

KIMBERLEY
HAPPENINGS

The nice, warm weather, together with considerable rain, is proving to be of much benefit to vegetation.

Messrs. Clayton and Wilmer Lougheed and sister, Miss Laura of Clarksville, visited friends here last week, and were the guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Fawcett.

Miss Elsie Plewes is visiting Collingwood friends this week.

Mr. Herbert Fines, of Granger, spent few days this week at the Traveller's Home.

A series of Gospel Meetings will be held in the Union Church commencing next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. Preaching by evangelist Neal, of Meaford. All are cordially invited.

Mr. Geo. Knott, of Collingwood, visited friends here this week and was the guest of his sister, Mrs. R. J. Stuart.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Proctor spent Saturday eve. and Sunday last with the former's mother in Thornbury.

Miss Lottie Fawcett, of Parry Sound, who has spent the past few months with friends here, returned to her home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Stuart have retired from farming and will hereafter reside in our village. To Mr. and Mrs. Stuart we extend a hearty welcome.

Our new school-house when completed will cost some $5,000. This will be at least $1,000 or more than expected when it was first decided to build, and we think the ratepayers should have been consulted again before going ahead with the building. With 20-year debentures it will mean an extra $400 in round numbers each year to be raised off the section for 20 years. With an assessment of some $7,500, you can figure it out what a burden the new school will be to the property-holders of said section.

Following is the list of officers of the local Branch of the O.W.I. for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. W. T. Ellis.

Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Geo. Proctor.

Sec-Treas.—Miss Kinross Boyle.

District Directors—Mrs. G. H. Walter, Mrs. Geo. Proctor.

Auditors—Maude Fawcett and Edith Hammond.

Committee to assist officers during the year—Mrs. John Plewes (Convenor), Maude L. Fawcett, Edith Hammond, Nellie Wickens, Annie Hill.

Delegate to County Convention at Owen Sound in June—Mrs. W. T. Ellis.

BranMashes for Horses.

Some useful information in regard to the feeding of bran mashes to horses is given in Wisconsin "Agriculturist" as follows:

Every feeder of horses that understands the digestive system of the horse makes use of the bran mash at least once a week to regulate the action of the bowels, to relieve the system from heavy feeding, and at the same time to cool it out. The regular feeding of the bran mash on Saturday evening saves many horses from constipation and also from lymphangitis, or Monday morning disease. While the bran mash alone may not prevent the latter trouble, it helps very much in doing so, and if, besides, the feed over Sunday would be reduced to onehalf the usual amount, there would be few cases of disease occurring. The bran mash having a cooling and laxative effect upon the system and the bowels, relieves the lymphatic system, which under heavy feeding of dry, carbonaceous feeds becomes sluggish and overcharged. It is due to the latter condition that lymphangitis takes place and manifests itself in swelling of either one of the hind legs accompanied by lameness.

HOW TO MAKE THEM

Bran mashes are made up in many ways, but, as a rule it is only in large feeding stables, studs and racing stables that they are made up properly. A little cold or luke warm water poured over bran in a pail or in a large feed can, and mixed, with a little salt added is the usual bran mash. Frequently hot water is used, and sometimes it occurs that the mash is given to the horse so little cooled off as to scald its mouth, or the horse refuses to eat it and it is left sour in the manger. The cold or luke warm mash is better than none, but the latter kind is worse than none.

To properly prepare a bran mash covers more than a mere few minutes of time, and the mixing of the water and the bran. At noon put the boiling water into a clean bucket and into this stir the bran. Then put a cover over the bucket to keep in the steam so that the cooling off takes place slowly and prevents souring at the same time. Then feed in the evening when the bran has been well acted upon by the steam and has cooled off enough to be readily taken by the horse. Whenever salt is to be added to the mash, add it at the time when the mixing is first done.

Linseed Meal and Bran.

It may be desired to have the mash consist of a mixture of linseed meal and bran, and often this is prescribed by the veterinarian in special cases. To prepare such a mash, one part of linseed meal should be used in two parts of bran. This should be cooked for several hours by allowing it to simmer slowly on a stove with a low fire. Plenty of water should be added and the cover kept on the containing vessel until the cooking is almost completed. Then the cover should be removed and the water allowed to evaporate so as to make a thick mash, when the latter should be taken off the stove and allow it to cool ready for immediate use.

The amount of bran mash fed to each horse will depend upon its size. A horse 1,600 pounds in weight will easily take eight quarts. Driving horses should not be fed bran mashes on evenings previous to days of hard driving unless driven a good deal every day. Horses that are worked hard every day and that are not allowed any pasture at all do much better if given bran mashes twice a week—Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Your blood will be redder, richer, purer after taking Mi-o-na, and it only costs 50 cents a large box. Frank Oke, of St. Thomas, Ont., says: "My wife was troubled with indigestion for a number of years. We tried a number of preparations to no effect. Finally she began to use Mi-o-na and has been entirely relieved of all these troubles. I can confidentially recommend Mi-o-na."

An important feature of the May meeting of Victoria W. M. S. which was held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Lanktree was the presenting by Mrs. Sewell on behalf of the society of a Life Membership Certificate to Mrs. Geo. Crabtree. Mrs. Crabtree has been President of the W.M.S. during the past five years and it is now through her zeal and effort that the W.M.S. of Victoria is so thoroughly progressive. We hope she may long live to enjoy her Life Membership Certificate and to aid in the great Missionary work of the Church.

in a set procured here, you'll hardly know him for the same animal. He will seem to know that at last he has a harness on that fits and looks as it should. Suppose you get a set now. Your horse needs one anyway, so why not get him a good one. It will not cost any more.

It is perhaps a little early to forecast prospects for the season, but we are looking forward to a generous patronage and a period of good prices.
