STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACH

Can Only Be Had Through Rich Red Blood.

When the blood is poor and thin and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with oxidized blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentations of the food goes on, with the formation of gas and certain acids. The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; sometimes it affects the heart. When the gas is belched out through the mouth the patient is temporarily relieved, the sour risings in the throat, and the burning sensations in the throat and stomach are caused by the acid fermentations. There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or to "sweeten the stomach," as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure, rich blood which will tone up the stomach and enable it to do the work nature intended it to do, is the only road to a cure. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood—that is why they cure even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. The following is a bit of proof. Miss Minnie Greene, of Hall's Bridge, Ont., says: "About a year ago I was greatly troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate caused me pain and distress. I would feel as though I was starved, but when meal time came the sight of food caused a feeling of loathing. There were days when I could not even hold milk on my stomach, and my head would ache so that I could hardly keep from screaming. Only those who have suffered from stomach trouble know the torture I suffered. I tried almost every remedy recommended, but found not the least benefit until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These I used for a couple of months and they worked a perfect cure and I am enjoying good health and able to eat freely all kinds of food."

If you are suffering from indigestion or any other trouble due to poor watery blood, begin to cure yourself to-day by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SPEED AT WHICH YOU WALK.

A Piece of String, a Weight, and Some Knots Will Tell.

There is a very simple way of telling at what speed one walks. Take a piece of thin string, say 80 to 100 yards long. To one end tie a weight—a piece of lead or other metal, or even a stone. At a point 44 feet from the weight put a knot or loop. Then put a second knot or loop 44 feet from the first, and so on the entire length of the string put a series of knots or loops 44 feet from each other.

Take in one hand a watch with a second hand. Now drop the weight on the ground, and walk along at an ordinary pace, letting the weight remain where it fell, and allowing the knots or loops to slip through one hand. The number of knots or loops to slip through the hand in half a minute are the same as the number of miles walked in an hour.

It is always well to know the reason for what we do, says the Children's Magazine. It is not enough to know that the number of times we walk 44 feet in half a minute is the same as the number of miles we walk in an hour. We ought to know why it is so. The reason is that 44 feet is the one hundred and twentieth part of a mile, because a mile contains 5,280 feet, or 1,760 yards, and a half a minute is the one hundred and twentieth part of an hour. Therefore, we are able to walk one hundred and twentieth of a mile just as many times in one hundred and twentieth of an hour as we can walk a mile in an hour.

ARMY'S HEAVY EXPENSE.

Each German Soldier Costs at Least $238 to Peasant Family.

At a time when Germany is about to make a big increase in her army it is of interest to note the economic effect of the present peace footing upon a typical peasant family. This aspect of Germany's military burden has been made the subject of investigation, and from all reports on nearly 2,000 peasants' families in Bavaria it is seen that every soldier costs his family at least $238 during the two years of service in the army.

As the pay of the men does not suffice for their needs, their parents have to send them money and gifts that average about $36 a year. Besides this, the peasant must hire a farm laborer as a substitute for his son, which means a further expense of $90. These figures appear all the more serious when it is remembered that over half of the families included in the investigation furnished the country at least four soldiers each, while the number went as high as eight or nine in some families.

A striking feature of the situation is the virtual ruin of some small farms by the removal of the young men to do their term of service. Such cases are by no means rare. One peasant who supplied five soldiers wrote: "I should have been glad to send a few of them to school, but I am spending all my money on the army." Another, owner of three acres of land and himself a farm laborer for a part of his time, said: "My property, small enough already, was ruined by military duty." He had sent four sons into the army.

WOULD SAVE LIVES OF BIRDS

Scientist Pleads for Restriction of New Guinea Trade.

The demand for furs and feathers to add charm to the women of the world is constantly running counter to the efforts of Governments and scientists to preserve the birds and animals whose lives are sacrificed to supply these adornments. Birds of paradise are found in far Africa, but the sale for their feathers for women's wear is so profitable that measures for their protection must be adopted by the Parliaments of nations, else they soon would be exterminated.

Prof. Schillings, the German naturalist who made a reputation for himself by his camera studies of animal life in the wilds of Africa, is urging the Government to take energetic steps to prevent the extermination of these birds in German New Guinea. He points to the example of British New Guinea, where the Government prevents altogether the export of the plumes of the bird. In the German colony, on the other hand, the authorities grant permits to shoot it to any man who clears and brings under cultivation 123 acres of original forest for the German New Guinea Company. Schillings hints that whites, with hunting rights, compel the natives to assist them in finding the birds by turning their guns upon them in case of refusal. Schillings appeals to the German Government to imitate the American example and prohibit altogether the importation of feathers for millinery and similar uses. Australia, too, he says, prohibits both the import and export of plumes of birds threatened with extermination. A law against such imports has been passed by the British House of Lords, but the Commons have not yet passed it, using the argument that Germany and France would derive the chief benefit from such legislation.

Professor Schillings is greatly concerned also about certain fur-bearing animals. He things it is only a question of time when the Polar bear, the musk-ox and the silver fox will be practically exterminated. Whales and seals are yearly growing scarcer in the Arctic and Antarctic waters; in the vast forests of Russia the sable is rapidly approaching extinction, and the same is true of the chinchilla in the Andes Mountains.

HER "BEST FRIEND."

A Woman Thus Speaks of Postum.

We usually consider our best friends those who treat us best.

Some persons think tea and coffee are real friends, but watch them carefully awhile and observe that they are two of the meanest of all enemies for they stab one while professing friendship.

Tea and coffee contain a poisonous drug—caffeine—which injures the delicate nervous system and frequently sets up disease in one or more organs of the body, if its use is persisted in.

"I had heart palpitation and nervousness for four years and the doctor told me the trouble was caused by coffee. He advised me to leave it off, but I thought I could not," writes a Western lady.

"On the advice of a friend I tried Postum and it so satisfied me I did not care for coffee after a few days' trial of Postum.

"As weeks went by and I continued to use Postum my weight increased from 98 to 118 pounds, and the heart trouble left me. I have used it a year now and am stronger than I ever was. I can hustle up stairs without any heart palpitation, and I am free from nervousness.

"My children are very fond of Postum and it agrees with them. My sister liked it when she drank it at my house; now she has Postum at home and has become very fond of it. You may use my name if you wish as I am not ashamed of praising my best friend—Postum." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Postum now comes in new concentrated form called Instant Postum. It is regular Postum, so processed at the factory that only the soluble portions are retained.

A spoonful of Instant Postum with hot water, and sugar and cream to taste, produce instantly a delicious beverage.

Write for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

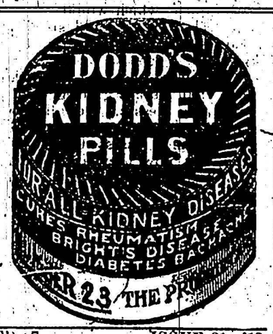
DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS



All the Tired Nervous Women

CAN FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Madame Perreault Tells How She Cured Her Kidneys With Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Found Health and Contentment.

Verner, Ont., May 19 (Special)—"I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well." Those are the words of Madame Eugene Perreault, a highly-respected lady of this place and mother of a large family. For twenty years she was a sufferer. But, let her tell her own story.

"I was always tired and nervous," she states. "I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My limbs were heavy and I had a dragging sensation across my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perreault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, rundown, pain-racked women of Canada. Madame Perreault found a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They simply cured her kidneys.

OPIUM MENACE TO FRANCE

THE BALEFUL DRUG IS POISONING THE NAVY.

Revelations Which Startle Entire Nation Concerning the Habit's Growth.

A great outcry has arisen throughout France over the revelations made by the well-known writer and duellist, Rouzier Dorcieres, concerning the hold that opium smoking has obtained on the French navy in southern seaports.

M. Dorcieres, who went on a special mission for Le Matin, reveals a state of things which the nation finds it difficult to realize—namely that "opium is poisoning our navy." He says in Toulon alone, the chief naval port, there are no less than 163 opium dens. In the same town he has seen officers in the houses of accommodating hostesses smoking as many as eighty or a hundred pipes in a single evening.

"I have seen," he says, "the degrading traffic of dealers in the drug, who infest our Mediterranean ports, in numberless deals, combinations, and calculations, and the loathesome influence of those who, having already poisoned themselves in the colonies, continue the same process in France, and these are officers in command, with power to lead other human beings to ruin."

Menace to National Life.

All along the Mediterranean on both sides, he says, at Marseilles, Hyeres, and the Gulf of Juan, at Nice, and Villafranca, at Ajaccio and Algiers, as well as at Toulon and also at the northern ports, flourishing opium dens are found with victims whose numbers are increasing with a rapidity that menaces the national life.

The police and civic authorities, it is stated, can do nothing. Under the present laws only dealing in opium is a penal offence. To smoke it, to induce others to smoke privately or for money, or to possess a large stock of the drug, is legal.

"When one thinks," says M. Dorcieres, "that the Chinese republic, by a new law, puts to death any person smoking opium in that country, and we Frenchmen, who regard ourselves as the most intelligent and best policed nation of the west, allow with folded arms French brains to be ruined by this drug, one is speechless."

Sold Under State Guarantee.

"A customs official can search any house for a bottle of spirits that is undeclared, or for a smuggled one-cent box of matches, but the French code is impotent before the importation of narcotics. Against opium, ether, morphine, hashish, and cocaine, manufactured and consumed indoors, nothing can be done. All the police are able to do is to arrest some waiter or messenger boy who is caught selling the stuff."

At Toulon, he says, a town which was formerly bright and happy, social life is rapidly coming to a standstill. The whole outward life of the town seems to be dying.

M. Dorcieres points out as an extraordinary paradox that this terrible scourge is actually one of the principal state manufactures in France's greatest colony, Indo-China, where it is sold under a state guarantee as freely as tobacco is in France and contributes more than one-sixth of the entire revenue of the country.

Not Altogether a Calamity.

"You crushed that thumb when you were a boy, did you?"

"Yes."

"And that, I suppose, is what made the nail grow out in that thick, shapeless fashion. What a misfortune!"

"Not such an awful misfortune, mister. That thumb nail comes in mighty handy sometimes for a screwdriver."

KIND ACTION COST HIM $2,300

Motorist Must Pay for Injuries to Women He Assisted.

At least one modern good Samaritan has cause to regret his kindly action.

Prof. Gaston Daumas was automobiling in the forest of Fontainebleau, France, with two of his pupils on one of the few fine days of last summer. In the depths of the woods he passed another automobile which was in distress. Mr. Daumas stopped his car and inquired if he could be of any assistance. The other automobilist explained that it would take him some time to repair his machine, but he would be greatly obliged if the stranger would take the two ladies who had been in the broken down car back to Fontainebleau.

M. Daumas was inclined to shirk, as his car was only a 12 horse-power and the two ladies were of such generous proportions that to say the least their presence would crowd the car. His good nature, however, prevailed and a start was made. Before two miles were covered an accident happened on a descent. The automobile swerved and the two women were thrown from their seats and badly injured. One of the women later sued M. Daumas for $4,000 damages and the other for $600. It was in vain that M. Daumas pleaded that he was under no contract to convey the ladies and that they were trying to make him pay for an excess of good nature. The code was against him and the court awarded $2,000 to one of the plaintiffs and $300 to the other.

If Your Color is Bad, if You Suffer From Pimples, Here is Good Advice.

Fine Results in Two Weeks.

Miss Nettie E. Callaghan, a well-known young lady in Middleton, writes as follows: "I was affected for two years with a rash, and ugly looking pimples that spread over my face. My color was poor, and my blood evidently completely out of order. Certainly it was a most despairing sort of a case, because various treatments did but little to help me. A friend of mine in Toronto, Ont., advised me to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills, so I sent at once for five boxes. In two weeks I felt like new—looks improved, spirits rose, and I felt I was getting well. I have used this remedy for a long time, and now wouldn't be without it."

If you are in ailing health, have blood disorders, stomach trouble, or headaches, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will help you quickly. All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25s. per box, five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

POISON IN THE POTATO.

Beneficent Ptomaines Discovered in the Tuber.

"Poison in the potato" is an alarming caption, but consumers of the "murphy" may set their minds at rest. According to a writer in The London Lancet the poison in question has more of a beneficent than a maleficent action.

Though the poisonous alkaloid and glucoside known as solanine is a normal constituent of the healthy potato, references to toxicological literature fail to furnish any decisive evidence that the tuber has caused any widespread or serious illness. In these days, when alarming symptoms of poisoning may sometimes be traced to food in which, for some mysterious reason, the poisons known as ptomaines have elaborated themselves, it is just as well when searching for the fons et origo mali not to forget the potato, for under certain conditions solanine may be found in unusual quantity, and this alkaloid may set up the usual disturbance which are characteristic of irritant poison. In the normal potato the amount seldom exceeds 0.01 per cent., but this may easily be exceeded in the diseased potato.

It appears to occur in larger proportion in the peel, so that there may be reasons for avoiding the "jacket." Though not very soluble in water, it is probable that boiling removes some of the alkaloid. As already stated, however, there is little in toxicological records which amounts to a serious indictment against the potato, and the small doses which occur are stated by some authorities to be an excellent sedative, more efficacious in long-standing neuralgia, especially when neuritis is present, than either antipyrine or antifebrin.

The English savant adds that of tentimes a judicious diet of potatoes would be of greater benefit to a good many self-physicking people than a dose of some antipyretic substance which they regard as adapted to relieve all headaches whatsoever their origin.

Dr. Hindhede, the Danish food scientist, has just published some new results of his experiments. In fact, he was in every way suited by the potato fare and was quite prepared to go on living on it.
