HOW HE LIVED TO BE 102. England's Oldest Barrister Recommends Physical Exercise.

The oldest barrister in England, Mr. W. A. Gordon Hake, of Brigh. on, who is a cousin of the famous General Gordon, celebrated his 102nd birthday recently. For filty years Mr. Hake has lived at No. ? old Stone, Brighton, one of the our houses built in the reign of corge III., which, with its cobble. tone front and old-fashioned winows, is an object of much interest the town. Furnished in the arly. Victorian style, it never recouls after sunset a light of any Such is Mr. Hake's vitality that has, recovered from a serithat ous attack of bronchitis. He is the second resident of Brighton within few year's to attain the great age of 102. He attributes his long iffe plenty of physical exercise and Stemious habits. Here is a little sidelight on Mr. Hake's fondness for long walks:

was a great stickler for the tiquettle of my profession," It was the law of existence. the rules of our profession wa re not allowed to ride in a pub. conveyance. Not being able to ford a postchaise unless three of our joined me, I have often walked thirty miles rather than break through the rules?"
