WHEN THEY WERE BABIES

RECOLLECTIONS THAT STAY WITH THE GROWNUPS.

Jerry de Windt Met the Prince Early Memories of a Noted English Preacher.

What is your earliest rememberance? Every one of us can recall some trivial incident — probably some trivial incident — which has remained vividly outlined in our memories.

An older uncle, with whom I was much more familiar, gave a penny to a monkey in my presence.
I can remember the jingle of the monkey on the pavement, the dive of the monkey after it and the question he went through when he had lost it before giving it up to his master.

"My father, who corroborated these recollections, says I could not have been quite two years old at the time. I think, therefore, that they furnish a somewhat exceptional instance of early memory."

"No doubt, the circumstances of the brief change from one home to another and to entirely different surroundings must have done something to stamp the events on my mind."

Sir Archibald Hunter, Governor of Gibraltar, is to resign and be succeeded by Sir Herbert Miles.

Sir William Osler severely denounced voluntary hospitals at a conference in London.

The militants made a determined attempt to raid the Cabinet offices downing street, London, on Saturday.

For purposes of entertainment the King and Queen when they visited Lord Derby's seat in Lancashire turned into a playhouse for a music hall performance.

iting New York.

The port of Hoboken, N.J., has demanded better food, better sleeping accommodation, and a nine-hour day.

— The Queen of Capitals.

"I impressed itself on my mind that evening, seated in an old-fashioned bazaar, vis-a-vis with a host of mine. I briskly took his hand and said, 'I'll give you three-quarters of a million dollars if you will marry me.'"

— Harry de Windt, the explorer, is to Paris for his first rememberance.

I was born and bred in France and only half English; when Paris was the capital of the empire, when Paris was the Queen of Capitals.

ioned bazaar, vis-a-vis with a
quarters of a million dollars if you will marry me.'"

— The Gentle Hint.

Mrs. Boreman had dropped in just for a minute, and the minute had extended already to an hour and a half. This was displeasing to Thomas, who said and thought nothing. "Dear little chap!" gushed Mrs. Boreman. "What are you thinking about so deeply, my little man?" "I was thinking," said Thomas promptly, "if it wasn't time for you to go." "Hush, Thomas," said his mother hastily.
"Look, daddy will have to spank you if you say such things. You mustn't be offended, Mrs. Bore-man." Children have such a dreadful habit of blurtin out the truth without thinking!" Strangely enough, Mrs. Boreman remembered that she had a train to catch.

— Bound to Bargain.

What's the price of this silk?" asked a deaf old lady of a young shopman.

"Seventeen shillings?" was the reply.

"Seventeen shillings?" she exclaimed. "I'll give you thirteen."

"Only seven shillings, ma'am, is the price of the silk," replied the honest shopman.

"Oh, seven shillings?" rejoined the lady sharply. "Well, I'll give you five."

— Mother's Tongue.

"Do you realize the power of the mother tongue?" asked the young man who professed interest in literature.

"Yes, and so does father," replied the young woman.

— A Vegetable-Juju.

In my mind's eye I can see the dog go pale at this moment.

"Apparently I could not walk, but I can remember crawling and sitting my way into a neighbor's house, where I appropriated a small wooden horse belonging to a woman."

— SWAT THE SPARROW, NOW.

The Chirpy Little Bird Is a Nuisance in City and Country.

To the slogan of "Swat the Fly" will be well added that of "Kill the Sparrow." Flies and sparrows belong in the same class as nuisances and menaces to health, says a writer in a health magazine.

Most birds deserve to be protected for some service they perform, but when all the evidence has been submitted in the sparrow's case it will stand condemned. Perhaps it occasionally eats a harmful worm, but the greater part of its food is of grain. Then, it is the constant enemy of native birds which, unlike itself, live mostly on worms and insects that are injurious to trees and crops.

For many years the sparrow was unknown except in the towns, and it gained the name of "town bird."

But it later years it has spread all over the country, until now it is probably a greater nuisance than a benefit.

— Finally, on day she made the change to Postum, and quickly her headaches disappeared. One morning while she was drinking Postum soil freely and with such relish, I asked for a taste.

— That started me on Postum and I now drink it more freely than I did coffee, which never comes into our house now.

Co., Windsor, Ont. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more, and some people who like strong things put in a heaping teaspoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate, and have it served that way in the future.

THE DANGER OF ANAEMIA

Consumption May Follow Unless its Ravages are Checked.

There is danger to every girl and every woman who falls a victim to anaemia — that is bloodlessness.
They become listless, feel too weak, too wretched and too hopeless to take prompt steps to stop the trouble.

Too often through neglect, they drift into a worse condition, forgetting that anaemia frequently leads on to consumption. If you are anaemic in the least degree you should lose no time in beginning treatment to increase and enrich the blood supply.

Stead from women of all nationalities.

Some time ago I was at Leamington, in Warwickshire, England.
I had a walk along the beach and saw a boy swimming in the sea.

He was swimming in the sea, but had no appetite. I was taking doctor's medicine for a long time.

Some 3,000 men are now out of work, to know what to do for me, and thought I would not recover.

Then a friend advised Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills and I had only taken them a few weeks when I began to feel better. This greatly encouraged me, and I continued to take the pills for some time longer, and found my health again as good as it had been.

As he was riding along the bank of the Olifants River, he suddenly heard zebras making a great noise just in front, and coming into a clearing, he found that three lions had pulled down a mare, but had not yet killed her. The rest of the troop were standing some twenty paces from the lions, facing them in a semi-circle, much excited. They were making a great noise, but showed no disposition to bolt; the mare was between its dam and the herd.
