

Markdale Standard

VOL. XXVII—WHOLE NO. 1311

MARKDALE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1907.

$1.00 PAID IN ADVANCE

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS

Council meets in Owen Sound this week.

Two second-hand organs for sale.

Preparations are being made for a musical evening in Markdale the 17th inst.

Photographs can be taken, developed and printed at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

A large quantity fall wheat wanted at Turner's Drug Store.

Mr. E. L. Ledge is open for a buyer for his grocery stock and business, having decided to retire from business.

LET TO THE SCHOOL.

Impressions Made Upon a Visitor to the Markdale Academy.

It would pay some of the broad-minded business men of Markdale to go to the school some day and see the workings of the educational laboratory where the future of Canada is being developed. It is a revelation to the advanced twenty years ago.

The children in Miss Neely's room are taught things unknown to many of their elders. For instance, they are taught to look up at the stars, to know the wild flowers, and some of the collections of wild flowers with drawings of their parts are full of interest and pleasure.

Regarding the splendid methods of teaching of to-day and ability of the school, while the writer was present he went through an oral examination in what might be called "first aid to the injured." Practical suggestions how to detect the blood from the arteries and the veins, how to treat a case of injury, a lesson on medicine, etc., how to treat fainting.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

We were also impressed by the good nature and patience of the teachers in the efficient and tedious task of detecting the child mind.

Mr. Rowe has a few instruments to illustrate some of the mysteries of Nature. A few books on the history and habits of animals, etc., makes the most of the school as different from the old-fashioned "rambling school" and "summer and tongue" teachers as a picture book is different from a railway timetable.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. J. Hall, of Tara, is visiting with Cherry Grove friends.

Mr. John Breen, of Flesherston, visited Mr. Thos. Gainger last week.

Inspector Campbell visited Markdale Public School this week and reports favorably.

Mr. G. W. Armstrong arrived from the W. last week and will remain for a few weeks.

Mrs. (Rev.) Caldwell, of Flesherston, was the guest of Mrs. T. Grainger one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rutherford, of Owen Sound, paid Markdale friends a visit this week.

Mrs. R. D. Biggs, of Oakville, is visiting friends in town; the guest of Mrs. W. Turner.

Mr. Geo. Wallace, of Owen Sound, traveller for McLachlan & Co., was in town last week.

Miss Nellie Symes left Tuesday for Boscawen, Man., to visit her sister, Mrs. Zack McCallum.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Watto and children visited Shelburne and Riverview early in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Benson and daughter, Miss Helmer, were visitors in town one day last week.

Mrs. A. Armstrong was in Owen Sound Monday attending the funeral of her cousin, Miss Pessant.

Miss Bethel Staples, professional nurse, Owen Sound, visited her sisters, Misses Onda and Stella, in town over Sunday.

Mr. James Smith is back to his old home, a visit, after wintering with his daughter, Mrs. J. T. Sayer, near Maggie Smith, Roland, Man.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith are in Toronto this week. Mr. Smith is attending the Grand Lodge Chosen Friends as representative of Oct. 399.

Mr. T. Lockhart, of Dundalk, paid Markdale a visit Friday, with his automobile, Misses Eva Rundle, Christi Rowe, and Lyneta Hanbury accompanied.

Miss Mary Hasse left Tuesday for Markdale, where she has secured a good position in a large store. Miss Hasse has been a faithful employe of F. T. Hill & Co. here for two years.

Mrs. Filow, of Bethel, Conn., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Osward, in town. She and her brother, Mr. Oswald, were in town visiting the Canadian West and Vancouver this summer before she returns home.

Aldenham Dryden, of Riverview, was this week the first of the week with his handsome new automobile No. 2831.

Mr. and Mrs. Dryden and Mr. and Mrs. G. Shook, of Toronto, were in town. They were guests at the Revere House while in town.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

Mr. A. E. Rutledge, of Fort William, arrived in town on Tuesday. He left this Monday for Toronto and Hamilton, also Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., on business. E. A. is one of the successful merchants of Fort William and is doing a business of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars a year besides occasionally cleaning up a few thousand from real estate speculation.

Mr. J. W. McCardle, of this place, accompanied by Messrs. Thomas Lockhart and Harry Lamson, of Dundalk, left Monday on a prospecting trip to the east end of Lake Huron, Ontario. They left for Toronto and where they will embark in canoes and proceed up the McIntire river for forty or fifty miles. They will be absent several weeks.

District Meeting.

The May meeting of the Owen Sound District, which was in session on going to press last week, continued its session Wednesday morning and afternoon at a banquet from Orangeville district for Corbetton to be placed in Orangeville district was not favored.

The question of readjusting circuit boundaries, which has been for many years agitated, was taken up and fully discussed, and a recommendation from a committee which had been appointed a year ago and which had given the whole question much consideration, was passed almost unanimously, to the effect that Inistogee be taken from Dundalk and attached to Eugenia and Mount Zion; that Kimberley be taken from Eugenia and attached to New England and Victoria; that Barkway be taken from Markdale and united with Walkers Falls, and that Ebenezer be taken from Euphrasia and attached to Markdale. The following conference appointments were made: On Class Meeting committee, Rev. H. Berry and Mr. J. Strain; Epworth League, Rev. Wellwood and Mr. Wm. Buchanan; Contingent fund, Rev. Dr. Caldwell and C. W. Rutledge; Sabbath School, Lawrence and Mrs. C. A. Jones; Moral Reform, Rev. John Wilson and E. O. Merriam; Sabbath observance, Rev. Franks and Mr. Newman; church property, Rev. Loach and Mr. E. J. Coats; state of the world, Rev. G. Lawrence and Mrs. C. A. Jones; educational, Rev. Tribbel and Mr. Bovey; sustentation, Rev. J. J. Ferguson and Mr. J. R. Fawcett. It was decided to hold next May meeting at Dundalk. By a unanimous standing vote a fitting and highly complimentary resolution was passed to the chairman, Rev. G. R. Turk, who separates from the regular pastoral work in July to enter evangelizing lines.

The following lay delegates were elected to attend the annual conference in Toronto next week: W. F. Gray, Owen Sound; W. Newman, Owen Sound; E. O. Merriam, Chatsworth; J. H. Wood, Markdale; J. H. Wood, Longbeach, Woodhouse; J. R. Fawcett, Kimberley; Wm. Buchanan, Vandeleur; C. W. Rutledge, Markdale; C. C. James, Priceville; J. Strain, Inistogee; J. Woods, Corbetton; Mr. Lipsett, Woodford.

Some weeks ago the district in Orange Valley in the vicinity of the stream that crosses the Turmuck road, 123 acres, became flooded to such an extent as to cause inconvenience and some alarm to the neighbors. Investigation was made in vain as to the cause of the unusual overflow. Finally it was discovered that beavers had plugged the six 18-inch cement sewer pipes which conducted the stream across under the roadway, thus blocking the passage and causing the flood above mentioned. The dam was substantially made with sticks, evergreen brush, stones and slugs, so that it was with difficulty the obstruction was removed. The dam was washed away by the midnight mechanics and finally Alderman H. D. McLoughry, securely fastened over wire over the ends of the cement sewer pipes, which has thus prevented a repetition of the trouble. The beaver has evidently lost none of his proverbial industrious characteristics.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty years. Mrs. Fogarty has been very unwell for some time, but during the last few weeks seemed slightly improved. On Saturday evening she was sitting at tea with the family, when she gave forth signs of distress. Loving hands were at her side in an instant, but human agency was ineffective, and the spirit soared away. Heart trouble was the cause of her sudden decease. Mrs. Fogarty was born near Berkeley in 1857, and is a daughter of Mr. James Quinn. To Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty were born one son and four daughters, all of whom, together with Mr. Fogarty, survive and deeply mourn their loss. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side, and leading a most exemplarily Christian life. The funeral took place to St. John's cemetery, Glenelg, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Walter, D.D., conducting the impressive burial service. The pall bearers were the Messrs. McAniff, brothers-in-law of the deceased; John Curry, John Maher, Andrew Fogarty and Patrick Hamilton. A large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors mourn the passing of so amiable a lady.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty years. Mrs. Fogarty has been very unwell for some time, but during the last few weeks seemed slightly improved. On Saturday evening she was sitting at tea with the family, when she gave forth signs of distress. Loving hands were at her side in an instant, but human agency was ineffective, and the spirit soared away. Heart trouble was the cause of her sudden decease. Mrs. Fogarty was born near Berkeley in 1857, and is a daughter of Mr. James Quinn. To Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty were born one son and four daughters, all of whom, together with Mr. Fogarty, survive and deeply mourn their loss. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side, and leading a most exemplarily Christian life. The funeral took place to St. John's cemetery, Glenelg, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Walter, D.D., conducting the impressive burial service. The pall bearers were the Messrs. McAniff, brothers-in-law of the deceased; John Curry, John Maher, Andrew Fogarty and Patrick Hamilton. A large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors mourn the passing of so amiable a lady.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty years. Mrs. Fogarty has been very unwell for some time, but during the last few weeks seemed slightly improved. On Saturday evening she was sitting at tea with the family, when she gave forth signs of distress. Loving hands were at her side in an instant, but human agency was ineffective, and the spirit soared away. Heart trouble was the cause of her sudden decease. Mrs. Fogarty was born near Berkeley in 1857, and is a daughter of Mr. James Quinn. To Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty were born one son and four daughters, all of whom, together with Mr. Fogarty, survive and deeply mourn their loss. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side, and leading a most exemplarily Christian life. The funeral took place to St. John's cemetery, Glenelg, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Walter, D.D., conducting the impressive burial service. The pall bearers were the Messrs. McAniff, brothers-in-law of the deceased; John Curry, John Maher, Andrew Fogarty and Patrick Hamilton. A large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors mourn the passing of so amiable a lady.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty years. Mrs. Fogarty has been very unwell for some time, but during the last few weeks seemed slightly improved. On Saturday evening she was sitting at tea with the family, when she gave forth signs of distress. Loving hands were at her side in an instant, but human agency was ineffective, and the spirit soared away. Heart trouble was the cause of her sudden decease. Mrs. Fogarty was born near Berkeley in 1857, and is a daughter of Mr. James Quinn. To Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty were born one son and four daughters, all of whom, together with Mr. Fogarty, survive and deeply mourn their loss. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side, and leading a most exemplarily Christian life. The funeral took place to St. John's cemetery, Glenelg, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Walter, D.D., conducting the impressive burial service. The pall bearers were the Messrs. McAniff, brothers-in-law of the deceased; John Curry, John Maher, Andrew Fogarty and Patrick Hamilton. A large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors mourn the passing of so amiable a lady.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty years. Mrs. Fogarty has been very unwell for some time, but during the last few weeks seemed slightly improved. On Saturday evening she was sitting at tea with the family, when she gave forth signs of distress. Loving hands were at her side in an instant, but human agency was ineffective, and the spirit soared away. Heart trouble was the cause of her sudden decease. Mrs. Fogarty was born near Berkeley in 1857, and is a daughter of Mr. James Quinn. To Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty were born one son and four daughters, all of whom, together with Mr. Fogarty, survive and deeply mourn their loss. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side, and leading a most exemplarily Christian life. The funeral took place to St. John's cemetery, Glenelg, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Walter, D.D., conducting the impressive burial service. The pall bearers were the Messrs. McAniff, brothers-in-law of the deceased; John Curry, John Maher, Andrew Fogarty and Patrick Hamilton. A large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors mourn the passing of so amiable a lady.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty years. Mrs. Fogarty has been very unwell for some time, but during the last few weeks seemed slightly improved. On Saturday evening she was sitting at tea with the family, when she gave forth signs of distress. Loving hands were at her side in an instant, but human agency was ineffective, and the spirit soared away. Heart trouble was the cause of her sudden decease. Mrs. Fogarty was born near Berkeley in 1857, and is a daughter of Mr. James Quinn. To Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty were born one son and four daughters, all of whom, together with Mr. Fogarty, survive and deeply mourn their loss. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side, and leading a most exemplarily Christian life. The funeral took place to St. John's cemetery, Glenelg, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Walter, D.D., conducting the impressive burial service. The pall bearers were the Messrs. McAniff, brothers-in-law of the deceased; John Curry, John Maher, Andrew Fogarty and Patrick Hamilton. A large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors mourn the passing of so amiable a lady.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty years. Mrs. Fogarty has been very unwell for some time, but during the last few weeks seemed slightly improved. On Saturday evening she was sitting at tea with the family, when she gave forth signs of distress. Loving hands were at her side in an instant, but human agency was ineffective, and the spirit soared away. Heart trouble was the cause of her sudden decease. Mrs. Fogarty was born near Berkeley in 1857, and is a daughter of Mr. James Quinn. To Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty were born one son and four daughters, all of whom, together with Mr. Fogarty, survive and deeply mourn their loss. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side, and leading a most exemplarily Christian life. The funeral took place to St. John's cemetery, Glenelg, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Walter, D.D., conducting the impressive burial service. The pall bearers were the Messrs. McAniff, brothers-in-law of the deceased; John Curry, John Maher, Andrew Fogarty and Patrick Hamilton. A large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors mourn the passing of so amiable a lady.

Starklingly sudden was the death of Mrs. John Fogarty, who passed away at her home in Glenelg on Saturday evening, at the age of fifty