You Feel Moody, Irritable, Depressed?

This Languid, Lazy, Dull-Fired Feeling Comes, Your Liver is Sluggish.

THIS HOW TO CURE QUICKLY.

Even when I was young, I was robust and healthy, like other boys. I suffered from headaches, but had sort of a joyful spirit. The girls seemed to be pleased with me, and those full of fun, too. After I married, I found a lot of worries, like life itself, and those full of fear. The disease first started in my hands and wrists. The disease first started in my hands and wrists. The disease first started in my hands and wrists.

The latest indication of the progress going on in Jerusalem was the arrival a short time ago of a massive motor road roller, and the decision to equip the city with an efficient tramway system, says the American Hebrew. The walls enclose 200 acres of which 35 acres are occupied by the temple enclosure. But owing to the impossibility of housing the thousands of Jewish immigrants who still continue to arrive, building has been proceeding outside the walls to a very considerable extent.

The consequence of the presence of this external population is that first one and then another of the gates was left open by night, until to-day they are all perpetually open. Indeed, two of the gateways have no gates at all. Meanwhile the Mohammedan population is not by any means keeping pace with the Jewish, and the Holy City seems in a fair way to become once more as well as in name the capital city of the Hebrew race.

Jerusalem is soon to have its own tramway service, as a concession for the purpose has already been granted to a French company, which will start laying the track lines in the course of the summer.

An English company has applied for a concession to illuminate the city with water by the construction of large reservoirs near wells situated at a distance of about sixteen miles from Jerusalem.

The municipality is also considering proposals for paving the streets and constructing sewage works. A modern fire-extinguishing apparatus and a telephone installation are also to be provided.

The project is of a most melancholy character for the town's successive days. There are to be church services in memory of the dead Romans preceding and succeeding Peter the Great, and then a service of intercession for the present generation.

The mass of people who have been looking forward to feasting and holidays are grumbling deeply at the turn the Czar and court are giving the forthcoming celebrations.

Fresh revelations of the disreputable methods of the Novoye Vremya have been made. Its present farcical campaign against Jews and foreigners fails to cover up the evidences of corruption.

For a long time the Vremya conducted a bitter campaign against any contracts for rebuilding the Russian fleet to Vicksburg & Maximilian. They came a significant interval of silence. Now the Vremya is printing a series of enthusiastic articles in favor of giving Vicksburg the lion's share in the enormous naval programme of $125,000,000.

BULGARIA IS PRIMITIVE.

Cattle, Horses and Wine Are All Inferior.

The Balkan war has shown the inefficiency of the Bulgarian army and the modern methods of the Bulgarians themselves, and to believe all the stories written about the Bulgars one would think the State is obtuse, as any American state of similar size. This, say the concurrent reports, is far from being the case.

The Bulgarian peasant is very primitive and his primitiveness limits his prosperity. If he exports in large quantities of wheat, barley and corn, his wine, on the other hand, is "medicinal" and his tobacco, much inferior to Turkish tobacco; his cattle are of an inferior breed, his horses are small and his hogs thin.

Then, in direct contrast, as to the balance of inferiority, the Bulgarian roses are magnificent and their perfume, captured and condensed into "attar," contributes considerably to the prosperity of the country.

In some communities the heavy demand is for light literature.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distempers.

"That bridge across the way is the laziest woman I ever saw. She never does any work about the house."

"Why doesn't her husband make her?" "Oh, he simply worships her."

"That accounts, then, for her leading an idle existence."

One on Dad.

This sent-in kid story is so touching but somehow or other it sounds strangely familiar to us. Some body will write in to-morrow and tell us that it was in Hostetter's Almanac for 1899, but we'll take a chance!

The preacher was calling at little Bobby's house.

"And do you always say your prayers at night, my little man?"

asked the clergyman.

"Yes, sir," answered Bobby,

"an' mamma does, too."

"That's right. But doesn't your papa say his prayers?"

"No—he don't have to."

"Why, what do you mean?"

"He don't have to—you see he never gets home till it's daylight,

an' then what is there to pray about?"

GAMBLING MANIA IN LONDON

Police Reveal Secretly-Appointed Gaming House.

To those who know London (England) it is no news that, given the right opportunities, it is a simple matter to discover facilities for losing it over a gambling table. The skilled youths of the capital need not restrain their propensity to court the goddesses of fortune to occasional visits to Monte Carlo or elsewhere, or the many clubs which flourish in Paris.

Public attention has been drawn lately to the opportunities afforded in London by the police raid on a gambling establishment conducted in the highly-decorous neighborhood of Whitechapel, Belgravia. Stories are told of a wealthy provincial losing $25,000 at a sitting, and another case of himself to large estates squandering his patrimony within a fortnight.

"I believe gambling to-day heavier than in the time of Charles Fox," a well-known clubman is quoted as saying. "It is rare when there is not some gossip about heavy play at certain west-end clubs."

It is outside the precincts of the clubs that the mania is found to be strong. The limited powers of the police are a serious handicap to its suppression. It is not enough to raid a house, and catch persons in the act of gambling combined.

"The police must prove that the place is a gaming house, and to do so it must be shown that the owner is deriving advantage from the gambling going on there.

One of the houses, which is described as the most magnificent gambling hall in London, is furnished throughout with exquisite drawing room, where the board of green cloth holds men and women fascinated. There is a library, a smoking room, boudoirs and darkened rest rooms for jaded players.

This house is also famed for the generous scale of its catering. Champagne is uncorked with the freedom of mineral water, and handsome plates are set out with the choicest fruits. All catering is deducted from a 3 per cent allowance made the keeper of the establishment, but he can well afford to treat his guests sumptuously, as in one night $800.00 to $250.00 may change hands.

The Best Teacher.

Old Experience Still Holds the Palm.

For real practical reliability and something to swear by, experience plain old experience is able to carry big load yet without getting swayed.

A Western woman found some-thing about food from Old Experience a good, reliable teacher. She writes:

"I think I have used almost every breakfast food manufactured, but the best to day is Grape-Nuts. Of all the east coast manufacturers, none equal Grape-Nuts in my estimation. I have not found any food to-day to match it. It is wonderful to me how strong my nerves have become."

"Under Alexander III., popular education made further advances, and at the end of his reign the number of schools founded in the second half of the nineteenth century, when the edict of the abolition of serfdom appeared. Until the year 1880, Russia only had 4,077 public schools. When in 1884, the peasants were established, the number of schools increased rapidly, and at the end of the '80s there were in Russia, 22,770 schools with 4,490,915 pupils.

"Under Alexander III., popular education made further advances, and at the end of his reign the number of schools had reached 43,385 with 2,970,000 pupils. Under the present Czar, educational matters have received increased attention. Thus the schools opened by the government were granted a State subsidy of $100 for every fifty schools, while the teachers got increases in salary.

"At the present time there are in Russia, 100,295 elementary schools with 154,177 male and female teachers and 610,510 pupils. Of these schools 610,910 have been opened under the reign of Nicholas II., the present Czar. During the same period the number of industrial schools has risen from 1,223 to 2,748. A teacher in the State schools now begins on a salary of $172 a year. After five years he draws $280. After ten years $220 and the maximum is only $270 a year."

"Grape-Nuts food has been a great help to me for I feel like a different person since I began to eat it. It is wonderful to me how strong my nerves have become."

"I advise everyone to try it, for experience is the best teacher.

"If you have any stomach trouble, can't digest your food, use Grape-Nuts food for breakfast at least, and you won't be able to praise it enough when you see how different you feel." PAPER FROM BAMBOO:

Scottish Engineers Have Perfected Plans for Its Manufacture.

Scottish engineers have perfected plans for the manufacture of paper on a large scale, from bamboo. On a site near Kagi (Japan) a factory has been installed with every requirement to deal in the first place with 300 tons of pulp per month, but with room for any development. In this case, the pulp will be treated in Formosa, and shipped in rolls or sheets to the paper mills at Kobe; just in the same manner as the wood-pulp of Norway, Sweden, Russia and Finland is shipped to the United Kingdom to feed the British paper mills.

It is hoped that in the Far East bamboo-pulp will enable Eastern mills to compete with the British and American imported paper of the finer qualities. The process of manufacture from bamboo is a more expensive one than that from wood. It is thought that experiments may cheapen the process and the supply of the cane is practically inexhaustible.

Moreover, the bamboo is a plant that can readily be cultivated. If any particular species is considered the best for paper-making purposes, it can easily be grown in any quantity.

For paper-making, the cane is cut up into small pieces, of one or two inches, then boiled with sulphur of lime, bleached by electricity, washed, machine rolled and pressed into tissue forms, and dried by steam.

A MODERN MIRACLE

We Had Eczema 25 Years and Doctors Said "No Cure."

Yet Zam-Buk has Worked Complete Cure.

This is the experience of a man of high reputation, widely known in Montreal, and whose case can readily be investigated.

Mr. T. M. Marsden, the jeweler referred to, lives at 101 Delormier Avenue, Montreal. For twenty-five years he has had eczema on his hands and wrists. The disease first started in the highly-decorous neighborhood of Winter Terrace, Belgravia. Stories are told of a wealthy provincial losing $25,000 at a sitting, and another case of himself to large estates squandering his patrimony within a fortnight.

In that time four eminent medical men tried to cure him, and each man gave up the case as hopeless.

Naturally, Mr. Marsden tried Zam-Buk. He was quite like and looked badly. I then sent for some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, used them for two weeks and was completely cured.

Colonel H. Gore-Brown, the "faint-hearted" V.C. who went through all the scenes of slaughter during the Indian Mutiny, won the Victoria Cross in the defence of Lucknow, and yet swooned at the sight of blood from a cut finger, die-drawn nearly four years ago. In

I interviewed the other day, Mr. Marsden had been absolutely permanent. From the day that I was born I have never been ill. I have no trace of eczema, and I feel sure it will never return."
