small army of boys and girls, with their teachers, have recently..."

Fortunately, society has cleared the highway that leads to the temple of wisdom and clothed with all the measure of a nation's youth...

The one central building in towns otherwise obscure is the great school building. Ours is the democracy of education. All highways of learning are open alike to the child of the banker and of the washer-woman.

THE GREAT QUESTION for the working people of the cities is: How shall I get the most for my children's time for the public schools?

Don't let your boy play truant. Refuse to put him out at service. For the parent life is in the children and their success.

Nothing is so wonderful as the results of the modern school achieves in view of the neglect of the parents. It is almost incredible that one teacher should be asked to train...

When a man buys a fine colt he specializes on the colt. Does he put the colt in with forty other colts in a race track, turn the whole herd loose, while at 9 o'clock a horse teacher starts the herd around the track, some galloping, some galloping, some galloping?

Don't forget the child's body. The other day an oculist told me that he believed that one child out of ten had his eyes injured by night in the schoolroom.

Remember that children should not use the eyes too much in the morning. Long ago I learned that half an hour's reading before breakfast tired my eyes more than ten hours of study afterward.

Dr. Quackery—You don't mean to say that old Sawbones charged you $15 for amputating your arm?

THEY ARE FOND OF BOOKS THE S. S. LESSON

John D. Rockefeller Says Reading Has Become Indispensable to Him.

"All my life, ever since I began to read at the district school at the age of five, I have been a reader."

From Park headquarters we paddled east through Cache Lake, a beautiful fishing shore from the water level to a distance of three hundred feet; its summit reached by an easy ascent over a good trail.
