Joyous springtime is hear again, but the a. f. j. has yet to receive its first spring poetry. The reason for this is undoubtedly due to the fact that the poet had scarce time to send his manuscript to the printer ere our changeable weather would indulge in another freak, and the poetical effort would be out of season. If this is the reason we believe the majority of country editors will be well satisfied if future springs are of the same brand as that of 1907.

"Popular Delusions regarding the Religious Life" was the Rev. Mr. Wilson's theme in the Methodist Church on Sunday night, and the large audience listened attentively as the speaker forcefully and eloquently delivered his address on this topic. One of the most prevalent delusions of the present day is that Christianity eradicates all pleasure and enjoyment from life. This was emphatically denied, the speaker declaring that the life of the Christian has the highest type of happiness which humanity is capable of receiving. His arguments were most logical and convincing. During his discourse Mr. Wilson paid a high tribute to the late Hon. J. M. St. John, for his intense religious devotion and high moral character. His greatest monument, said the speaker, would be his Sabbath School—the largest of the Methodist denomination in Canada. Next Sunday evening Mr. Wilson will speak on "Etchings from Life's Wreckages," this being the fourth and last in the series to young men. A large choir of young men will have charge of the musical portion of the service.

MR. W. S. PERKINS,

Leader of the Markdale Citizens' Band.

ABOVE we present an excellent photo of the talented leader of the Markdale Citizens' Band, Mr. W. S. Perkins, who has been re-engaged for 1907 at a salary of $275. It is a recognized fact that a good band is one of the best advertisements a town can have, and during Mr. Perkins' leadership he has endeavored, with no small degree of success, to maintain a high standard of efficiency and conduct among the members which does not fail to leave a favorable impression wherever they visit. During Mr. Perkins' captaincy the band has developed considerably, and its past success has been due in a large measure to his good leadership. However, no bandleader, no matter how efficient he may be, can have a good band unless he has the hearty co-operation and confidence of the individual members, and that this has been the case here has been proven by the interest manifested and the regular attendance to practices of the members of this organization. The band will turn out this spring eighteen strong.

An astronomer declares that a comet is liable to collide with this terrestrial globe before long which leads a number of country editors to urge their delinquent subscribers to pay up so that they can face the consequences of the collision at peace with the printer. But we fear that even a comet with the largest tail on record has no dread for the man who refuses to pay the country editor.

Those who attended the lecture in the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening enjoyed a rich treat. Rev. Mr. Adams presented to the audience what is probably the finest collection of views of London and Windsor in this country, and they were thrown on the canvas by means of a fine stereoptican. Such historic places of interest as Windsor Castle, St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Parliament Buildings and London Tower were dwelt upon at length by the lecturer. The attendance was good. The League is to be congratulated on having furnished such a fine list of entertainments during the past season.

It is astonishing how many old shoes, rubbers, beer bottles, newspapers, tin cans and other humble objects fell from the sky during the snowstorms of the past winter. If it were not for the fact that these things do not melt at the same low temperature at which snow melts, nobody would believe they were so numerous. But streets and yards are unsymmetrically bestrewn with the articles aforesaid, and, as none or few of them were there last fall, they surely came from above. Many households accept this view for they seem to be following the rule, "What has been brought together, let no man put asunder." Not until the old shoes, et al., melt away as did the beautiful snow will the back yards be stripped of their skysent ornaments. It is to be hoped that when the temperature soars high enough to bring this about some of the careless citizens will be on hand to enjoy the purified atmosphere.

You can buy Sweet Peas by the ounce at Turner's Drug Store.

The estate of the late H. A. Massey has given $2,000 towards the erection of a new Methodist Church in Barrie. $7,000 has already been subscribed and $3,000 more is aimed at.

Wm. Lindsay, a farmer, near Caledon East, bought a mare from John Curtis, of Hereward, paying $195. He subsequently discovered that the animal was blind, and he is now trying to get his money back.

Mr. C. E. Armstrong has sold his neat residence on Wellington street to Mr. W. M. Artley, of Walters Falls. The price paid was a handsome one. Mr. Armstrong has rented the house from Mr. Artley and will remain in town for some time.

Last week J. E. Trelford received from the Sherwin-Williams Co., of Montreal, a large shipment of their famous ready mixed paints and varnishes. If you contemplate painting this spring you cannot do better than use these paints.

Death of Mrs. F. Leary.

One by one the old pioneers of this district are passing away, and this week we are called upon to record the decease of Mrs. Frances Leary, relict of the late John Leary, who passed away on Thursday last, April 18, 1907, at the advanced age of 82 years. Mrs. Leary has been ailing for nearly a year, has borne considerable suffering with christian resignation, and kind friends have ministered to her relief with unabated attention and thoughtfulness. Mr. and Mrs. Leary moved to Markdale about ten years ago and occupied a cottage on Toronto street, near the Presbyterian church. Mr. Leary died in 1901. Mrs. Leary was a devoted member of the Anglican faith, and Rev. J. A. Robinson, pastor of Christ Church, conducted the funeral obsequies on Saturday. The body was conveyed to the English Church, where a short service was held, after which the remains were taken to Markdale Public Cemetery for interment.

A simple cure for small-pox—Edward Hines, a correspondent of the Liverpool Mercury, in a communication to that paper, speaks as follows: I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man if the worst case of small-pox cannot be sufficiently cured in three days, simply by cream of tartar. This is the sure and never-failing remedy: One ounce of cream of tartar dissolved in a pint of boiling water, to be drunk when cold, at short intervals. It is known to have cured a hundred thousand cases without failure. I have myself restored hundreds by this means. It never leaves a mark, never causes blindness, and always prevents tedious lingering. If the people would only try it, and report all the cures to you, you would require to employ many columns if you gave them publication.

C. P. R. FLOWERS.

What the Big Railway Is Doing to Encourage Floriculture—Mr. Caesar's Garden a Bower of Beauty During the Summer.

Ten years ago the Canadian Pacific Railway established what is known as the Floral Department of its big railway system. The object of the Department was to encourage the growth of flowers round and about railway stations, and to make beautiful places which would otherwise be barren and repellant. Most people are susceptible to the pleasing and refining influence of flowers, and, indeed, as Balzac once said, "Both books and flowers are as necessary as bread to many people." The Canadian Pacific Floral Department has developed amazingly since its inception, and its influence is seen from the Atlantic to the Pacific in the attractive gardens of the stations along the line, and of course the influence of the station gardens spreads all about it, encouraging the people to do likewise. The Superintendent of the department, N. Stewart Dunlop, receives a large number of communications from people giving their experience or asking for information, and to help the good work Mr. Dunlop has issued a booklet with a number of interesting details, and a parcel containing twenty-four packages of different flower seeds is also issued including a number of the most beautiful standard flowers—snapdragon, aster, candytuft, carnation, mignonette, nasturtium, pansy, petunia, phlox, sweet peas, verbena, etc. The excellence of the seeds is shown by the many prizes won by Canadian Pacific Station Agents at fairs and flower shows in all parts of Canada. One of the most enthusiastic floriculturists in the service of the C.P.R. is our own station agent, Mr. John Caesar, who receives flattering encomiums from hundreds of visitors to the town every summer on the attractive appearance of his garden. Mr. Caesar loves his flowers and is never so happy as when he is in his garden among the lillies, the crocuses and the many other beautiful varieties engaged in their cultivation and in the arranging of the beds to make them appear to the best advantage. Mr. Caesar is said to have one of the best kept gardens along the lines of the C.P.R.

Use Ontario Flour.

That the people of Ontario rely upon the prairie provinces for a considerable portion of their flour is to-day a fact that few would care to deny. It is equally true that the loss of the home market has been the cause of the diversion of money from Ontario and Ontario industries to build up the bustling West. There are to-day in Ontario thousands of farmers who grow less wheat than formerly, and then grumble because the price of bran and shorts had advanced from twelve to fifteen dollars a ton to the almost phenomenal figure of twenty or twenty-two. In spite of the apparently substantial showing made by our province in the production of this our most valuable of grains, when viewed comparatively the output is limited and so far from satisfactory that millers can only run from eight to ten hours a day. Notwithstanding the free advertising of the western wheat lands, western flour could never have gained the foothold it has in the Ontario market if it had not been systematically advertised and was a "strong" flour both in gluten. Thus it has won considerable favor, which has caused a decline in wheat growing from Glengarry to Essex, and the loss of millions of money to Ontario during the last fifteen years, all owing to a misconception on the part of the consumer.

That the Ontario wheat can be blended before grinding with just enough of its western rival to bring it up to the proper percentage of gluten, while retaining the superior flavor and color of the Ontario grain, is a fact which has a direct bearing on the increase of the market for Ontario wheat. In the Maritime Provinces the Ontario blended flour won popular favor, and the time is rapidly approaching when Ontario people will get the preference to their home milled wheat combined in proper proportions with that of the West.

An enlarged market for Ontario wheat, created by the demand for blended flours, means increased earning powers for Ontario farms, and implies a welcome decrease in the prices now paid by stockmen for feed. The use of the blended flours is, in fact, a matter of economic importance to everyone interested in the financial progress of old Ontario.
