

RAGING HEADACHE STOPPED AT ONCE

When He Took "Fruit-a-tives"

SHANLEY, Ont., Sept. 23rd, 1910.

"You certainly have the Greatest discovered Headache Cure in the world. Before 'Fruit-a-tives' came before the public, I suffered tortures from Headaches caused by Stomach Disorders.

"One of your travellers called on me when I had one of my raging headaches and had my head almost raw from external applications.

"I hated to see any person coming into the store (much less a commercial traveller) and I told him very curtly that I had a headache but he insisted on my trying 'Fruit-a-tives'."

"I did so, with what I would call amazing results. They completely cured me and since then (nearly six years ago) it is only necessary for me to take one occasionally to prevent me in my present good health. I was 65 years old yesterday and have been a general store keeper at the above address for twenty-five years."

W.M. PITT

$100,000 Fire at Kelso.

North Bay, March 31.—Fire which broke out at Kelso at two o'clock yesterday morning assumed large proportions. The Miller Hotel, of three storeys with 200 rooms, was destroyed, as were also: The Prospect House, Bank of Ottawa's office, Davis and Dunn's general store, and several other stores.

The loss is estimated at $100,000.

The fire started in the Miller Hotel from a lamp explosion, the flames spreading very rapidly.

Efforts to save goods and effects from flames resulted in many narrow escapes from death. Several minor accidents occurred, but nothing serious.

Northerly winds saved the property of the T. and N. O. Railway. Lack of water prevented the fire being combated, but a railway engine was rushed from Ironquois Falls, and moved the freight cars, loaded with goods for Porcupine camp, out of the danger zone.

6 YEAR OLD GIRL Cured of Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Alex. Moore, of James St., Oxford, N.S., says: "Booth's Kidney Pills cured our little daughter, Christian, age six years, of many symptoms of kidney weakness. She complained of a sore back, the kidney secretions were frequent and uncontrollable, especially at night. Her stomach was weak and her appetite poor. This caused her to have frequent headaches, and the least exertion would tire her. We had tried many remedies, but she did not improve. Finally we learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and procured a box. In a short time she was well and does not now complain about her back, the kidney secretions have become normal and she plays around the house with no apparent fatigue. We always recommend Booth's Kidney Pills."

Booth's Kidney Pills carry a guarantee that if you derive no benefit your money will be refunded. Booth's Kidney Pills are a specific for all diseases of the kidneys and bladder. A Sad Death.

Just a week after the death of her father, Mr. Samuel Queen, in Egremont, Mrs. John Chapman, of Markdale, was called upon to mourn the death of her only sister, Mrs. Alex. Allan, also of Egremont township, on Saturday, March 25th. The circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Allan are very sad. She remained at the home of her parents during the illness of her father, and until after the funeral on Monday of last week. On Thursday following, she gave birth to twin girls. On Friday night last, in her weakened condition, she suffered an attack of pneumonia, and died the next afternoon at four o'clock. She was about 38 years of age, and was married about 16 years ago, and leaves seven children with a grief stricken husband to mourn the loss of a loving mother and wife. Interment took place Monday, March 27th, to Maplewood cemetery, Rev. Mr. Hartley officiating at house and grave. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman attended the funeral. The sympathy of many Markdale friends goes out to Mrs. Chapman in her double bereavement.

Hitched to a rig which was being hauled for Meaford the other day a steam of bronchitis belonging to Mr. A.C. Paterson, our general store keeper, stamped. After running about a mile and a half they were stopped by Mr. J. W. Patton. Fortunately no damage was done other than breaking a few eggs.

Thomas Duffy, Jr., had a rather exciting experience while driving home from church in Grand Valley a week ago Sunday morning. When at the culvert at Knox Church, the horse choked on a too-tight collar, and suddenly stopping dropped through the railing and down into the water. Two young girls with him, jumped as the cutter went over, but Tom went with the outfit, landing on top of the horse. Strange to say the cutter suffered scarcely a scratch, and neither the horse nor harness were injured.

MIRACULOUS RESULTS IN DUNVEGAN, C.B.

GIN PILLS Brought Relief

"I suffered untold misery even when under treatment from the best doctors for over ten months, and nothing seemed to do me any good or relieve my painful condition. My trouble was Inflammation of Kidneys and Bladder. I finally determined to go to the Victoria Hospital, Halifax, for treatment. Two days, however, before my intended departure, a neighbor called and happening to have a GIN PILL in his pocket, insisted on my taking it. I did so and six hours after taking it, the results and benefits I derived were simply nothing more or less than miraculous. Instead of going to the hospital, I went for a box of GIN PILLS with the result that I am a cured man. I recommend GIN PILLS to everyone suffering from Kidney Trouble."

"Nonsense. One scarcely goes from Paris to America by way of Strassburg. He had but a thousand francs. It would not carry him there after his expense of bringing himself and madame here. He has gone to Denes and that, my friends, is where we shall find him in Denesia. And we must find him soon or our game will be knocked into rubbish."

"But what, then, of me?" asked Mme. du Barry. "Am I to starve or be dragged to Denesia with you?"

"I think you had better go home. I will furnish you the money," said Casparin.

Placed at this, Mme. du Barry took the money and the next train to Paris. "Now, my friends, we must hurry," said Casparin. "That dog has a good start and will reach Denesia before we do. But perhaps he will not be able to warn my brother. Now I will tell you my plan. You all know the way to Trolle. I must leave you here, putting all at once to Denesia, putting a bold face on the matter, as if I had been merely to Berlin on a pleasure

"But what, then, of me?" asked Mme. du Barry.

"I am surprised to see the price at home so soon. You, on the other hand, array yourselves in good clothing and go at once to my castle on the edge of the Green forest and announce yourselves as my guests. I have invited from Paris. I am well known in all parts of Denesia and cannot be seen plotting with inferiors. My guests you can go and come at will and in disguise carry our plans to execution."

"Good!" said Vandal. "Your castle on the Green forest, you told me, was due north from Trolle, the lower town."

"Yes. Any one could find it."

So Casparin left his good advice and went on to Paris. He was in obedience to his commands, for he had little but little to do.

They were well supplied with clothing, purchased at the large stores in the way.

There was as yet no road from Trolle to the Green forest, and the road within the limits of the Green forest were rapidly being opened to the public.

At that time Trolle, situated within the border, was the terminus of a new line from Gorman to Trolle. Trolle, like small towns in most any country, was a busy place. Travelers rarely passed by. Those who know best make the little town of Trolle a stopping place. The houses were few and far between. Prosperity seemed to be somewhat of a stranger.

There was but one inn and that was from imposing. Still they were not 57, and there was no diligence office. Trolle before the following morning they went to the inn. They had been the only passengers in the train and were therefore the only guests at the inn.

They were received with a great show of eager hospitality. They ate and ate and felt refreshed.

To pass away the time they drew up in a room opening off the little billiard drawing room. This was a game room, and four men were playing at a huge, uncut billiard table.

Vandal and his companions stood looking at the game.

"Well, and one of the players after a time, 'this is thirsty business. Have some good beer brought down.' He spoke in the German tongue, though scarcely what would be heard in Berlin.

A bell was rung, and in a short time a serving girl came in and took the order.

"To the health of the good ladies!" they said and drank the toast.

As the waitress passed out the eyes of Vandal followed her. He suddenly nudged Reber and moved toward the door.

In the poorly furnished little drawing room a tall woman sat at a table with her head bowed in her hands. She was neatly dressed for such a place.

"That is our man!" whispered Vandal to Reber. "He has heard our voices and hides his head. I know the town. I gave it to Mme. du Barry. It is the very same, for the patterns of the gowns are in my memory. Husband will make sure."

Reber and Robello, the latter of whom did not hear the conversation,

I'm the Cream of the West Miller, and I'll tell you what I'll do—I'll guarantee your next batch of bread

I WILL guarantee it to rise away up out of the pans, and make as delicious bread as you ever tasted. The loaves will be the biggest and most wholesome you ever baked with the same amount of flour. I'll guarantee it or you get back the money you paid for the flour! Now see:

Just go to your grocer and buy a bag of Cream of the West Flour. Take it home and bake it up.

Give it a trial.

Now when you give it a fair trial, if you honestly feel that you have not had splendid satisfaction with Cream of the West Flour, return the unused portion of the bag and get your money back.
