Notice!

Heintzman & Co.'s Pianos are sold direct from the Head Office, Toronto, or by their travellers only. They have no agents in this vicinity, and their instruments are not sold by T. F. Wilson, of Markdale, as he has been representing.

HEINTZMAN & CO., Limited,

115-117 King St. West, Toronto.

Special Notice!

In reply to "Notice!" in an adv. on this page supposed to be from Heintzman & Co., Toronto, but really put in by a $12.00 a week piano traveller, I have the following to say:

I had the pleasure of beating the traveller in a piano sale. This made him sore. To prove that I buy from and sell for the Heintzman Co., I hereby print a copy of an Order:

Toronto, Feb. 13, 1910.

"We, the Heintzman Co., piano manufacturers, Toronto, agree to ship C.P.R. Markdale, T. F. Wilson, one piano, style Ionic; 2 pianos, style Classic, mahogany, 3 off, 30 days.

Here is a copy of draft on me for above order from the Heintzman Co.

Toronto, Feb. 10, 1910.

HEINTZMAN & CO., Ltd. PIANO MANUFACTUR'S.

Thirty days after date pay to order of ourselves, through Merchants' Bank, Markdale, the amount paid draft for value received, and charge to T. F. Wilson, Markdale. Heintzman & Co.

This is merely to show how untrue is the statement issued by the party who makes his living by graft on the public.

T. F. WILSON,

SPECIAL NOTICE

Re Our Piano Agency.

We supplied T. F. Wilson with 1 cheap grade piano, not our own make, for which he paid by draft as stated, but we did not, nor will we, supply him with a Heintzman & Co. Piano to fill any order which he might take representing that he was acting for us.

HEINTZMAN & CO., Limited,

TORONTO.

May 13th, 1910.

Sold On Its Own Merits.

FROST COIL WIRE and WOVEN FENCE always sold under the same name, not simply put out as a cheap adv. but as a perfect and reliable fence material. Once used always used. Remember also, when I sell you Frost Wire I guarantee it Frost Wire. I do not tell you it is just the same or just as good as any other. I certainly guarantee it true to name.

Well, say, I can hardly keep from laughing out loud when a customer comes in and tells me that he was offered Frost Wire by other dealers in town. But they all say, "They can't fool me with their cheap stuff, for I know you are the only man in town that handles the genuine Frost Wire. So weigh me up some of that Frost Wire, old man, and here is your money, and any of my neighbors that want Wire I will tell them to go to

HUGH KNOTT, Agent, Markdale

Peter Munro was arrested in Hamilton charged with assaulting his wife, who claimed she met him coming from the theatre with another woman.

Windsor's Mayor received a $20 bill from a man who wished to square himself for passing a counterfeit note on a storekeeper 25 years ago.

KING LAID TO REST

Funeral of Edward the Seventh Is a Magnificent Ceremony.

ALL HEADS ARE UNCOVERED

With Nine Crowned Heads, Thousands of Soldiers and Representatives of All Lands Following the Gun-Carriage Which Bore the Casket the Peacemaker's Earthly Story Comes to an End.

London, May 21.—With stately pomp and solemn magnificence far exceeding that ever accorded to an English monarch the body of Edward the Peacemaker was carried yesterday to St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle, where repose the bones of seven of his predecessors. The funeral car was followed by crowned monarchs, heirs apparent, generals, statesmen and representatives of every country in the world, who united in paying a splendid last tribute to the dead sovereign.

It had rained and stormed all night, but it would have taken a terrible tempest to dislodge the multitudes from points of vantage which they had occupied since early Thursday.

The morning was clear and a hot sun beat upon the great masses of humanity that lined the route of the procession. It is doubtful if so many people were ever before seen in London. At the Mall, in St. James street and at Hyde Park the throng almost overwhelmed the procession.

KING ALFONSO OF SPAIN.

The police and soldier had to fight to prevent the lines being swept away by the crush. There were many broken limbs and other injuries were received. Hundreds of persons fainted more especially among the women who had been standing on the pavement for hours before the procession left Westminster Hall.

Glorious Spectacle.

All the pageantry that marked the burial of Victoria was as naught when compared with the magnificence of yesterday's spectacle, which, though it passed through a multitude of hushed people, reverently bent, was splendid in its accompaniments of gilded coaches, brilliant uniforms and decorations.

Far surpassing the ceremony attending the removal of the King's body from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall, the procession yesterday included nine sovereigns, the heirs to several thrones, the members of the royal families, the officers of the household, the officials of the Government, field marshals, generals and admirals whose names are synonymous with Britain's achievements in war; detachments of troops of all the British arms, and representatives of foreign armies and navies in variegated uniforms, a solid phalanx of glittering colors.

The vast throngs along the streets were massed so tightly that those once caught found it impossible to move. The great viewing stands, covered with mourning emblems, were banked high with people; balconies and windows crowded the roof-tops black. And through this multitude, from among whom not a whisper arose, the gun carriage that bore the King's body moved to the strains of funeral marches, the tolling of bells and the booming of minute guns.

M. FALLIERES, OF FRANCE.

Queen Mother's Last Look.

At Westminster Hall the widowed Queen, going to spend a last few minutes beside the body of the King, was assisted from her carriage by the German Emperor. The Emperor kissed the hand and cheek of Alexandra and passed her to her son, King George. Here the Queen Mother caught sight of the King's charger, waiting to follow his master to the bier, and near at hand the King's favorite dog, led by a gillie, and she faltered, gripping the arm of the King and pathetically gazing upon the animals Edward had loved so well. Then she entered the hall with King George, Emperor William and the Duke of Connaught, there to offer a silent prayer and watch the removal of the coffin to the gun carriage.

The order of precedence in the procession was governed by kinship as related to the position of the sovereigns.

From Paddington station the royal train carried the coffin and mourners to Windsor, while special trains were filled with officials and foreign representatives.

COL. ROOSEVELT OF UNITED STATES.

Bluejackets dragged the gun carriage through a line of purple to St. George's Chapel, and there simple services were said by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, assisted by other prelates.

King George, with Alexandra, walked up the nave behind the coffin, with the German Emperor and Queen Mary following.

The casket, borne by Grenadier Guards, was placed on a purple catafalque before the altar, which was fairly buried in floral pieces. The Lord Chamberlain and the Lord Steward took positions at the right of the catafalque. King George, as the chief mourner, stood at the head of the casket. His Majesty's bodyguard of gentlemen of arms stood at the left of the bier with axes reversed. The funeral party filled the edifice and overflowed into the prince consort's chapel to the south.

There was a moment of profound silence when positions had been taken and then the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of Winchester advanced to the casket. The choir chanted "Man that is born of woman," and the congregation recited the Lord's Prayer, accompanied with music.

God Save the King.

The service of the Church of England was followed throughout. The anthem, "How Blest Are They," was sung, after which the Garter-King-at-Arms advanced to the altar and spoke as follows:

"For as much as it hath pleased Almighty God to take out of this life unto His divine mercy the late most high, most mighty and most excellent monarch, Edward, by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, and Ireland, King, defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, and sovereign of the most noble order of the garter, let us humbly beseech Almighty God to bless with long life, health and honor and all worldly happiness, the most high, most mighty and most excellent monarch, our sovereign Lord George, now by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, defender of the faith, Emperor of India, and sovereign of the most noble order of the garter. God save the King."

KING HAAKON OF NORWAY.

An answering murmur of "God Save the King," arose from the assemblage.

The Last Sad Scenes.

The Archbishop of Canterbury pronounced the solemn benediction, after which, with the Bishop of Winchester, he knelt before the altar in a moment of silent prayer. As the clergy rose to their feet, the hush was broken and the procession withdrew from the chapel in the order of its entrance.

During the service, the widowed Queen moved to the foot of the catafalque and knelt, and just before the coffin was lowered into the crypt,

QUEEN MARY.

King George placed upon it a royal standard.

Several of the royal mourners, including Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and Prince Charles of Sweden left London last night, but all the reigning monarchs remain and the King and Queen had another notable dinner party at Buckingham Palace last evening. The departure of the sovereigns will begin to-day, but the German Emperor is expected to stay here until Monday night.

Presidents Followed Princes.

The cortege moved through solid lines of red-coated soldiers standing with rifles reversed and the regimental colors dipped to the ground.

Behind the casket, upon which rested the imperial symbols, followed the late King's charger, while his favorite terrier was led by a highland soldier just before the imperial ensign.

The representatives of the two great republics, France and the United States, were given a position at the rear of all the royalties, and the princes of the European states. Their carriage followed those carrying the royal ladies and they were the last in the line of the representatives of foreign Governments. The Duke of Orleans was given precedence as the envoy of the French people.

KING ALBERT OF BELGIUM.

King George, the Queen Mother Alexandra, and the Princess Victoria entered Westminster Hall before procession, and spent some minutes before the casket. Emperor William, who was at the entrance as they appeared, dismounted, and waving the lackeys aside, opened the door of the Queen Mother's carriage, helped her out and then kissed her on the cheek.

Regalia on Gun Carriage.

The procession started from the hall at 9.50 o'clock, just as the first minute gun boomed. The precedent afforded by the funeral of Queen Victoria nine years ago was closely followed. The oaken casket with the crown and cushion, regalia and insignia of the Order of the Garter thereon was borne on a gun carriage, the same as was used at the funeral of the late Queen.

The procession proceeded through Parliament street and White Hall. The public buildings were heavily draped with black and purple throughout the route. Leaving the district of official dominion, the cortege passed through the Horse Guards parade and thence along the Mall.

Stands Filled With Spectators.

From the Mall the procession passed Marlborough House, emerging in St. James street, proceeding to Picadilly and along that thoroughfare to Hyde Park corner, where it entered the park and passed along the popular drive to Marble Arch. Emerging from the park, the procession followed Edgeware road to Oxford and Cambridge terraces, and turned up these wide thoroughfares on either side of which throughout their length of half a mile were unbroken stretches of temporarily erected stands, filled to their capacity with black garbed humanity.

By arrangement between the Westminster City Council and the Paddington Borough Council the signs of mourning along the route were uniform. Venetian masts with laurel wreaths at their tops had been erected at intervals.

The route was lined with thousands of troops, behind which were countless thousands of people in black, on the pavements below, the house fronts above, balconies, windows and roofs crowded.

Military Represented.

Every branch of the military service of the Empire was represented in the long columns which preceded the gun carriage. An officer of the minister's staff, mounted, headed the procession with the bands of the household cavalry. The territorial colonials came just behind, and then other volunteer corps. The Honorable Artillery Company, officers of the Indian regiments in their picturesque uniforms and turbans, followed by detachments of infantry, foot guards, Royal Engineers, Garrison, Field and Horse Artillery, cavalry of the line and regiments of the Household cavalry followed.

The Royal Marine Infantry and Artillery and naval representatives came next, with the military attaches of the foreign embassies, the officers of the headquarters' staff, the staff of the field marshal and the massed bands playing solemn funeral marches.

The great officers of the Royal

KING GEORGE

House of England, headed by the Earl Marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, were followed by a non-commissioned officer of the Household Cavalry bearing the royal standard.

In Army Uniforms.

The King rode between his German Emperor and the Duke of Connaught, all in brilliant British army uniforms and next in line was a group of rulers, heirs to the throne, princes of great states and special ambassadors.

The members of the royal houses on horseback followed in this order: First file, the Duke of Connaught, King George, Emperor William; second, King Haakon of Norway, King George of Greece, King Alfonso of Spain; third, King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, King Frederick of Denmark, King Manuel of Portugal, fourth, Prince Yussuf Zyveden, heir apparent of Turkey; King Albert of Belgium, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary; fifth, Prince Sadanaru Fushimi of Japan, Grand Duke Michael of Russia, the Duke of Sparta, who is Crown Prince of Greece, and Crown Prince Ferdinand of Roumania; sixth, Prince Henry of Russia, representing the German navy; Prince Charles of

EMPEROR WILLIAM OF GERMANY.

Sweden, Prince Henry, of Holland, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, Crown Prince of Montenegro; Crown Prince Alexander of Servia; seventh, Prince Mohammed Ali, Said Pasha Ulfikar, Watsen Pasha of Egypt; the Sultan of Zanzibar.

Then followed the princes and ducal representatives of a dozen German states, the members of the English royal family, the Duke D'Aleneon and Prince Boyaradej of Siam.

KING FREDERICK OF DENMARK.

The mounted group was followed by twelve state carriages. The first was occupied by the Queen Mother Alexandra, the Russian Dowager Empress Maria, the Princess Royal and the Princess Victoria. The second carriage contained Queen Mary of Great Britain, Queen Maud of Norway, the Duke of Cornwall, heir to the British throne, and Princess Mary. The next four carriages carried royal ladies and ladies-in-waiting. The seventh carriage carried Prince Tsai Tao of China and his suite. The eighth carriage was shared by special American Ambassador Theodore Roosevelt, M. Pichon, French Foreign Minister, and Said Khan Montaz Es Sultaneh of Persia. The ninth carriage was occupied by Lord Strathcona, Lord High Commis-

KING GEORGE OF GREECE.

THE QUEEN MOTHER

that gave the opening for succession to the lesser dignitaries, the ambassadors, naval and military of like importance.

The attitude of Ireland toward was shown by the fact that the Lord Mayor of Dublin city sent no representative to Victoria's funeral.

Through the Norman Gateway.

The route through the park from Windsor to St. George's Chapel was through the Norman gateway.

It was a bitter winter's day when the body of Queen Victoria was borne up the hill to the mediaeval gates of St. George. Yesterday the gates at Windsor opened to receive the casket of another Edward, with the ground of an English spring on the trees and grass and a progressive warmth in the air. Gray walls, elements under the sway of winter, was flying at half-mast.

In the procession before and behind mass of humanity that lined the route kept back by soldiers for the rough.

Inside the Chapel.

The clergy were to the service in the chapel while the sorrowful cortege was on the way. Dr. Gibbs, Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishop of Winchester, the Bishop of Oxford, the Dean of Windsor and the three bishops respectively of Gibraltar, Clogher and Rochester, the Prelate of the Garter, and Registrar of the Garter.

Amid an impressive hush the coffin was carried into the chapel, closely followed by the King, the Queen, St. George's Chapel, there to take part in the ceremonies of the Knights of the Garter, who had elected the Queen, who was her yesterday.

KING MANUEL OF PORTUGAL.

Gen. French Arrives.

Quebec, May 21.—Gen. French, the French arrived in Quebec this morning on board the Allan liner Virginian from Liverpool. He was met at the wharf by Gen. Lake, Colonel Lessard of Ottawa, Lieut.-Colonel Gelletier, D.O.C., Quebec, and Captain Victor Pelletier, A.D.C. to the Lieutenant-Governor. At 9 o'clock this morning ended the funeral services celebrated in memory of the King in the cathedral.

Sons Must Support Aged Father.

Sandwich, May 21.—F. X. Meloche, years old, of Anderton Township, secured a judgment against two of his sons at the Assizes, requiring them to pay $1.50 apiece a week for his maintenance. He claimed that the sons were not living up to the agreement made fifteen years ago, when he deeded his farm in Anderton Township to them.

Give Children Good B

YOU may say bread is bre... plenty of it. In a way... But it makes considerable... bread you give your childre... "filler" or whether it count... there is a vital difference be... different flours.

The most healthful a... in the world is bread made ...

Royal House...

This bread isn't merely something ... to fill a hungry stomach. It is ... perfectly balanced food, rich in strength-giving blood-making material.

It counts for long life.

It counts for a vigorous constitution.

It counts for bone and muscle ... and good rich blood.

And this because "Royal House ... heir" is made from the finest wheat in the world — the famous Red Fyfe—richest in high quality, gluten, most in demand, and most valued in all the markets of the world.

Write for Ogilvie "Book for a Cook" —

OGILVIE FLOUR MILL...

For sale by J. E. WA...

At 40

You will regret you did not attend one of Canada's High Grade Business Colleges, located at

Peterborough	Welland
Orangeville	Wingham
Clinton	Walkerton

Now is a good time to enter.

Our graduates receive from $400 to $1500 per annum.

Mail Courses in 100 different subjects.

Write for particulars.

Orangeville Business College

GEO. SPOTTON, PRINCIPAL.

GET A PRACTICAL EDUCATION

by attending the famous

ELLIOTT Business College

TORONTO, ONT.

It has paid others, it will pay you. Write to-day for our handsome catalogue.

Equip yourself to attain the best Results out of Life by a course of instruction in the

NORTHERN Business College

Owen Sound.

Individual instruction in all Business subjects.

Enter any time.

Information free.

29 successful years.

C. A. Fleming, G. D. Fleming,
Principal. Secretary.

British CANADIAN BUSINESS COLLEGE TORONTO

Term of 1909

Ten per cent chapel ten per cent better for Business, Shorthand and Matric. Booklet free. R. A. Farquharson, Prin. Cor. Yonge and Bloor Streets, Toronto.

Wingham carried a by-law granting C. Lloyd & Son a bonus of $1,800 and a free site for enlarging their door factory.