

Markdale Standard.

VOL. XXXII. - WHOLE NO. 1622.

MARKDALE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1912.

$1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

LOCAL and GENERAL

Coalter Bros. return on Tuesday next, January 9th, to buy horses. The highest price paid by the Markdale Furniture Company for new logs.

The Canadian Jubilee Singers will give a concert in Marsh's hall on the 23rd of January.

Turner's Blood and Iron Pills make weak people strong. 25c. per box at Turner's Drug store.

Horses Wanted—Roch Marien, the Montreal horse buyer, is billed for Markdale on Tuesday next, Jan. 9.

Comfortable furnished rooms and board for children attending school, clerks, etc. Mrs. G. B. Holmes, Toronto st.

Mr. Jno. McGurrie, of Dundalk bought of Frank Taylor, of Markdale, a pair of horses last week, his fine span of two year-old fillies for the handsome sum of $550. This is the best yet as far as we know.

Mayor Riddell, of Orangeville, refused to accept the honorarium of $50 that the town council voted him for his services as Mayor, and stated that he would not take one cent for the time and work he has given the municipality.

Robert F. Beckley, piano tuner, recently with Hinzman & Co., will be in Markdale January 4th, 5th and 6th. All work guaranteed. Country orders promptly attended to. Leave orders here. See large cards in windows.

The Artesia Municipal Election Chapter will meet in their Lodge room (Workmen's Hall) on Jan. 11th. As it is the annual business meeting a full attendance is requested. Geo. H. Cairns, Comp. Scribe.

The young girls of Miss Murdoch's Sunday School class gave her a pleasant surprise on Friday evening when they called at her home, one of the number read a very pleasing address and presented her with a very appropriate gift on behalf of all present.

The Toronto Telegram mentions Dr. Jameson, M.P.P., as a possible appointment to the Speakership in the Legislative Assembly. In the event of his appointment this portion of the riding will be stuck up with both Provincial and Dominion Speakerships that we will expect all outsiders to raise their hats to us—Dundalk Herald.

The horse of Mr. Jas. Tempest, of this line, Euphrasia, with contents was destroyed by fire early Friday morning. Mr. Tempest and wife, with two children and Mr. Tempest's father escaped, but the contents were consumed. The cause of the blaze is a mystery. No insurance. Much sympathy is expressed for the family in their misfortune.

In a paragraph which appeared in these columns two weeks ago regarding a "Baby Show" at Bethel, Conn., which the little daughter of Miss David Stevens (nee Miss Mary Elliott) formerly of Markdale, was awarded first prize, an error appeared in which the word "said" instead of "first" passed unnoticed until nearly one quarter of the edition was printed, but then promptly corrected. We regret this oversight.

The Markdale Farmers' Club meets in the office of the Department of Agriculture on Saturday, Jan. 12th, at 2.30 p.m. Mr. Walker will read a paper on Summer and Winter Roads. Every farmer who attends will be given a opportunity to discuss the problems connected with road making, and it is expected that action will be taken to have some important changes made in the methods now employed in keeping up our roads.

Miss Nora McCrea, of Merrickville, teacher at Soper's School, Leeds, furnished a girl of nine with perhaps a little more misdirection than she intended, the flooring apparatus coming down on her head on the pupil's head.

Such trouble ensued for the teacher, the child having taken ill. Miss McCrea paid the foster father $500 to settle the affair. But the Children's Aid Society, of Toronto, heard of it, and had Miss McCrea up before the Court in Brockville last week. Judge McDonald then, after hearing the evidence, said the maximum penalty was two years, but he would impose only a week in gaol. Miss McCrea collapsed on hearing her doom and was led out her calling weeping bitterly.

Reeve Jackson Re-elected.

Considerable interest was manifested in the elections in Markdale on Monday, the hottest fight being for the Reeve ship between Messrs. A. Jackson and R. W. Ennis, the former winning out by a majority of 19 over his opponent. The following are the figures:

Jackson 105
Ennis 86

Mayor for Jackson 19
Markdale's Council for 1912 will be as follows: Reeve, A. Jackson; Councillors, R. G. Noble, Andrew Walker, J. C. Kentner, J. C. Shute, the councillors being elected by acclamation.

Four names appeared on the ballot paper for School Trustee, with three to be elected. The following was the result:

H. Knott 160
Dr. A. Brown 148
J. F. Ritchie 121
C. W. Rutledge 67

First three elected.

The Artesia Municipal Elections on Monday were keenly contested for all offices. For Reeve, Deputy Reeve McKenzie was the winner by 12, the vote being T.R. McKenzie 390, J. A. Boyd 368.

For Deputy Reeve the former Councillors Donald McLeod and W. J. Caswell had a close run, the former winning by one. The vote was McLeod 336, Caswell 335.

For Councillors the vote was: Geo. Meldrum 402, A. D. McLeod 341, J. L. Graham 305, Sam Thompson 274. Three elected. Mr. McLeod and Mr. Graham have each had a year's experience at the council board. Mr. Meldrum, who secured a large vote, is a new man.

Minis' new saw mill was raised on Thursday, Dec. 21st, and is now half closed in. The building is 50x100 feet. Messrs. John Dillon and Thos. Cook did the framing, and it went together slick and without accident.

Messrs. Norque Young and Willard Henry attended an Old Boys' Reunion at the Meaford High School on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McFadden, of Port Elgin, returned home on Wednesday after visiting friends here and in Dufferin County.

Mr. Lorne Talbert and Miss Lynne, of Grainger, spent the holidays with their uncle, A. McCutcheon, and other relatives in town.

Mr. Arnold Thurston, of Toronto, son of Mr. W. H. Thurston of the Flesherton Advance, gave The Standard a friendly call last week.

Miss M. F. Winterburn, of Pleasant Valley, has returned home after spending the Christmas vacation visiting friends in Toronto and Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McFadden, and Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Rutledge, of Mono Centre, attended the funeral of the late James Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Courtice, of Collingwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. Broughton and two boys of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Young of Toronto, spent New Year's at the Methodist parsonage.

Any amount of money to lend on mortgage security at the lowest rate on interest. Expenses low. No fines. Properties valued personally. No waiting for convenience of inspectors. W. L. Young, Markdale, Appraiser for Canada Permanent Loan Company.

Say, Friend! If you have decided to buy a Piano, Organ, Sewing Machine, Kitchen Cabinet, Cream Separator, or Scales from one to five ton capacity, go to Thomas' Music Store, Markdale. He handles only the best he can get. Do you want your piano tuned? leave your order with him on or before the 10th Jan., 1912. Store opposite Haskett's hardware.

Mr. J. A. Watt, of Salem, Wellington County, Ont., won the prize for the junior champion steer at the Chicago Live Stock Show. Victor, the winning entry, declared by judge to be the greatest steer ever awarded the grand championship, was shorn of his blue ribbons and hard won laurels and transformed into beef steak. After winning all the honors that it is possible for a steer to win, Victor was put on the block and sold at auction to the highest bidder. The bidding was spirited from the start and was finally sold to a Chicago Department Store at ninety cents a pound, the highest price ever paid for a grade champion.

PERSONAL

Mr. Milson Henry spent Christmas in Chatsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Werry are visiting at W. A. Neely's.

Mr. Earl Lever, of Toronto, spent New Year's at his home here.

Mr. Roswell Blain, of Brampton, was in town for the week-end.

Mr. R. O. Whitty, of Rochester, N.Y., spent New Year's in town.

Mr. Wilbert Chard visited with Owen Sound friends on New Year's.

Miss Mabel Tuck, of Mount Forest, is visiting at her home here.

Mr. Russell Allison spent the week-end with relatives in Owen Sound.

Mr. W. Galbraith, of Chatsworth is now on the Merchants' Bank staff here.

Mr. Fred A. Chard, of Toronto, spent the Christmas week at his home here.

Mr. J. E. Dowdle, of Swift Current, Sask., is calling on friends hereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Levi, of Owen Sound, spent New Year's at the former's home here.

Miss Nina Matthews and Master Lewis spent New Year's with relatives in Chatsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin, Elmhurst, spent New Year's with Mr. and Mrs. John Boales.

Mr. John Orr, of the suburbs, left last week to visit friends in Thelthof, Simcoe County.

Mr. J. McCormick and Mrs. Dales, of Beeton, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Allison recently.

Mr. Garfield McCutcheon, of Elva, Man., son of A. McCutcheon, arrived home on Monday to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Neely and Master Morris spent Christmas week at Mount Forest and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chalmers and children spent New Year's with Mr. Chalmers' parents in Owen Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McFarland and Miss Elda were in Hamilton for New Year's. Mr. McFarland returned on Tuesday.

Messrs. Norque Young and Willard Henry attended an Old Boys' Reunion at the Meaford High School on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McFadden, of Port Elgin, returned home on Wednesday after visiting friends here and in Dufferin County.

Mr. Lorne Talbert and Miss Lynne, of Grainger, spent the holidays with their uncle, A. McCutcheon, and other relatives in town.

Mr. Arnold Thurston, of Toronto, son of Mr. W. H. Thurston of the Flesherton Advance, gave The Standard a friendly call last week.

Miss M. F. Winterburn, of Pleasant Valley, has returned home after spending the Christmas vacation visiting friends in Toronto and Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McFadden, and Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Rutledge, of Mono Centre, attended the funeral of the late James Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Courtice, of Collingwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. Broughton and two boys of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Young of Toronto, spent New Year's at the Methodist parsonage.

Death of Walter Douglas.

After some twelve months or more of failing health, Mr. Walter Douglas, of the suburbs, passed peacefully away on Sunday last, aged 70 years, 8 months. The funeral took place this Wednesday to Markdale cemetery at 2.30. Deceased was a native of County Wexford, Ireland, and with his parents emigrated when 11 years old, locating first at Burrill's Rapids, Leeds County, and two years later to Lansdown, remaining some four years, then moving to Ashland, Ohio, where he remained five years, but preferring the British flag he returned to Canada upwards of forty years ago, buying the farm in Euphrasia which he cleared of timber and converted into a beautiful home where he spent the residue of his days. In 1874 he married Miss M. Morwood, who died three years ago. Six children survive: E. Wesley, on the homestead; M. Amelia, at home, W. Sanford, Argonia, Sask.; William E., Owen Sound; Frank L., Argonia, Sask.; and R. Gordon, at home.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. Douglas was an industrious citizen, kind husband and father, and good neighbor, in religion Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

Death of Harold Coleman.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death on Saturday last in Toronto of Harold, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Thos. J. Coleman, of this place, brought sorrow to many a heart in Markdale, and especially to the family. Harold accepted a situation last July in a store in Toronto. Last week he was stricken with an affection of the throat, which went to the heart with above result. It would appear that it was a contagious malady, as prompt interment in Toronto was necessary without the relatives even being allowed to view the remains. Harold had for years delivered milk to customers in Markdale, and was a much-loved fellow.

The sad tidings of the death