SOME SMOKERS' DON'TS.

What to Do If You Would Enjoy Your Weed.

Don't wet the end of your cigarette before you put it into your mouth; you spoil the flavor of the smoke. To prevent the cigarette from sticking to your lips keep the cigarette dry and your lips dry. Don't wonder why a home-made cigarette burns the tongue more than a ready-made one. The end of the home-made cigarette gets screwed up to a point, and thus you get a "pin-prick" of smoke on your tongue. The same way a pipe with a small bore will burn the tongue more easily than will a pipe with a large bore. Don't fill a new pipe full of tobacco the first time you are going to smoke it. Let the bowl be half full, but smoke it right out, charring the bottom of the bowl. This is the shortest way of breaking in a new pipe. Don't smoke the same kind of tobacco always if you want to get the utmost enjoyment out of the smoke. After several Virginia cigarettes, you will then be able to appreciate the next Virginia cigarette much more thoroughly. Don't believe all you hear about fine cut tobacco smoking hotter than flake tobacco in a pipe. If the fine-cut tobacco is packed fairly tight in the bowl, the smoke will be just as cool as that of a coarse-cut tobacco. Don't put a piece of raw potato in your pouch in order to keep the tobacco moist. Your aim should be to get out some of the moisture which is put in the tobacco when it is manufactured. The surest way of doing this is to spread out the tobacco on a piece of paper and leave it on the table all night.

A GREAT EFFORT.

How the Society Reporter Wrote Up a Fire at Night.

I would spoil a good story to suggest that the young woman of whom the paper tells may have a sense of humor. In the absence of the regular reporter, the editor sent the young woman who writes the society news to report a fire in a remote part of the city. This is what the young woman turned in: "Quite a number of people in this part of the city attended a fire last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Blank in the High street. Some, it is said, went in carriages and motors, but a majority walked. "The alarm was sounded about half-past eight, and many who attended the fire had just returned from church, consequently they were already dressed for the occasion. "Mrs. Blank was not at home, being out of the city on business, hence the affair will be a surprise to him when he returns. Mrs. Blank wore a light pale-blue kimono and had her hair done up in kid curlers. "The firemen responded readily, and worked heroically to subdue the flames. Most of them were young and fairly good-looking. They were dressed in oilskin coats, cut short, with trousers to match. Their hat brims were narrow in front and broad behind, and drooped in the rear. "When the flames broke out through the second storey and cast a lurid hue over the surrounding buildings the view was one never to be forgotten. "At a late hour the sightseers went home, and all felt they had passed an evening full of interest and excitement."

Money Found In Piano.

A young couple who recently got married in Glasgow had among their goods an old-fashioned square piano bearing the date of 1789. It was purchased merely a piece of furniture. They called in a piano-tuner to see if he could better the tone of the instrument.

While handling it he came on a piece of paper, and pulling it out, handed it to the owner, who on reading it found the faded handwriting of a man. "Lucky one, whoever you are, this little store is all for thee; if you have a small can of paint, will help you in your time of need." On closer examination a small can was bag with £15 in notes was found. The piano cost them 40 shillings, a bargain in itself, with this marriage present thrown in.

The Hermit Crab.

The hermit crab is one of nature's freaks. Having no proper shell of his own, he takes possession of the empty house of a sea snail, winkle, or other mollusc. It is not true, however, that he first kills and demolishes the owner. There are always vacant shells to supply him and his kind with a domicile. Like any other crab he grows, and from time to time he finds himself obliged to move into a larger tenement. He may not always find one that suits him perfectly when he wishes to make a change, just like people, but he must take the best he can find. This will account for the fact that you often see a hermit crab dragging about a dwelling entirely too big for him.

Could Use His Fists.

The late Sir Ralph Littler was a very handy man with the gloves. In an assault case which once came before him, where the defendant under great provocation had struck a man severely with a stick, rendering him insensible, Sir Ralph said, "It is a great pity the noble art is not practiced now as it was. When I was a student I could 'down' anybody I could put my hands on. If this man had used his fists instead of a stick he would not have been here now."

WALTERS FALLS

Don't forget the box social in the C.O.O.F. Hall here next Tuesday eve. Ladies with boxes, free.

The Anglican Church was reopened last Sabbath at 10 a.m. by the Rev. Mr. Dymond, of Markdale. Service was also conducted at 3 p.m. The sermons were very impressive, and listened to by attentive congregations. Owing to the storm, the attendance was as large as would otherwise have been. The interior of the church, which has been renovated lately by papering and painting and also new carpet added, is greatly improved and presents a very attractive appearance.

WALTERS FALLS

Miss Myrtle King and Mr. Orville Horton, of Owen Sound, spent Sunday with the former's parents. Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence, of Heathcote, called on friends here recently.

WALTERS FALLS

The A.Y.P.A. will meet at the home of Mr. Richard Quinton this Friday evening. Misses Curry, of Meaford, are guests of their sister, Mrs. T. King.
