APRIL 27.

Lesson IV. - Joseph sold into Golden Medical Discovery Egypt, Gen., Chap. 27. Golden

The portion of our lesson chapter preceding the printed passage records Joseph's dreams and Jacob's favoritism. The story is perhaps the most familiar one in the Old Testament. It should be read again in its entirety.

Verse 23. The coat of many colors The marginal reading in the Revised Version for this phrase in verse 3 above is "a long garment with sleeves," the exact meaning of the phrase being uncertain.

25. A caravan of Ishmaelites-All the inland commerce of the ancient world was carried on by traders, who carried their merchandise on camels, and for purposes of mutual protection traveled in large companies from one place and from one land to another.

Spicery and balm and myrrh Products of the desert and highly prized in Egypt, where they were used in part medicinally, in part as incense, and in part in the process of embalming.

Some s dying as the result of an army the difficulty raised by the mention have thought the different names were intended to rather loosely désignate the same people. Other commentators have suggested that probably it was a mixed company of traders to whom Joseph was sold, there being both Ishmaelites and Midianites present. To this explanation the Bible narrative last year. lends much plausibility, since, according to that narrative as we now have it in Genesis, Ishmael lic Schools. and-Midian were both sons of Abraham. Their descendants would therefore be closely related and, in the earlier generations at least, have many interests in common The same biblical narrative, however, makes Joseph a cousin of the men to whom he was sold. Still another explanation and the one favored by a majority of Old Testa-

SARNIA, ONT., FEB. 5th. 1911 "I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constitution, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Pinally, I read an advertisement for "Fruit-atives' I decided to give "Fruit a tives" a trial and they did exactly what was elaimed for them. I have n them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends, and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly"
