SIGNALS OF DISTRESS.

ck kidneys give many signals of
ess. The secretions are dark, ain a sediment. Passages are ent, scanty, painful. Back-

s. Jas. Summers, of Toronstreet, Markdale, Ont., says:
"Back was weak and tender
a heavy, bearing down pain settled itself in the region of kidneys. I would take cold easily and it would leave me in miserable condition. I was and languid and unable to d to the house duties. Booth's Pills were recommended by my physician, the druggist, and I had only one box when I was enrled of the weakness and pain
y back. I recommended

Reaching the People

A prominent real estate dealer in Toronto says that he gets better and quicker results from the Classified Want Ads. than from any other kind of publicity. He states that the results are out of proportion to the small expense involved. There is a moral in that for you if you want to reach the people.

DISCIPLINE.

The son and heir was playing in the back-garden. He was alone and was thoroughly enjoying an extemporised game of cricket—half a one a-side. His bowling was swift, though unsure; but, as there were no stumps at which to aim, any divergence from the straight line was of little consequence. His batting was of a more interesting nature. Standing in the middle of the garden, he threw the ball at the wall on Mrs. Jones' side, and endeavored to hit it as it rebounded, but more frequently he missed the ball, turned half-round, and caught it as it rolled slowly back from the opposite wall.

His mother, at the kitchen window, watched her son's prowess with unconcealed pride, though with a certain anxiety. He should never have been allowed to play with that bat; it was much too big for him; one day he'd fall over it and hurt himself. But it was not a bit of good speaking to Harry. Harry always said he should be taught to be manly. She put the kettle on the fire. Harry had said—

There was a scream from the garden, followed by a lusty howling. His mother dashed out of the door. There on his face on the grass lay the fallen cricketer, waving his arms and legs desperately in the air, but making no attempt to rise. The next moment he was in his mother's arms, his face wreathed in smiles, being carried inside to the toffee-jar. After a short interval he was out again in the garden with both hands and his mouth full, playing at football with the kitchen hassock.

His mother repented of her indulgence. Harry thought she shouldn't run to him every time he cried; and he really couldn't run to him every time he cried; and he really couldn't have hurt himself much, because he was quite better now. But how was she to know that he hadn't broken a limb? And if he'd been lying on the grass for hours with a sprained ankle or something of that sort she'd never have forgiven herself. Besides—

She put two and a half spoonfuls of tea into the pot and was reaching for the cups, when, turning, she saw a curly head poking itself in at the kitchen window. It smiled and demanded a cake.

Tea would soon be ready, she told him gently. The corners of the fat, round mouth turned down, and it slowly opened; both eyes screwed themselves up; there was a big intake of breath, and, just as a bellowing cry was about to rend the air, a lovely soft cake was thrust into the chubby hand. The face regained its composure, and the small face retreated, chewing.

There—she felt sure she shouldn't have done that. But, then, he had looked so happy before; she didn't want him to feel that she was spoiling his afternoon's pleasure; she hated to see him miserable. Harry said he was being spoilt. (Concluded next week.)

Any amount of money to lend on mortgage security at the lowest rate of interest. Expenses low. No fines. Properties valued personally. No waiting for convenience of inspectors. W. L. Young, Markdale, Appraiser for Canada Permanent Loan Company.

WALTERS FALLS The House of Refuge.

Mrs. (Rev.) Kemp went down to Alliston this week to visit her father, Mr. Watts.

Miss Irene Sutherland spent last week in Owen Sound.

Mr. W. J. McGuire went down to the city for Easter.

Mrs. Chas. Carney and children and Mr. Robert King left for the West last week, where they intend to reside.

Mrs. Jas. Lemon and children and the Misses Margaret and Florence Lemon leave on Wednesday of this week for Halbrite, Sask.

Miss Pansy Atkins, teacher, is spending her Easter vacation at her home in North Toronto.

The Mission Band concert of last week was as anticipated a decided success. The children performed in a manner quite a credit to their untiring president, Mrs. Kemp. The attendance and proceeds were good.

Married, on Tuesday, March 22, Miss Lizzie Seabrook to Mr. Wilfred Moore, both of this place, by Rev. H.E.W. Kemp, assisted by Rev. J. H. Lemon. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in the suburbs.

We heartily wish the young couple a long, happy and prosperous wedded life.

Mr. Tom Wilson, of Shallow Lake, spent Easter at home.

Editor Standard,—

I am glad it is not called poor-house, but Refuge. How suggestive of restfulness!

When the Israelites were governed in the name of God (Theocracy) six cities of Refuge were appointed, three on each side of the River Jordan, and these were a fitting type of Christ, the great Refuge. "God is a refuge for his people," so any institution erected for the benefit of helpless humanity emanates from our kind Heavenly Father.

Our House of Refuge here is not only a boon to the aged and destitute, but a credit to the people of the County of Grey and Markdale. I was privileged to be present at a service there last week, and I was much impressed at the home-like appearance of the place and the orderly way the inmates passed into the nice large room arranged for worship, with scripture mottoes all around the wall, and an organ which must be so pleasant and helpful to them. They were most attentive, and although one could not help the feeling of sympathy for them, yet thankfulness was predominant.

Heavenly countries have no places of this kind; it is simply a mark of our Christianity—a foot-print of the Son of God, "stately-stepping" of the Son of God.

BEAVERDALE

lovely weather now. Ploughing has commenced.

Mr. Tom Brett had a very successful week-end on Monday last.

Miss Alma Johnston of Sligo was visiting Beaverdale's friends over Sunday.

Messrs. Henry Wilson and Robert Fothergill are engaged with Mr. Ed. Fothergill & Sons in the saw mill this summer. They intend starting April 1st.

Sorry to say that Mr. and Mrs. C. Fothergill sr. are not better yet, but hope they will soon recover. Their son, Mr. Joe Fothergill, has taken them to his own home, thinking the change might do them good.

Misses Lena and Priscilla Manaray were visiting Mr. Thos. Brett's recently.

Spring making has not been very successful this year, the weather being too warm.

Mr. Hugh Johnston, accompanied by his sisters, Misses Emily and Belle, went to Clarkburg on Tuesday to occupy the farm recently purchased from Mr. E. Johnston.

Mr. Sam. Fothergill sold his three-year-old colt to Mr. J. F. Kerr, of Hamlet.

Mr. Ted Roberts went to Toronto to work last week.

Mr. Sam Furzessot had a stoning, on Tuesday.
