A number of the young people of the locality spent a social evening at the homes of Mr. J. Thompson and Mr. Wm. Bassett respectively recently, tripping the light fantastic and other amusements.

The annual anniversary services which were held at this appointment on the 8th and 9th were a decided success. Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Euphrasia, delivered two excellent addresses on Sunday, and on Monday evening tea was served to a packed house and a good program rendered. Proceeds $60.

IMPOSSIBILITY.

It is impossible for a woman to understand how any man can have so much money that he doesn't know what to do with it.—Milwaukee Journal.

HOW TO CURE A COLD.

Be as carefully as you can you will occasionally take cold, and when you do, get a medicine of known reliability, one that has an established reputation and that is certain to effect a quick cure. Such a medicine is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has gained a world wide reputation by its remarkable cures of this most common ailment, and can always be depended upon. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

The London (England) Daily Mail gives an account of an electrical machine for making bread. The machine turns out 25,000 loaves a day, and weighs nearly 200 tons, shown in operation at the Bakers' and Confectioners' Exhibition at the Agricultural Hall, London. Eight men standing at the levers of the machine, do the work which formerly employed twenty-five. Two parts of the apparatus are considered by experts to be unique—a mechanical kneader and temporary device, and an adjustable moulder, which adapts itself automatically to any sized loaf. So that no human hand should touch flour, dough, or loaf, rolling continuous tracks and little wagons running upon rails connect the various parts of this wonderful machine. The flour rises in an elevator to a sifting machine, which automatically rids it of impurities or foreign matter. An automatic pathway bears it thence to the kneading machine, where the mixing takes place; the dough when made is tilted automatically into a wagon, which runs down an incline into the "proving" room, the doors of which open automatically. After lying for hours here, the dough is carried upon another incline to a dividing machine, which set to a certain gauge, cuts the dough into pieces. These pieces, traversed by the moulder, are seized upon by the moulder, which shapes them into cottage, coburg or "tin" loaves. From this they drop upon an electrically-propelled rack and are swept into the 100-tin oven, which bakes them to any desired condition in forty-two minutes. It is a wonderful machine.

MEAFORD

Mr. W. P. Perry, of Strongfield, Sask., had his collar bone and some ribs broken in a runaway.

Inspector N. W. Campbell, of Durham, paid his semi-annual visit of inspection to our public school last week.

Fred Alcock, Lawrence Mitchell and Bob Cleland, all of Toronto University spent Thanksgiving at their homes.

Mr. Geo. Brown, our customs collector, has had to remove his quarters, owing to the sale of the building he was in.

The many friends of Mr. Deitch, the well known merchant, will regret to know that he is compelled to retire from business, owing to continued ill-health.

Mr. W. B. Buchanan, of Vanderleur, a bright, promising young man, arrived at the High School last week to take matriculation work in the School of Science. The school is always glad to get the boys.

Mr. T. F. Rixon has sold the frame building on corner of Marshall and Denmark streets to Harry Mott for one thousand dollars. It is reported that Mr. Mott has sold his own property on the opposite corner to Miss Bell, third line.

Last week there passed away at the advanced age of nearly 83, James Charlwood, for over fifty years a resident of the town. For the opportunities he had had in life, Mr. Charlwood was an exceptionally well informed man. One by one the landmarks of Meaford are being obliterated.

"Should swift death this night overtake us" was most startlingly exemplified last Friday afternoon, in the sudden demise of Andrew Watt, the well known hardware merchant of this place. So many had seen him at work only a few hours previous that it was impossible to credit the news, which spread with lightning-like rapidity. The circumstances surrounding the death are extremely sad, and the aged grief-stricken parents have the sincere sympathy of a whole community of friends.

BRYAN CLOCKS—WHY? "Are these clocks guaranteed?" asked the man at the clock counter. "Sure," responded the clerk. "But why do you call them Bryan clocks?" "Because they never get tired of running, sir."—Chicago News.

Isn't there a wonderful satisfaction in knowing that when you enter a store you are going to get exactly what you want?

That is Our Aim Here.

This store does everything that is possible with the advantage of ready money and a thorough knowledge of every market to have stock complete and a variety so large that no customer need hesitate to ask for anything they have need of—and so well has this store succeeded in giving its customers satisfaction that we hear day after day this remark: "If you can't get it anywhere else."

BERKELEY

Mr. E. T. Walters arrived home Saturday night. Miss Hopkins, of Peterboro, is visiting her brother William.

Winter has arrived at last and sleighing is all the go now. Mr. Moorhouse Mitchell, of Lucknow, spent Sunday with his brother Thomas here.

Mr. William Gibson, wife and daughter spent Sunday with Mrs. Virtue, who has been sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Demons returned from the West Saturday night. They intend to spend the winter here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Muckle and Mr. John Abbley, of Toronto, attended the funeral of Mr. Huggins here Saturday, returning home same day.

It is time our citizens were talking up a winter school for the children in this place. It is too far for small children to walk to the schools during the cold months.

If the township will not arrange the school district better than it is, why not petition them for a grant for a winter school in this place? Get to work and talk it up these long evenings; nothing like trying, anyhow.

The remains of the late Wm. Huggins, who died at Port Colborne last Wednesday, were laid to rest in the English cemetery here on Saturday last. He leaves a widow, two sons, John and Mark, of Toronto, and two daughters, Mrs. Mitchell, of this place, and Mrs. Oliver, of near Hamilton, all of whom attended the last sad rites. Much sympathy is felt for the relatives in their bereavement.
