To clean the pipes of the scullery sink, add a teaspoonful of powdered ammonia to two tablespoomfuls of soda, and pour over it a gallon of boiling water. This will dissolve any grease in the sink.

Pork is not good for children, as it is too rich, but bacon fat is good for them with bread. It acts like cod-liver oil in strengthening the system. Veal should not be given to young people, as it is difficult to digest.

Instead of cleaning the windows with soap and water, try rubbing them with a cloth dipped in a mixture of ammonia and whiting, and then polish with a clean chamois. This makes them much brighter than if soap and water are used.

To remove ironmould, wet the moulded spot, lay it on a hot plate, and wet with salts of lemon. As the cloth dries renew the process, keeping the plate underneath boiling hot, and adding more of the lemon salts until the whole of the spots are removed.

To keep parsley a good color for parsley sauce, tie it into a bunch, throw into boiling water and boil five minutes; chop finely and add to the sauce in the usual manner. Durdale should return the compliment next year.

COUNTY CELEBRATES TWELFTH IN DUNDALK

A LONG PROCESSION ON A LONG ROUTE—KING WILLIAM'S MEMORY HONORED.

The 218th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne was fittingly celebrated by the lodges of the County in Dundalk on Monday. A long special train left Markdale about ten o'clock and was joined at Saugeen Junction by five coaches from Durham, which arrived over the new C. P. R. line. The whole train of fourteen coaches, drawn by two mogul engines, pulled into Dundalk at eleven o'clock. From Orangeville and intervening stations also came a special train bearing strong bodies of the faithful. In all it is said there were between three and four thousand people present, the former being probably nearer the correct count. There were twenty-five stands of colors in the procession, some of them led by a King William or a prancing charger, as well as by a band of musicians. At one o'clock the lodges assembled on the main street of the town. It took the Director of Ceremonies—C. E. Noble—much time to dissect and despatch the different lodges to their proper places, but order finally arose out of chaos and the long-drawn banner-flying music-making procession was off. The following lodges were represented in the parade.

No. 1309, W. Williams, Master.

The route was a long one, and many of the older members were forced to drop out from fatigue.

On arrival at the grove, Mr. J. B. Lucas, M.L.A., ascended the dias as chairman, and after a splendid address called on the following speakers: Rev. A. A. Bice, Durham; Revs. Buchanan and Ferguson of Dundalk; Dr. T. S. Sprout, Sovereign Grand Master of the Orange Order of British North America; Mr. C. E. Noble, Rev. Mr. Miller, Dundalk; Rev. J. A. Robinson, County Chaplain; Mr. R. J. Woods, Melancthon. At the conclusion of the speeches the lodges reformed and marched back to town, where it broke up into its original parts.

NOTES.

Twas Dundalk's gala day.

Just wait for the County celebration at Markdale next year!

There was not an arrest during the day—a very orderly crowd, indeed.

Dundalk had made preparations for a larger crowd, so there was ample accommodation for all.

Markdale, Dundalk, Flesherton and Shelburne bands supplied an abundance of music.

Proton Station L. O. L. No. 244 won two first prizes—one for the best dressed lodge, the other for the largest turnout.

A runaway horse caused some commotion among the crowds during the afternoon. The buggy was badly smashed, but no other damage was done.

The Methodist ladies did a rushing business serving meals in the church basement under the able generalship of the pastor's wife. At times the waiting crowds half filled the church. Over $200 were realized.

The entire crowd seemed to but voice the sentiments of the grey-haired old lady who hobbed along wearing a conspicuous badge with the words, "12th July. I'm out for a good time," printed thereon in large letters.

In the afternoon Owen Sound and Dundalk juniors played an exhibition lacrosse match on the agricultural grounds. Neither team put up a very strong argument, but the match was free from roughness and altogether a friendly game. Dundalk won by 4-2.

A group of Markdale young people had a prominent position on a corner while the parade was in progress and when old No. 1045 hove in sight raised a cheer which could be heard above the noise of the drums and the shriek of the fife far down the line of march.

Markdale L. O. L. No. 1045 never made a better showing. They were fifty-eight strong, and some thought they were entitled to the prize for the best lodge on the ground. Bro. J. W. Ford, Jr., kept his men in trim marching order throughout the whole procession.

Mr. T. B. Lucas, our popular townsmen, makes an ideal chairman, and the committee were happy in their selection when they chose him for this duty. He made a capital address, and interspersed the other speakers' addresses with exceedingly witty remarks which kept the large crowd in the best of humor.

While in some parts of the province there was heavy rain during the day, Dundalk was spared disturbance of that kind, except after the dispersion of the assembly, when it rained hard enough to settle the dust and compel the white dresses to seek the shelter of the awnings and doorways.

Probably the oldest Orangeman in the procession, who also occupied a prominent position on the platform, was Mr. Samuel Brown, of Melancthon, a member of L.O.I. No. 508. Mr. Brown has been an Orangeman for sixty-nine years, having joined the Order when he was sixteen. He is now in his 86th year.

Grey County should feel highly honored in having at its celebration the holder of the highest office in the gift of the Order in British North America. We refer of course to our own respected citizen, Dr. T. S. Sprout, who is Sovereign Grand Master. The Dr. was greeted with prolonged applause from the assembled multitudes, when he rose to deliver his address.

Only one accident occurred to mar the day's pleasure, and that happened early in the morning. Jos. Walker left Markdale with the intention of celebrating the Glorious Twelfth in Dundalk. While alighting from the train before it had come to a standstill at that place, he accidentally fell under the wheel and his left leg was taken off about two inches above the ankle. He was taken to Owen Sound Hospital on the noon train.

In the Supreme Grand Master's address reference was made to the number of present-day people who seemed to believe that Orangemen as a body were no longer needed in order that the great principles of Protestantism and religious liberty might be maintained. The Grand Master believed this was a great mistake, and backed up his contention with an account of the recent disturbances at Buckingham and Hull, where strenuous attempts were made to prohibit the Orangemen from holding their celebration on the Glorious and Immortal Twelfth.

OIL FOR DOMESTIC WHEELS

Little Hints Which Will Help Save Wear and Tear in Households of the Land.

It is well to keep in the kitchen a bottle of linseed oil and lime water, together with a roll of old linen pieces for bandages, for use in case of burns.

Don't sew too much; don't embroider too many hours a day; don't do one thing exclusively and all the time, for this means a strain upon the eyes.

To polish your silver knives, forks, spoons, or larger pieces, take a common lead pencil eraser and rub it on tarnish and the result is a beautiful polish.

When making coffee put a cup of cold water in the pot and beat the egg in this before putting in coffee and the coffee will never stick to the bottom of the pot.

A piece of red pepper the size of a pea dropped in with the vegetables when cooking will help to kill the odor. This should be remembered when cooking cabbage.

A soft chamois leather soaked in cold water and then wrung dry is an ideal duster. It can be used on the finest furniture, and it will leave a clean, bright surface.

Smelling salts can be made to last for years if fresh spirits are poured over the balls of salt from time to time, so as to keep up the original strength of the mixture.

To preserve bamboo furniture, keep it away from the fire and rub it once a week with equal parts of turpentine and linseed oil on a soft cloth.

When the meat is being roasted, and there is danger of it becoming too brown, place basin of water in the oven, the steam will prevent scorching, and the meat will cook better.

Much labor may be saved by placing a piece of newspaper or a square of brown paper in the drip tray under the burners in your gas stove. When treated thus the paper can easily be removed when soiled.

Walnut and fruit stains may be removed from the fingers by dipping them in strong tea and rubbing the nails with a nail brush.

Then wash in warm water and the stain will disappear.

When baking bread, not a speck of flour should be kneaded into bread after it has once been set to rise. Kneading more flour into the dough only adds unleavened flour to the mass and it is almost sure to make the bread heavy.
