

The Farm

FOR BUSINESS.

Dr. Jameson of South Africa is a man of large hopes and large ideas. Had he been otherwise he would not have been the friend and agent of Cecil Rhodes. In 1890 Dr. Jameson hoped that his bold but hopeless dash on Johannesburg would bring South Africa under the British flag. At the opening of the (Cape) Conference a few days ago he expressed the hope that South Africa would be consolidated and represented at the next conference by one Premier. It is probably much too early in the game for any such consummation.

THE GREATEST OF THESE

Love Is Born of Faith; It is the Child of Hope.

And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love. I. Cor. xiii, 13.

Only the selfish become cynical, and the philosophy of getting and giving, that makes the world seem empty of joy, is the result of a narrow vision. But to those who seek the heights of others, the flowers of joy and kindness, the beauties of hope and human love, all things that are good about more are theirs.

THE S. S. LESSON

INTERNATIONAL LESSON, MAY 12.

Lesson VI. Joseph Forgives His Brothers. Golden Text: Eph. 4: 32.

Joseph's forgiveness of his brothers is a beautiful illustration of the love that is born of faith and hope. It is a lesson in the power of love to overcome hatred and revenge.

Joseph's forgiveness of his brothers is a beautiful illustration of the love that is born of faith and hope. It is a lesson in the power of love to overcome hatred and revenge.

MOST PECULIAR HOUSE

Place Where Electricity is Used for Cooking, Waiting on Table, and Dish-washing.

One feels as if one were going over a chapter from Jules Verne or the "Arabian Nights" when one reads the account given in La Vie Illustrée of a visit to the house of M. George Knapp of Troyes, France.

It was 8 o'clock in the evening when the guest Richard M. Knapp's gate and pressed an electric button. In a few seconds a flood of light burst violently from the ceiling, brilliantly illuminating the gateway.

LOVE BECOMES A PASSION. Where is there greater enthusiasm, stronger evidence of compelling motives and dominating impulses, than in those men and women who have mastered the joy of serving their fellows, giving their lives in lowly or in lofty ways, for other lives might be richer?

THE HISTORY OF SOME POPULAR PHRASES.

Origin of Sayings Which are Familiar Wherever the English Language is Spoken.

Although in some cases several versions have been given of the origin of popular sayings, there are quite a number which can be traced to one authentic source, and the history of these is sometimes rather a humorous character.

POSSES AS PRINCE.

Poses Nephew of Minnie's Socks From English Mayor.

A strange story was told to the Mayor of Trimsley, England, the other day by a colored man, who, himself, had been a member of the household of King of Mysore.

NOT WORTH TROUBLING ABOUT.

The doctor had been summoned, and he alighted from his carriage with a grave face.

TAUGHT TO OBEY.

"What would you do, Henry, if I were to tell you that I had just been told that I was to be a king?"

LAND OF OPPORTUNITIES.

Canada is a land of magnificent dis-

HERE WAS THE ELECTRIC OVEN.

It which the delicious fowl was roasted which we had just eaten. The interior of this oven is composed of a series of reflector lights, by whose rays the roasting is accomplished.

HOPEFUL.

"Papa, when I grow up, can I be married?"

TO KICK THE BUCKET.

This is a comparatively modern saying, and possesses a peculiar history. Not many years ago a duck had placed itself in the way of a man who was engaged with its preliminary arrangements.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER."

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS BRIGHT AS A SHVELL."

It is a proverbial expression, and is said to have originated in the following manner.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER."

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"MIND YOUR P'S AND Q'S"

Origin of Sayings Which are Familiar Wherever the English Language is Spoken.

Although in some cases several versions have been given of the origin of popular sayings, there are quite a number which can be traced to one authentic source, and the history of these is sometimes rather a humorous character.

"MIND YOUR P'S AND Q'S"

This expression arose from the ancient custom of hanging a slate behind the alchemist, on which was written the initials or initials against the name of each customer, according to the quantity which he drank, and which was not expected to be paid for till Saturday evening, when he received his wages.

"BEFORE I COULD SAY JACK ROBINSON"

originated from a very volatile publican of that name, who would call on his neighbors, and before he had time to say "Jack Robinson," he was generally considered that Brimsley Sheridan, the famous dramatist and actor, gave rise to the saying.

"TO KICK THE BUCKET"

This is a comparatively modern saying, and possesses a peculiar history. Not many years ago a duck had placed itself in the way of a man who was engaged with its preliminary arrangements.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS BRIGHT AS A SHVELL"

It is a proverbial expression, and is said to have originated in the following manner.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.

"AS MAD AS A HATTER"

One is at a loss to understand why a hat-maker has made the type of insanity rather than a tailor or a shoemaker. An authority, however, explains the origin in the following ingenious way.